NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL
FACTS & FIGURES OF CAROLINA BASKETBALL

■ 1 - The Tar Heels have the best record in the country over the last 33 seasons, dating back to the 1966-67 season. In that span, Carolina has an 871-221 record, a winning percentage of .798. UCLA has the next highest win total in that span with 803.

■ 2 - Carolina and UCLA are the only public universities in the country to be ranked in the top 10 in the country in wins in the 1990s and academic ranking by U.S. News and World Report. Carolina is fourth in the nation in wins in the 1990s and is ranked as the No. 5 public university in the nation. UCLA is third in academic ranking and 10th in wins.

■ 3 - Carolina is the only school in the country to have three different players receive the John Wooden Award as the National Player of the Year. UNC's recipients include Phil Ford in 1978, Michael Jordan in 1984 and Antawn Jamison in 1998.

■ 3 - The number of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players who played at North Carolina, making Carolina one of only three schools to have three players listed. The Tar Heels who made the list are Billy Cunningham, Michael Jordan and James Worthy. The list was selected in 1996 on behalf of the NBA by a panel of 50 former players and members of the media.

■ 3 - Antawn Jamison is one of three players in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, ACC Male Athlete of the Year, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season. Carolina's Lennie Rosenbluth (1957) and Duke's Christian Laettner (1992) are the only other players to accomplish the feat.

■ 4 - Carolina is one of four schools in the country to be ranked both in the Top 10 in college basketball victories in the 1990s and ranked among the Top 30 universities in the nation by U.S. News and World Report.

■ 4 - The number of national championships North Carolina's basketball team has won. The Tar Heels have been crowned college basketball's best in 1924, 1957, 1982 and 1993.

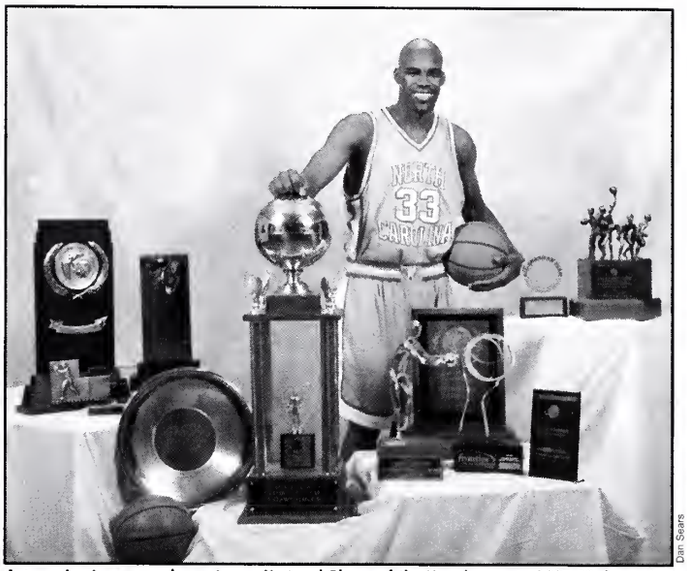
■ 4 - The number of former Tar Heels in the Basketball Hall of Fame — Coach Ben Carnevale, Billy Cunningham, Coach Frank McGuire and Coach Dean Smith.

■ 5 - Number of NBA Rookie-of-the-Year Awards won by Carolina players, more than any other school. Last year, Vince Carter won the award playing for the Toronto Raptors. Other winners include Robert McAdoo (Buffalo Braves), Walter Davis (Phoenix Suns), Phil Ford (Kansas City Kings) and Michael Jordan (Chicago Bulls).

■ 5 - Number of Final Four appearances by Carolina in the 1990s, the most in any decade in school history. (UNC also had one appearance in the 1940s, one in the 1950s, three in the 1960s, two in the 1970s and two in the 1980s.)

■ 5 - Number of Tar Heels who have been named to the ACC's All-Freshman Team since it began in 1993. Only Georgia Tech, with six, has had more freshmen named to this team.

■ 6 - Number of times the Tar Heels have finished the season ranked No. 1 in the nation in one of the major polls. That includes the 1957, 1982, 1984, 1993, 1994 and 1998 seasons.



Dan Sears

Antown Jamison eorned unanimous Notionol Player-af-the-Yeor honors in 1997-98, becoming Corolino's ninth Nationol Player of the Yeor.

■ 6 - The number of Tar Heel players who went on to have their jersey numbers retired by NBA franchises, the most of any school. They include Billy Cunningham (Philadelphia 76ers), Brad Daugherty (Cleveland Cavaliers), Walter Davis (Phoenix Suns), Bobby Jones (Philadelpha 76ers), Michael Jordan (Chicago Bulls) and James Worthy (Los Angeles Lakers).

■ 6 - The number of overtime games won by Carolina in the last two seasons under Bill Guthridge. That includes a single-season school-record four wins in 1997-98 and two in 1998-99.

■ 8 - The number of Atlantic Coast Conference opponents against which the Tar Heels have winning series records. The closest series Carolina has with any league foe is against Duke. Beginning with the ACC's founding prior to the 1953-54 season, the Tar Heels are 76-48 against the Blue Devils, a winning percentage of .613.

■ 9 - Number of National Players of the Year who have worn Carolina uniforms, the latest being Antawn Jamison, a consensus selection in 1998.

■ 9 - Number of UNC players selected in the first round of the NBA Draft in the 1990s.

■ 9 - Number of wins by Carolina against the No. 1 team in the country. UNC and Notre Dame share the top spot for most wins against No. 1 ranked teams.

■ 11 - Number of NCAA regional championships won by Carolina under former head coach Dean Smith. That figure is exceeded only by former UCLA coach John Wooden's 12 NCAA Final Four appearances.

■ 13 - UNC won 13 ACC Tournament championships under Dean Smith. That's the most in league history for any coach. Everett Case of N.C. State, Vic Bubas of Duke and Mike Krzyzewski of Duke rank second with four each.

■ 14 - Number of times Carolina has reached the NCAA Final Four in its history. Only UCLA, with 14 official appearances, has been to the Final Four as often.

■ 14 - Number of former Tar Heels active in the NBA at the start of preseaon training camps. They include Vince Carter (Toronto), Pete Chilcutt (Utah), Hubert Davis (Dallas), Rick Fox (L.A. Lakers), Antawn Jamison (Golden State), George Lynch (Philadelphia), Eric Montross (Detroit), Sam Perkins (Indiana), J.R. Reid (Milwaukee), Jerry Stackhouse (Detroit), Rasheed Wallace (Portland), Donald Williams (L.A. Lakers), Scott Williams (Milwaukee) and Shammond Williams (Seattle).

■ 15 - Number of ACC Tournament championships the Tar Heels have captured. NC State owns the second-best total in the league with 10. Bill Guthridge led the Tar Heels to the ACC title in his first year as a head coach and to the

■ 16 - Number of times Carolina has advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament in the last 19 years. Carolina reached the Final 16 in 13 consecutive years, from 1981 to 1993, equalling the longest streak in NCAA history (UCLA also went 13 straight years from 1967-79).

■ 16 - Times Carolina has reached the Final Eight of the NCAA Tournament over the past 33 years.

■ 16 - Times in the last 33 years the Tar Heels have been ranked among the top four teams in the country by at least one of the two major polls.

■ 17 - Number of times Carolina won the ACC regular-season championship under coach Dean Smith. Duke's Mike Krzyzewski is second with seven.

■ 22 - In the 46-year history of the ACC, Carolina has nabbed the regular-season championship 22 times. That's 48 percent of the time in a nine-member league. Duke is second with 14 regular-season titles.

■ 22 - In 36 years as head coach at Carolina, Dean Smith led his team to 25 or more wins in a season 22 times. That is an NCAA record for 25-win seasons by a coach. Fresno State coach Jerry Tarkanian ranks second with 14 25-win seasons and former UCLA coach John Wooden is third with 11.

■ 25 - Number of consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament made by North Carolina, a streak still going strong. That's the longest streak in NCAA Tournament history. Arizona (current) has the second-longest streak in history at 15.

■ 24 - The number of times in the last 29 years Carolina has shot 50 percent or better from the field as a team.

■ 24 - Number of NBA championship rings won by Carolina players.

■ 25 - Number of times Carolina has finished in the Top 10 of a major wire service poll (media or coaches) in the last 33 seasons. Kentucky is second with 22 appearances. Carolina has been in at least one Top 10 in 21 of the last 26 seasons and in both Top 10 rankings in 15 of the last 19 campaigns. Dean Smith had more teams post Top 10 finishes (25) than any other coach in history. Adolph Rupp of Kentucky is second with 18.

■ 26 - Number of times Carolina has played in the championship game of the ACC Tournament. Duke is second with 20 appearances. The Tar Heels have played in the title game three years in a row, eight times in the last nine years, and 11 times in 13 years.

■ 27 - Number of times Dean Smith led the Tar Heels to the NCAA Tournament. That's the most in tournament history. Indiana's Bob Knight has led the Hoosiers to the tournament 23 times.

■ 29 - Number of consecutive years in which Carolina has won at least 21 basketball games. That is an NCAA record for most consecutive 20-win seasons.

■ 30 - The number of 20-win seasons Dean Smith posted as head coach at North Carolina. That's the most in college basketball history. Current Fresno State coach Jerry Tarkanian is second with 27.

■ 30 - Number of Tar Heel players selected in the first round of the NBA Draft. Duke is second among ACC schools with 20. In 1998, Antawn Jamison and Vince Carter were picked fourth and fifth, respectively, in the draft. Overall, 83 UNC players have been chosen in all rounds of the NBA Draft.

■ 33 - Number of postseason tournament bids Carolina has garnered in the last 33 seasons. Twenty-nine of those trips have been to the NCAA Tournament and four were to the NIT. The four NIT trips and four of the NCAA appearances came in an era when only the winner of the ACC Tournament was eligible to receive an NCAA bid.

■ 34 - Wins by the Tar Heels in 1997-98, making Bill Guthridge the winningest first-year head coach in Division I men's basketball history

■ 35 - Number of years in a row that Carolina has finished at least third in the ACC regular-season standings. In those 35 seasons, Carolina has finished first 17 times, second 12 times and third six times.

■ 37 - Number of times in history that Carolina has finished the season ranked in the Top 25 of one of the two major polls. That includes 28 Top 10 finishes. The media poll began in 1949 and the coaches poll in 1951.

■ 37 - Total number of Carolina players who have been named All-Americas, the latest being Antawn Jamison and Vince Carter in 1998.

■ 58 - Number of Tar Heel players since 1962 who have played professional basketball in either the National Basketball Association or American Basketball Association.

■ 58 - Wins by the Tar Heels in the last two seasons, making Bill Guthridge the winningest head coach after two years of competition in Division I men's basketball history.

Coto increosed his scoring and rebounding while still leoding the ACC in assists for the third consecutive seoson in 1998-99.

■ What They're Saying About Ed Cota:

"Ed Cota is a magical ballhandler and excels at penetrating in the lane. He has a great feel for the game and should have a great senior year as the catalyst for the Tar Heels to make a run at the Final Four."

— ABC/ESPN analyst Dick Vitale

"Ed has an opportunity to set himself at the head of the class of this year's point guards. His ability to penetrate makes him a great player. His ability to make smart decisions once he penetrates sets him apart as a great point guard."

— Kenny Smith, TNT NBA analyst and former UNC point guard

"Ed sees things unfold before other people even know they're happening. He's a great point guard."

— Bill Guthridge, UNC Head Coach

"Ed threw a perfect alley-oop pass. He's got incredible timing. All I had to do was go up, get it and throw it down."

— Vince Carter, former teammate

"You have to keep your eyes open and hands ready at all times because you never know when he will fire a pass your way. He has an uncanny ability to see an opening that no one else anticipates. Ed got me a lot of easy baskets and helped me win National Player of the Year."

— Antawn Jamison, former teammate

■ INTERVIEWS

Media should direct requests for specific players to Steve Kirschner, Director of Media Relations, or Matt Bowers, Assistant Media Relations Director. The interview period will generally be just before the daily team meeting or immediately after practice. Please make specific player requests at least 24 hours in advance.

Head Coach Bill Guthridge will hold a weekly press conference in the Smith Center press room beginning in January. Guthridge may also conduct press conferences as warranted prior to the start of ACC play. Those press conferences will run approximately 30 minutes and may be accessed by out-of-town media via teleconference. Contact the Media Relations Office for the phone number and schedule. Call Steve Kirschner to arrange individual interviews with Coach Guthridge .

■ POSTGAME

Following games the Tar Heel locker room is open to the media for 20 minutes. At the Smith Center, players will be brought out into the front part of the locker room and the players' lounge. Assistant Media Relations Directors Matt Bowers and David Tinson will be on hand to assist the media and players. Coach Guthridge meets with the media in the press room almost immediately after the game.

■ ACC TELECONFERENCE

Coach Guthridge is available each Tuesday morning on the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball coaches' teleconference. Please call Brian Morrison in the Atlantic Coast Conference Office at (336) 851-6062 for the number.

■ CREDENTIALS

Working press and photo credentials and press parking (which is extremely limited) for Carolina's home games may be obtained by writing Rick Brewer, Associate Athletic Director for Sports Information and Communications. Please make your request at least two weeks in advance on your company's letterhead stationery. Brewer's mailing address is: Media Relations & Sports Information Office, University of North Carolina, P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, NC 27515-2126. Requests may be faxed to Brewer's attention at (919) 962-0612. Requests are screened to ensure a working press row at the Smith Center. Credentials are usually mailed approximately 10 days prior to each game or, if time does not permit, are held at the press will call window located in the UNC Athletic Ticket Office on the north side of the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium. Koury Natatorium is immediately adjacent to the Smith Center.

■ FILING

An ample number of telephones are available in the press room of the Smith Center. Anyone desiring a private line should contact Southern Bell Telephone in Raleigh at 919-780-2800 or 800-767-2355 to make arrangements. Please use Brewer or Smith Center managing director Angie Bitting as the contact person for placement of your phone in the press room. No courtside phone hookups are allowed at the Smith Center. The Carolina Media Relations Office has two fax machines available on a first-come, first-served basis after each game.

■ PRESS ROW & PRESS ROW SERVICES

Press seating at the Smith Center is at floor level, either at the scorer's table or behind the two baselines. Radio and video crews and overflow press seating is on the mezzanine level on the Smith Center's north concourse. The Smith Center press room is located on the ground level of the arena in the back hallway across from the visiting team's locker room. Please contact any usher in the Smith Center and he/she can give you directions to the press room's location.

Programs, media guides and game notes will be available in the press room before each game. A halftime box score will be provided in the press room as well as a full postgame book consisting of final and halftime box scores, a full play-by-play and coaches' quotes. The head coaches from both teams will be brought to the press room following the game for press conferences. The Carolina locker room will be open after the game in accordance with Atlantic Coast Conference regulations. Access to the visiting team locker room will be at the discretion of the visiting team's sports information director. A luncheon or dinner will be available to the media in the press room approximately two hours before tipoff of each game.

The North Carolina Athletic Media Relations Office is located on the main level of the Dean E. Smith Center. Parking is available with a visitor's pass in the lot behind Koury Natatorium and can be accessed from Skipper Bowles Drive. Enter the building via the sidewalk which runs between the Smith Center and the Natatorium. The office is on Level 2 directly across the hallway from the men's basketball office.

■ FAX-BACK SERVICE

The Atlantic Coast Conference and its member institutions provide statistics, schedules, notes and releases on a fax-on-demand service. Each school places full postgame boxscores and play-by-play on the service. This is a media information service. Phone numbers are not to be distributed to the general public. If you wish to use this service, please call the Media Relations & Sports Information Office or the ACC Media Relations Office for further information.

File numbers for Carolina information is as follows: latest full release (file #61150); pregame notes (file #61151); team statistics (file #61152); complete box scores and play-by-play and postgame coaches' quotes (file #61153, available as soon as possible following the completion of the game); 1999-2000 schedule and rosters (file #61154).

■ PRACTICES

Carolina basketball practices are generally closed to the media. Occasionally, media can request a practice pass by contacting Angela Lee in the UNC basketball office at (919) 962-1154. Even with a pass there is no videotaping or photography allowed at practice.

■ TAR HEELS ON THE INTERNET

Media members can obtain all current information on Carolina basketball by visiting its home page on the internet. The official web site of the University of North Carolina Athletic Department is TarHeelBlue.com.

■ DIRECTIONS TO PRESS PARKING

n From Eastern North Carolina and/or Raleigh/Durham International Airport:

Take I-40 West to Chapel Hill. Stay in the left or middle lane because the road splits about five miles past the airport and the right lane heads toward Durham. Stay to the left and follow I-40 West to Exit 273-B. Signs marking this exit are marked in any of the following ways: UNC-Chapel Hill/Carrboro, Kenan Stadium - Dean E. Smith Center, 54 West. Exit 273-B is a right-hand exit. Stay straight on 54 West for approximately three miles. Exit right onto Route 15-501 South/54 West and follow for one mile.

Turn right at the traffic light onto Manning Drive. Go to the top of the hill. Turn left onto Skipper Bowles Drive. Just before the Smith Center on your right is a very large parking lot. That is the media lot. An attendant will check for your pass and allow you to turn into the lot.

■ North of Chapel Hill

Take I-85 South to Durham. I-85 will split at exit 174. The right-hand lane takes you to I-40 and Greensboro. Stay in the left-hand lane and take exit 174 (a left-hand exit) for 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South all the way to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass until you turn right onto Manning Drive. See above.

■ From Charlotte and west of Chapel Hill

Take I-85 North to I-40 East. 85 and 40 split in Hillsborough, just west of Chapel Hill. Take I-40 to exit 270 and exit onto Route 15-501 South. Stay on 15-501 South all the way to Chapel Hill. Stay to the left on 15-501 Bypass until you turn right onto Manning Drive. See above.

■ From South of Chapel Hill

Take I-77 North to I-85 and then follow the same directions as from Charlotte. Or take I-95 North to I-40 West. 95 and 40 converge just north of Benson, N.C. Then take I-40 all the way to Chapel Hill and follow the directions from the airport. See above.

1999-2000 NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL

1999-2000 OUTLOOK

Led by senior point guard Ed Cota, Carolina is now one of the ACC's most experienced teams.

One year after fielding one of the most inexperienced teams in school history, the University of North Carolina returns four starters and 10 lettermen for the 1999-2000 basketball season. Senior point guard Ed Cota leads that group of returning players, along with junior center Brendan Haywood and sophomore forwards Jason Capel and Kris Lang.

Last season, the Tar Heels overcame the losses of four starters from back-to-back Final Four teams to post an impressive 24-10 record. Carolina won the Preseason NIT, finished third in the Atlantic Coast Conference in the regular season and advanced to the championship game of the ACC Tournament. The Tar Heels received an NCAA Tournament bid, extending their NCAA record to a remarkable 25 consecutive seasons. Carolina accomplished that despite losing National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison and NBA Rookie of the Year Vince Carter to the professional ranks after their junior seasons.

This year, Carolina must replace seniors Ademola Okulaja, Brad Frederick and Scott Williams plus rising junior Vasco Evtimov, who opted to play professional basketball in Greece. Sophomore guard Ronald Curry, who would have seen extensive action as a backup at point guard, ruptured his right Achilles tendon in the Oct. 9 football game at Georgia Tech and is expected to miss the entire basketball season.

Okulaja earned first-team All-ACC honors after leading the squad in scoring (13.9 points per game), rebounding (8.4 per game), three-point field goals (59) and steals (46).

"We will miss all the seniors because of their leadership and Vasco's hustle and enthusiasm, but we will especially miss Ademola because of all the things he did for our team," says Bill Guthridge, who enters his third season as UNC's head coach with a 58-14 record. That is the best two-year mark for a head coach in NCAA history.

"Ademola was our best rebounder and three-point scorer, and he provided so much determination and hustle. That type of unselfish play is something people identify with Carolina basketball and certainly no one demonstrated that more than Okulaja. We will need other players to fill the void he left in those areas."

Cota and Okulaja were the only players going into last season with extensive collegiate experience. Haywood was the next-most experienced player, but he had averaged just eight minutes a game as a freshman.

This year, beyond Cota, Haywood, Capel and Lang are a number of players who saw extensive action in reserve roles last season. That group of players includes junior center/forward Brian Bersticker, junior swing man Max Owens and senior guard Terrence Newby. Swing men Michael Brooker and Orlando Melendez round out the 10 returning lettermen.

"We are more experienced than a year ago, but people do need to remember that outside of Cota, most of our players have played just one year," says Guthridge. "We were typical of an inexperienced team last year in that we had lots of ups and downs through the course of the season. We would play really well one night and then not be able to repeat that level of intensity or performance in the next game. I hope we will be more consistent this year."

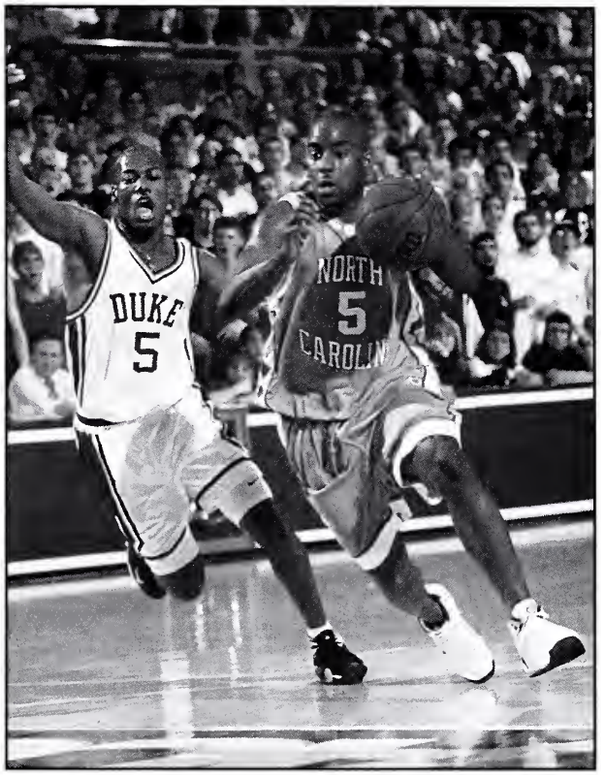
Cota, a 6-2 1/2 Brooklyn, N.Y., native, has continued the long and outstanding tradition of New York point guards that have played at Carolina. That list that includes Tommy Kearns (1957 NCAA championship team), Larry Brown, Eddie Fogler, Jimmy Black (1982 NCAA championship team), Kenny Smith, King Rice, Derrick Phelps (1993 NCAA championship team) and Cota.

The senior is on the verge of breaking the UNC record for career assists. He has 746 assists in 103 games, an average of 7.2 per game. Cota already owns the career assists-per-game record at UNC and has the third-highest mark in ACC history. Kenny Smith holds the UNC record with 768 assists and current UNC assistant coach Phil Ford is second with 753. Cota's 746 assists are the eighth-highest figure in ACC history.

Last year, Cota averaged 10.5 points, 7.4 assists and 4.3 rebounds per contest en route to earning second-team All-ACC honors. He was named Most Valuable Player of the Preseason NIT after a 17-point, 11-rebound, five-assist performance against second-ranked Stanford in the title game in Madison Square Garden.

Cota has led the ACC in assists in each of his first three seasons, a feat no other player in ACC history has accomplished (three other players, including Ford, have done it three years in a row, but not their first three years). Since the ACC began recording assists in 1973, no player has ever led the league four times.

He averaged 9.7 assists in the three ACC Tournament games and became the alltime assist leader in ACC Tournament history with 67 in nine games. Cota has led the Tar Heels to two championships and a finals appearance in his three seasons. He matched his career scoring high with 20 points and added 10 assists in the season-ending loss to Weber State in the NCAA Tournament.



Bob Donnan

Ed Cota could become the only player in history to lead the ACC in assists in four seasons. He has 746 career asssists, needing just 23 to be Carolina's alltime leader.

"We are fortunate to have an outstanding senior point guard like Ed Cota," says Guthridge. "I think he is one of the best point guards in the country. Certainly, he is one of the most experienced college basketball players in the country with two Final Four appearances and three times in the ACC Tournament final. I look for Ed to continue to be a leader. Because of the position he plays, Ed has been a leader for us throughout his career. I look for him to have a special senior season."

Haywood, a 7-0, 264-pound junior, should benefit from his gold medal-winning experiences with the United States World University Games Team. The Greensboro, N.C., native earned a spot on the U.S. roster with solid play in the trials in Colorado and continued that outstanding play in the World University Games in Spain. He started all eight games for Team USA and averaged 10.9 points and 6.3 rebounds per game. He had 17 points in the quarterfinals against Canada.

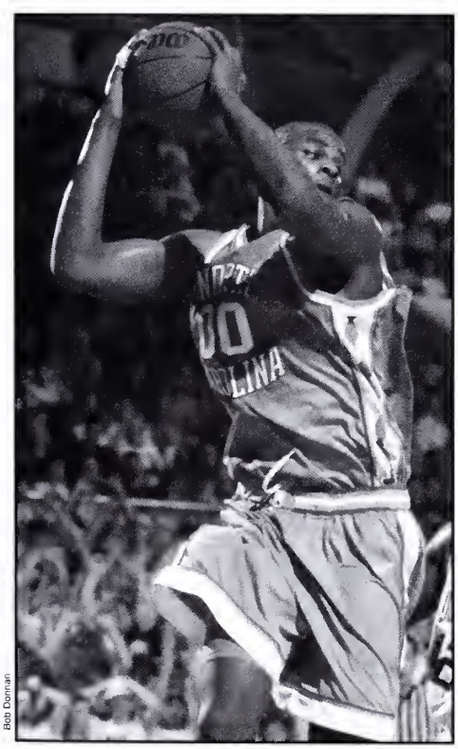
Last year, Haywood averaged 12.0 points,

6.9 rebounds and 1.8 blocked shots per contest. He was the Tar Heels' second-leading scorer and rebounder and led the team with a field goal pereentage of .648. That was the third-highest single-season percentage in UNC history. Only Bobby Jones (.668 in 1971-72) and Rasheed Wallace (.654 in 1994-95) have exceeded Haywood's percentage (Brad Daugherty also shot .648 in 1985-86.)

In the last 11 games, Haywood made 69.0 percent from the field. He made at least half of his shots in 28 of the 34 contests. He scored 20 or more points three times as a sophomore, including 24 at California and 21 against Purdue. Overall, Haywood scored in double figures 22 times, had 10-plus rebounds 10 times and posted nine double-doubles.

"Playing with the United States Team for a month will certainly help Brendan," says Guthridge. "He played well and should gain a great deal of confidence from his international experience. He is a low-post presence for us. It will be important for him improve his endurance, which will allow him to be dominant for longer stretches. He showed flashes of that capability last year."

Lang, 6-11, 243 pounds, was one of the most pleasant surprises on the team last year. The Gastonia, N.C., native made an immediate impact and earned a spot on the ACC's All-Rookie Team. He was the fifth Tar Heel in the 1990s to make that squad, joining Wallace, Jerry Stackhouse, Jamison and Cota. He also gained international experience in the summer as a member of the NIT Touring Team that was led by former St. John's eoaeh Lou Carnesecca.



Bob Donnan

Center Brendan Haywaad averaged 12.0 paints and 6.9 rebaunds per game last year and spent the summer starting far Team USA at the Warld University Games in Spain.

Lang averaged 10.6 points and 5.4 rebounds per game and made 57.8 percent of his field goal attempts. He scored a season-high 21 points in the win over Georgia that sent Carolina to New York for the NIT semifinals. He also had 20 points and 10 rebounds at Dartmouth, 21 points and six rebounds in a win over Florida State and 17 points and 11 boards in a win over Georgia Tech. In one four-game stretch against Duke, Georgia Tech, Clemson and Florida State, Lang was 28 for 36 from the floor and averaged 16.5 points per contest.

"We knew Kris was a fine player when we recruited him, but the extent to which he made an impact on our team as a freshman surprised everyone," says Guthridge. "He's a good rebounder, can shoot that jump hook with both hands and has a great work ethic. Kris needs better endurance so he can play more minutes without hitting the wall, physically. He works so hard in the offseason, I am confident he will be able to improve in that area this year."

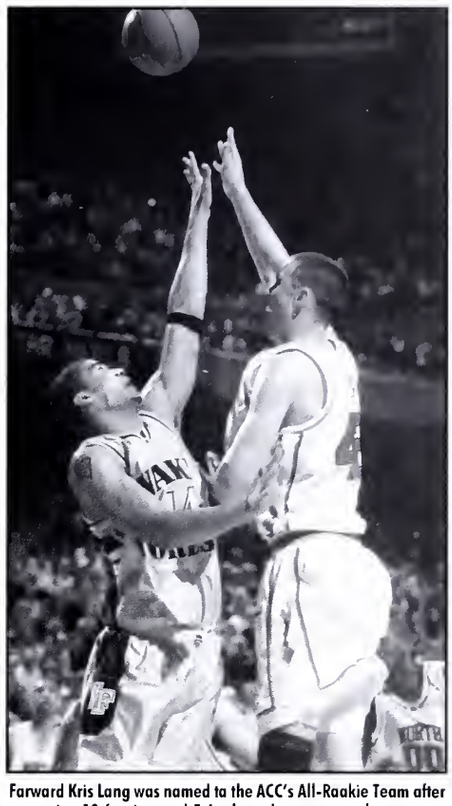
Capel, 6-8, can play both small forward and off guard and that versatility helped him make significant contributions last year as a freshman. The Chesapeake, Va., resident averaged 9.1 points and 4.1 rebounds per game and led the squad at the free throw line with a percentage of .854. That percentage was second-best in the ACC behind only Donald Hand of Virginia.

Capel's freshman season was hampered by back problems and an illness that caused him to miss a number of games. He missed six games in late-January/early-February because of mononucleosis and missed the ACC Tournament quarterfinal against Georgia Tech because of a sore back. He returned to the lineup against Maryland in the semifinals and was brilliant with 13 points (including three three-point field goals in 15 minutes), but fell hard on his back and missed the rest of that game. He was limited to 10 minutes against Duke in the ACC finals and four minutes against Weber State in the NCAA Tournament.

Capel had surgery to remove two herniated disks in his back the week after the season ended. He began playing basketball in mid-June and is playing without pain for the first time in years.

"I am encouraged about Jason's recovery after surgery," says Guthridge. "He was a valuable contributor for us last year, despite playing in pain for much of the season. Being able to practice each day, something he could not do a year ago, will undoubtedly help him and our team. He should move to small forward where he can defend, rebound and still hit the outside shot."

Capel shot 41.1 percent from three-point range and made 76 of 89 free throws. He scored in double figures in 12 of the 26 games in which he played, including a high of 16 on consecutive nights in Charlotte, N.C., against Old Dominion (coached by his dad, Jeff) and the College of Charleston.



Bob Donnan

Farward Kris Lang was named ta the ACC's All-Raakie Team after averaging 10.6 paints and 5.4 rebaunds per cantest last seasan.

Haywood and Lang anchor a sizeable frontline that also includes Bersticker. The Tar Heels can play 6-10, 6-11 and 7-0 across the frontcourt, although Guthridge says he will likely play just two big men at one time.

"Brian Bersticker improved a lot last year and helps us with his ability to score and block shots," says Guthridge. "Haywood and Lang both need to impove their shot-blocking abilities, but our frontline did a good job overall defensively and our rebounding margin was outstanding."

Ed Cota is poised to become Carolina's alltime assist leader and could be the first player ever to lead the ACC in assists four times.

Bersticker, a 6-10, 232-pound junior from Virginia Beach, Va., made a late-season rush for playing time. He scored 11 points against Duke in the regular-season finale and played key minutes in ACC Tournament victories over Georgia Tech and fifth-ranked Maryland. Against the Yellow Jackets, Bersticker scored six of his season-high 12 points moments after Tech cut UNC's second-half lead to a single point. Then he scored two baskets in the final 3:24 of the semifinal round win over the Terrapins.

Bersticker made 16 of 27 field goal attempts in those final five contests. He blocked 30 shots during the season, including five in the season opener against Appalachian State.

Brooker, a 6-6, 219-pound junior from Sandersville, Ga., Melendez, a 6-8, 200-pound sophomore from Juana Diaz, Puerto Rico, and Will Johnson, a 6-8 freshman from Hickory, N.C., provide depth in the frontcourt.

Brooker missed most of last season after re-injuring his knee. He scored 10 points in the season opener against Appalachian State. Melendez has excellent athletic ability and continues to develop his all-around skills. He scored 27 points last year, including 11 against Buffalo.

Cota, Jonathan Holmes and Terrence Newby should handle point guard duties. Holmes is a 6-1 freshman from Bloomington, Ind.

The off guard position is up for grabs between Owens, Newby and freshman Joseph Forte.

Owens, a 6-5 Macon, Ga., native, blossomed in the ACC Tournament as he replaced an injured Capel in the starting lineup. Owens earned All-ACC Tournament honors after helping UNC past Maryland in the semifinal with 23 points and adding 22 against Duke in the championship game. Prior to the Tournament, Owens was scoring 6.7 points per game.

Overall, Owens averaged 7.8 points per game, made 85.1 percent from the free throw line and was 25 for 70 (.357) from beyond the three-point line. He netted 10 or more points in eight games. He hit several big shots at Duke, scored 16 in a win over Georgia Tech and made six of eight shots from the floor in a win over Florida State.

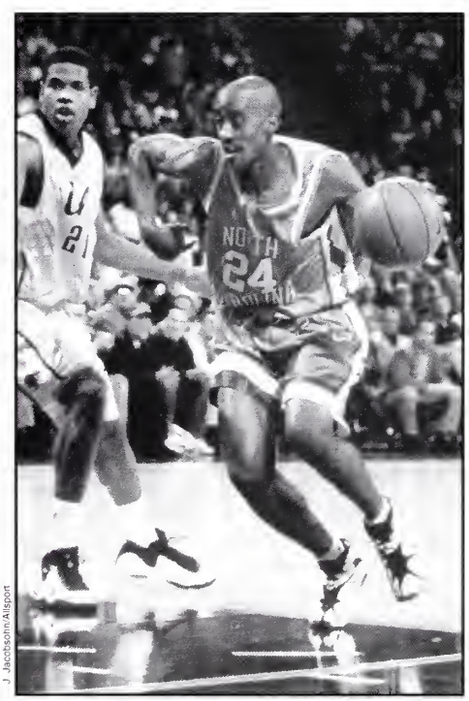
Offseason back surgery now allows swingman Jason Capel to play pain-free for the first time in a number of years.

Aiming for a record 26th straight NCAA Tournament bid, Carolina returns four starters and 76 percent of its offense from last season

Curry would have seen extensive action had it not been for his football injury. Carolina's starting quarterback, Curry played in 26 contests last year. He joined the basketball team fulltime after UNC's Las Vegas Bowl victory on December 19th in which he was named the Most Valuable Offensive Player. Curry scored 73 points, grabbed 39 rebounds and handed out 43 assists in 26 games. He made his first collegiate start against Georgia Tech because of an injury to Cota and responded with 13 points, seven assists and five rebounds in a Tar Heel victory. He later hit a critical three-pointer in the 59-56 win at NC State and was Carolina's defensive player of the game in the 62-53 win over the Wolfpack.



J. Jacobsohn/Allsport

Shooting guard Max Owens scored 45 points in the final two ACC Tournament games last year to earn All-ACC Tournament honors.

"Max gained some confidence with his play in the ACC Tournament and hopefully that will carry over into this season," says Guthridge. "He is a good shooter who needs that confidence to be able to knock down shots in games as often as he does in practice every day. He can be a good defensive player, but needs to improve his ball-handling and overall defensive play."

Newby, a 6-2 senior from Siler City, N.C., has played point guard for much of his first three seasons at Carolina, but could compete for playing time more at off guard this season. He made eight of 19 three-point attempts last year, a percentage of .421. He had a career-high eight assists at Dartmouth as he started in place of Cota, who was injured.

"I think we will be a better outside shooting team this year," says Guthridge. "Max feels more confident coming into this season and that is a key with shooters.

"Our philosophy will still be to get the ball inside and get easy baskets. But if that inside attack is not there, I expect the perimeter players to make shots."

Defensively, the last several years the Tar Heels have been forced by a lack of depth to get away from their preferred style that consists of traps, denying passing lanes and putting pressure on the ball. Carolina has played primarily a straight man to man and an effective zone. Last year, UNC's opponents shot just 39.3 percent from the floor and averaged 64.9 points per game. En route to the Final Four in 1997-98, the Tar Heels limited opponents to 38.4 percent shooting and 65.6 points per contest. However, Carolina forced only 13.2 turnovers per game in 1997-98 and only 11.1 turnovers last year. By contrast, Carolina forced 15.3 and 14.5 turnovers per game when it won NCAA titles in 1992-93 and 1981-82, respectively.

"We have some good athletes on the perimeter and I feel better about our depth this year so we will get back to our pressure defense," says Guthridge. "We tried to revert back to that style the past two years, but we were not successful. However, our depth should allow us to provide pressure again, so we are going to do that. But we will still be a team that plays multiple defenses. Our defense the last few years has not been bad. In fact, our field goal percentage defense has been among the best years in school history and we won a lot of games playing solid defense.

"Last year especially, however, we did not generate easy baskets from our defense. We did that two and three years ago with Carter and Jamison, but last year we were unable to get easy scores forced by turnovers. We hope to be able to force turnovers and score off transition this season."

A grueling schedule includes games against Michigan State, the College of Charleston, Miami (Fla.), Indiana, Louisville and UCLA and could also feature regular-season tournament games against Purdue, Florida, UNLV or Princeton.

"I think I over-scheduled," says Guthridge. "We have one of the toughest non-conference schedules in school history and that's saying a lot because Carolina has traditionally played a quality schedule.

"Going into the season, I would say our strengths include having Ed Cota back as a senior point guard, an experienced frontline and a healthy Jason Capel. It should be an exciting team to be around. One thing is for sure, they will work hard and have fun."

■ AT CAROLINA

Senior leader who should challenge for national and conference honors • Is one of 10 preseason candidates for the Naismith Award, given by the Atlanta Tipoff Club to the National Player of the Year • Also one of 25 candidates for the Wooden Award, presented by the Los Angeles Athletic Club to the National Player of the Year.

Has great vision and instincts on the floor • Should become the alltime assists leader in Carolina history early this season • Is eighth in ACC history and third in UNC history with 746 assists • Kenny Smith holds the UNC record and is fifth in ACC history with 768 • Phil Ford is seventh in ACC history and second at Carolina with 753.

Has led the ACC in assists in each of his three seasons • Georgia Tech's Drew Barry (1994-96), Wake Forest's Tyrone Bogues (1985-87) and Ford (1976-78) are the only other players to lead the ACC in assists three consecutive years • Cota is the first player in ACC history to lead the league in assists in each of his first three seasons • Virginia's Ralph Sampson and Wake Forest's Tim Duncan are the only players to lead the ACC in a statistical category for four straight seasons • Sampson and Duncan both led the ACC in blocked shots four times.

Has averaged 7.24 assists in 103 games • That is the third-highest average in ACC history behind NC State's Chris Corchiani (8.37 from 1988-91) and Duke's Bobby Hurley (7.68 from 1990-93) • The previous high by a Carolina player was 6.1 by Ford.

Has posted a UNC record 20 double-figure assist games • Had double figures in assists six times as a freshman, eight times as a sophomore and six as a junior • Ford held the previous record of 10-or-more-assist games with 16.

Needs 93 points to become the 49th player in school history to score 1,000 points in a career • Ford, Smith and Jeff Lebo are the only Tar Heels to score at least 1,000 points and dish out 500 assists in a career • Scored in double figures 13 times as a freshman, 15 times as a sophomore and 15 times as a junior • Scored a career-high 20 points in three different games last year.

■ JUNIOR SEASON (1998-99)

Became just the second player in UNC history to dish out at least 200 assists in three different seasons • Had 238 assists, the third-highest single-season total in school history • He compiled the first- and fourth-best single-season totals his sophomore and freshman seasons, respectively.

Earned second-team All-ACC honors for the second straight year • No point guard was named to the All-ACC first team (only four have made first-team All-ACC in the 1990s) • He was joined on the second team by point guards William Avery of Duke and Terrell McIntyre of Clemson.

Dished out 29 assists in three games at the 1999 ACC Tournament (9.7 per game) and became the ACC Tournament career leader with 67 assists • Cota had nine assists in the quarterfinal win vs. Georgia Tech, nine in the semifinal victory vs. Maryland and 11 vs. Duke in the championship game.

Led the Atlantic Coast Conference in assists for the third consecutive season with 7.4 per game • Maryland's Terrell Stokes was second at 6.2 assists per contest.

Averaged 10.5 points, 7.4 assists and 4.3 rebounds. Made 42 three-point field goals, 24 more than he made his first two years combined.

Made 41.2 percent of his three-point attempts (42 of 102), compared to 31.0 percent his first two years (18 of 58).

Hit four three-point baskets in a game twice – against Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament and against UNC Charlotte.

Was fourth on the team in scoring (10.5), first in assists (7.4), fifth in rebounding (4.3) and second with 42 three-pointers.

Matched his career scoring high with 20 points and added 10 assists in the NCAA Tournament loss to Weber State • It was his 10th career double-double and 20th career double-digit assist game.

Had 11 assists vs. Duke in the ACC final and became the alltime ACC Tournament leader with 67 assists • Had nine assists in each of the first two rounds against Georgia Tech and Maryland • Was named second-team All-ACC Tournament for the third year in a row.

Had nine assists, including the pass to Ademola Okulaja for the game-winning three-point basket with 1.4 seconds remaining in the 67-66 win at Virginia • He also scored 15 points on 6 of 12 shooting, including 1 of 2 from three-point range.

Was sensational in UNC's 63-61 win over Old Dominion • He hit the game-winning basket on a left-handed drive with 1.5 seconds to play • Cota scored a career-high 20 points, had six assists, six rebounds and three steals • He made 7 of 12 shots from the floor, including both of his three-point attempts and was 4 of 4 from the free throw line in 39 minutes of action.

Averaged 14 points, 7.5 rebounds and 6.5 assists in the final two games to earn MVP honors and lead Carolina to the Preseason NIT Championship • Cota scored 11 points and had eight assists to help Carolina overcome a 7-point halftime deficit to Purdue • He posted his eighth career double-double with 17 points and a career-high 11 rebounds against No. 2 Stanford • It was the first time Cota had ever posted a points-rebounds double-double • Had 14 points and 11 assists against Georgia in the second round of the NIT.

Had a season-high 13 assists (just one off his career high) and just one turnover in 37 minutes in Carolina's 86-75 victory at Hampton on Nov. 23 • Cota also had eight points and was 5 of 6 from the free throw line.

■ SOPHOMORE SEASON (1997-98)

Earned second-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors • Set a single-season school record with 274 assists • Broke the previous record which was set by Kenny Smith, who had 235 assists in 1984-85, with five assists vs. Duke in the ACC Championship game • Averaged a school-record 7.4 assists per game • The previous best was by Ford, who averaged 7.0 assists per game in 1975-76 • Led the league in assists and was fifth in the nation at 7.4 per game • His 7.4 assist per game average was the highest by an ACC player since Duke's Bobby Hurley averaged 7.6 assists in 1992 • Was second in the ACC in assist to turnover ratio (2.42) • In ACC games only, Cota averaged 8.7 assists per game • The next closest competitor was Clemson's Terrell McIntyre who averaged 5.6 • Became the first player in school history to dish out at least 10 assists in three consecutive games when he had 14 vs. Appalachian State, 13 at NC State and 14 vs. Florida State • Finished second on the team with a free throw shooting percentage of .824 • Made 56 of his last 65 free throws (.862). Shot 49.3 percent from the floor and averaged 8.1 points per game.

■ 1997-98 NCAA TOURNAMENT

A member of the All-East Regional Tournament team • Averaged 7.0 assists and 8.2 points in the 1998 NCAA Tournament • Scored 11 points and had eight assists in the 73-58 victory vs. Michigan State in the East Regional semifinal and had nine assists, eight rebounds and eight points in the 75-64 victory against Connecticut in the East final • The eight rebounds tied a career high • In the East Regional, Cota held Big Ten Player of the Year Mateen Cleaves of Michigan State to just 7 of 21 shooting and Khalid El-Amin of Connecticut to just two assists • In Carolina's two wins over Michigan State and Connecticut, Cota had 17 assists and just five turnovers, an assist to turnover ratio of 3.4 • He also averaged 9.5 points in the two victories in Greensboro • In the 88-52 first-round NCAA Tournament victory over Navy, Cota scored 12 points, dished out seven assists and grabbed five rebounds.

■ 1997-98 ACC TOURNAMENT

Averaged 5.3 assists and 6.7 points and earned second-team All-ACC Tournament honors after helping lead Carolina to the title.

■ 1997-98 REGULAR-SEASON

Was sensational in the final minutes of Carolina's 97-73 win over No. 1 ranked Duke on February 5th • Overcame a season-high eight turnovers to finish with 12 points and 12 assists • After Duke scored 15 consecutive points to pull within four points of the Tar Heels, Cota either scored or had assists on five of the next six possessions • Cota had 12 assists against the Blue Devils on Feb. 5 • Became the first player in school history to dish out at least 10 assists in three consecutive games when he had 14 vs. Appalachian State, 13 at NC State and 14 vs. Florida State • Had a career-high 14 assists against Florida State on Jan. 24 and 14 assists vs. Appalachian State on Jan. 17 • The 14-assist game against FSU matched the UNC record for an ACC game • Scored a career-high 17 points and added 12 assists at Florida State • Had seven assists in Charlottesville, one of which was an incredible over-his-head, no-look heave that resulted in a Vince Carter breakaway jam.

■ FRESHMAN SEASON (1996-97)

1997 Atlantic Coast Conference Rookie of the Year • Was the fourth UNC player to win the award (Sam Perkins in 1981, Michael Jordan in 1982 and J.R. Reid in 1987) • Earned ACC Rookie-of-the-Week accolades three straight times in the month of February • Was named to the All-ACC Tournament second team • Also the top vote-getter on the All-ACC Rookie Team • First-team Freshman All-America by Basketball Weekly (along with Tim Thomas of Villanova, Mike Bibby of Arizona, A.J. Guyton of Indiana and Shaheen Holloway of Seton Hall) • Second-team Freshman All-America by Basketball Times • Led the ACC and was eighth in the country in assists • Topped all freshmen in the country in assists • Averaged 6.9 assists per game, the second-highest single-season figure in Carolina basketball history (only Ford had a higher average, 7.0 in 1975-76) • It is the highest average for a UNC freshman and the third-highest in ACC history for freshmen (Kenny Anderson of Georgia Tech averaged 8.1 in 1989-90 and Chris Corchiani of NC State averaged 7.3 in 1987-88) • Had 234 assists in 34 games • That was the second-highest single-season assist total in Carolina history (now fourth) • Was the first freshman to lead the ACC in assists since Anderson in 1989-90 • In the first eight ACC games (UNC 3-5 record), he averaged 4.4 points, 5.5 assists and 4.4 turnovers • In the second half of the ACC schedule (UNC 8-0 record), he averaged 9.6 points, 8.0 assists and 3.3 turnovers • Was third in the ACC in all games in assist-turnover ratio at 1.89 to 1. Had more assists than turnovers in 15 of the last 17 games • Had a season-high 12 assists against Southern California and ACC season-high 11 assists against Maryland (Jan. 8) and Duke (March 2) • Posted three double-doubles • Had 14 points and 10 assists against Florida State on Feb. 6, 12 points and 11 assists against the Blue Devils in the regular-season finale and 11 points and 10 assists vs. Virginia in the ACC Quarterfinal.

■ 1996-97 NCAA TOURNAMENT

Named to the NCAA All-East Regional Team • Had 32 assists and just 13 turnovers, shot 57.1 percent from the field and averaged 9.0 points in the four NCAA victories • Had eight assists against California in the East semi-final, including several to Antawn Jamison in Jamison's 12-point run in the second half, and an alley-oop pass to Vince Carter for a dunk which gave UNC the lead for good • Was spectacular in the regional final vs. Louisville as he made 4 of 6 from the floor and 5 of 6 from the line, with nine assists and three steals • Had six assists in the first half as the Tar Heels built a 21-point lead • Scored 16 points and added five assists in the win over Colorado • Hit two three-pointers in the second half, the first of which gave UNC a 4-point lead and the second of which gave UNC a 9-point advantage • Had three assists and just one turnover in the second half • Had 10 assists and zero turnovers in the NCAA 1st round against Fairfield.

■ 1996-97 ACC TOURNAMENT

Was sensational in the ACC Tournament, directing the UNC offense to a combined three-game field goal percentage of .547 • Averaged 8.7 points, 7.3 assists and 3.0 turnovers per game • Hit clutch 3FGs against both Virginia and Wake Forest, his first since December 7 • Had 11 points and 10 assists in the quarterfinal, 13 points, seven assists and just one turnover against Wake Forest and had five assists in the championship game against NC State • All-Tournament second team selection.

■ 1996-97 REGULAR-SEASON

Turning point of his season came late in the second half of the loss at Duke (Jan. 29) • Calmly sank a 15-foot jumper with 1:30 to play to cut Duke's lead to two points • Scored 12 points and had 11 assists, many of them setting up Jamison's 33 points, in the win over Duke on March 2 • Scored a regular-season-high 15 points and had 7 assists, 6 rebounds, 2 steals and 2 turnovers in win at Clemson • Hit a clutch, 16-foot jumper with 2:47 to play after the Tigers cut UNC's lead to one • Was 6 for 8 from the floor at Clemson • Scored two baskets and set up two more in the final 5:30 of the win over Wake Forest on Feb. 19 • Hit the game-winning free throws with 33 seconds to play and had 7 second-half assists in Feb. 15 win at Georgia Tech • Hit game-winning shot with 4.6 seconds to play in 45-44 win at N.C. State • Had 10 points, 3 assists, 2 steals and 0 turnovers in that win at NC State • Had 7 first-half assists and 0 turnovers in Feb. 6 win over Florida State • Had 10 first-half assists in Jan. 8 loss to Maryland. Had 14 points, 7 assists and 5 steals in debut against Arizona • Hit a key shot in the lane late in the win at Princeton • Did not play against LSU on December 18 due to a strained right arch.

■ PREP

Played his freshman and sophomore seasons at Tilden High School in Brooklyn, N.Y., and his final two years at St. Thomas More Academy in Oakdale, Conn. • Led St. Thomas More to a 27-3 record as a senior • St. Thomas won the New England prep title in his junior year, when he averaged 21 points and nine assists • Selected to a prestigious national all-star team. Member of the United States Junior National Select Team which played an international select team in Charlotte • Paced Tilden High with 31.5 points, 11 assists and six steals per game and led his team to the semifinals of the New York Public School Athletic League • Honor roll student and member of the Big Brother program at St. Thomas More.

Junior Guard/Forward

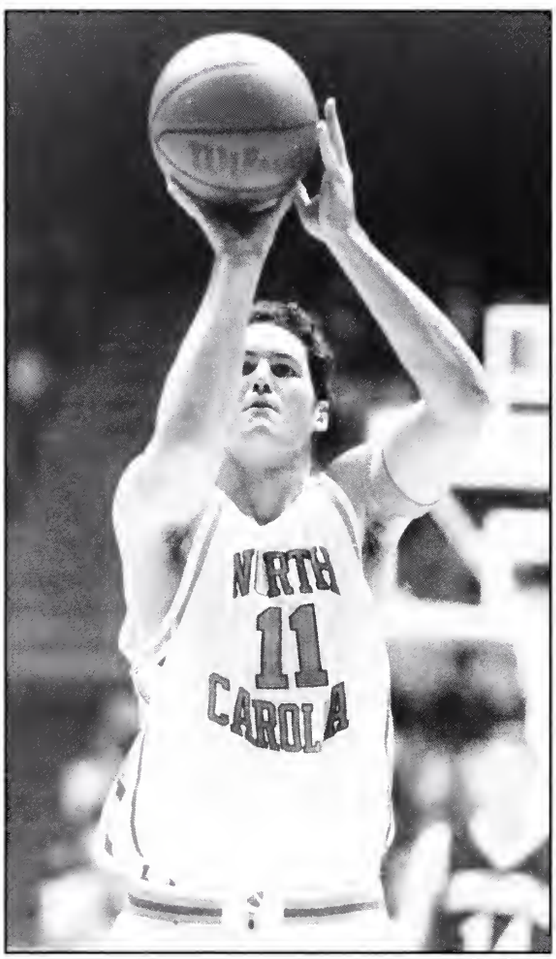
Sandersville, Ga.
Brentwood Academy

- Career has been hampered by injuries ta his left knee, which farced him ta miss half af last year and ta redshirt the 1996-97 seasan.
- Scared a career-high 10 paints in last year's seasan-apener against Appalachian State.
- Had five paints and three assists in the win at Dartmauth last seasan.

Collegiate career has been limited thus far due to injuries • A solid perimeter shooter • Had a chance to contribute last season, but he re-injured his left knee in practice in January • That injury knocked him out of action for the remainder of the season • It was the same knee he injured in high school, causing him to red-shirt in 1996-97 • A good ballhandler, who must continue to improve his defensive play to earn playing time at the off guard/small forward positions • Has worked hard in the offseason to improve his conditioning and ball skills.

■ SOPHOMORE SEASON (1998-99)

Season was cut short when he re-injured his left knee in practice on Jan. 11th • Played in 14 games, including ACC games against Georgia Tech and Florida State • Scored a career-high 10 points on 3 of 5 shooting from the floor in the season opener against Appalachian State • Had five points and three assists against Dartmouth • Shot 9 for 25 from the floor, including 5 for 16 from three-point range during the season.



Robert Crawford

■ FRESHMAN SEASON (1997-98)

Played in 22 games as a red-shirt freshman • Scored 13 points, grabbed 10 rebounds and handed out eight assists • Had a season-high five points against Navy in Hartford, Conn., in the first round of the 1998 NCAA Tournament. Scored his first collegiate points on a three-point field goal against Seton Hall in the Carrs Great Alaska Shootout • Also scored against Virginia Tech and Appalachian State • Had two rebounds and an assist against NC State in the opening round of the 1998 ACC Tournament.

■ 1996-97

Received a medical red-shirt • Injured his knee in May 1996 playing in a high school physical education class and had surgery to repair a torn anterior cruciate ligament on June 10, 1996.

■ PREP

Led Brentwood Academy to a 21-6 record and the quarterfinals of the state independent association championship • Averaged 33.7 points and 10.5 rebounds per game and shot 48 percent from the floor, 39 percent from three-point range and 92.7 percent from the free throw line • Averaged 28.9 points per game as a junior • Broke the Georgia state record for consecutive free throws made with 87 • Hit those 87 free throws over an 11-game span • That is the second-longest streak in U.S. high school history and earned him a spot in the "Faces in the Crowd" section of the June 24, 1996, issue of Sports Illustrated • Played in the Capital All-Star Classic in Washington, D.C., and the East-West All-Star Game in Atlanta.

■ CAREER HIGHS

Points: 10 vs. Appalachian State (11/13/98)
Field Goals: 3 vs. Appalachian State (11/13/98)

- Caralina's tap reserve at bath center and pawer forward.
- Came an strang last seasan, averaging 7.2 paints in his last five games, including daubledigit games against Duke and Geargia Tech.
- Shauld be at full speed far the seasan after suffering a stress fracture in his left faat in the summer.
- Runs well far a player his size and has a fine shaating tauch.

Made an impact down the stretch last season and looks for that to carry over to his junior campaign • Played his best basketball as a Tar Heel in the 1999 postseason, especially the ACC Tournament • Will be counted upon to provide inside scoring, rebounding and shot blocking • Can knock down the jump hook as well as go outside and hit the 10-15 foot jumper • Has made 52 percent from the floor and 78 percent from the free throw line as a Tar Heel • Has good shot blocking ability • Runs the court well for a player his size • Has scored in double figures four times in his career, including three times as a sophomore • Again worked hard in the offseason to add strength, especially in the upper body • Needs to get stronger and gain endurance to be able to compete with low post players • Suffered a slight stress fracture in his left foot in the summer that limited his pre-practice conditioning and development • Should be full speed by the start of the season.

■ SOPHOMORE SEASON (1998-99)

Scored a season-high 12 points to spark the Tar Heels to a 78-49 win over Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament quarterfinal • Followed that performance with six points in the win over Maryland.

Against the Yellow Jackets, Bersticker scored six consecutive points in the second half after Georgia Tech had moved to within a point of UNC's lead • In the semifinal against the Terps, Bersticker scored two dramatic baskets • First, after Maryland cut a 23-point UNC lead to eight with 3:24 to play, Bersticker hit an inside basket to restore Carolina's 10-point lead • Then, after Maryland closed to within four points at 80-76, he took a long pass from Ademola Okulaja and dunked.

In the regular-season finale vs. Duke, Bersticker scored 11 points • In the last five games, he scored 36 points • He scored 30 points total in the first 15 regular-season ACC contests.

■ FRESHMAN SEASON (1997-98)

Recipient of the Butch Bennett Award, which is given to the UNC freshman who best exemplifies determination, sportsmanship and sacrifice for the good of the team • Played in 19 games as a freshman • Averaged 2.6 points and 1.3 rebounds per contest • Made 20 of 36 field goal attempts (55.6 percent) and 9 of 10 from the free throw line (90.0 percent) • Blocked 12 shots in limited minutes • Averaged a blocked shot every 7.3 minutes of action • That was the best ratio on the team • Scored a season-high 16 points and grabbed a season-best nine rebounds at Bethune-Cookman • Made six of nine from the floor at Bethune-Cookman • Had seven points in the win over NC State in the first round of the ACC Tournament • Played in six regular-season ACC games.

■ PREP

Graduated with honors from Kempsville High School in Virginia Beach, Va. • That is the same high school that former UNC All-America J.R. Reid attended • Played for Coach Vernon King Jr. at Kempsville • Led his high school team to an 18-7 record as a senior, including a 13-5 mark in district play • Kempsville won the district tournament title • Averaged 13.3 points, 8.6 rebounds and 5.8 blocked shots per game as a senior • Had a triple-double (16 points, 13 rebounds and 10 blocks) in one game • Averaged 16.5 rebounds and nine blocks per game as a junior • Was first-team all-district selection • In 1997, played middle hitter on the volleyball team as a sophomore and earned first-team all-district honors • Was born in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Has the potential to become one of the top low-post players in college basketball • Spent numerous hours in the weight room in the off season in order to become a better conditioned athlete • Hard work paid off when he earned a spot on the 12-player United States Basketball Team that won the gold medal in the World University Games in Spain • Started all eight games for Team USA and was the second-leading scorer and rebounder on the team • Had 17 points in a quarterfinal round win over Canada • Has made 62.3 percent of his field goal attempts, the second-highest percentage in school history behind Rasheed Wallace's 63.5 • Suffered a torn ligament in his left thumb in pre-season workouts and had surgery in late August • Has shown the ability to score inside, block shots and control the backboards • Must become a more consistent performer • That should come with experience and conditioning.

■ SOPHOMORE SEASON (1998-99)

Shot 64.8 percent from the field, tying the third-highest field goal percentage in UNC single-season history • Only Bobby Jones (.668 in 1971-72) and Rasheed Wallace (.654 in 1994-95) have had better percentages • Made less than 50 percent from the field only six times in 34 games.

Led UNC in blocked shots (60) and field goal percentage and was second on the team in scoring (12.0) and rebounding (6.9).

Posted nine double-doubles in points and rebounds • Scored 20 or more points three times, was in double figures in scoring 22 times and had 10 or more rebounds in a game 10 times.

Had 10 points and 10 rebounds in Carolina's win over fifth-ranked Maryland in the ACC Tournament semifinal • Led UNC with 16 points on 7 of 9 shooting in the home loss to Duke • Was 7 for 7 from the field and scored 18 points and had eight rebounds in the Tar Heels' 98-64 win over Florida State • Grabbed a career-high 16 rebounds, including a career-best seven offensive boards in a 71-47 win over Virginia.

Came off the bench to score 16 points, grab six boards and block four shots to lead the Tar Heels to a 59-56 victory at NC State • Had 18 points and 11 rebounds in a home loss against Maryland • Posted a career-high 24 points and had 12 rebounds in the loss at California on December 29th • Scored a team-high 20 points against Buffalo on 8 of 9 shooting.

Scored a then-career-high 21 points and pulled down 11 rebounds in Carolina's 54-47 win over Purdue in the NIT semifinal • Made 8 of 10 shots from the field and was 5 of 7 from the free throw line against the Boilermakers • He also blocked two shots, one of which was a critical block at the end of the game that resulted in a shot clock violation by Purdue with 1:19 to play.

In the NIT final victory over Stanford, he blocked six shots and scored seven points • He helped limit Stanford's starting front court to 7 of 27 shooting from the field.

Opened the season with 19 points and nine rebounds against Appalachian State.

- A tremendous athlete who has the top vertical leap on the Tar Heel team.
- Had a career-high 11 points and three rebounds against Buffalo last season.
- Played in three games in 1997-98 before injuring his foot and red-shirting.

Steadily improving young player • Has played in 18 contests in two seasons, although he has three years remaining due to a medical red-shirt in 1997-98 • Has made 11 of 19 field goal attempts (.579) and nine of 10 from the free throw line • Is a tremendous athlete • Likely has the top vertical jumping ability on the squad • Has worked hard in the offseason to gain upper body strength • Should see more playing time this year on the perimeter and at small forward • Lacks game experience at this level • Will continue to improve with experience • Had the team's fastest time in the mile run in the 1999-2000 preseason with a time of 4:55.5.

Points: 11 vs. Buffalo (12/8/98)
Field Goals: 3 vs. Buffalo (12/8/98)
Free Throws: 5 vs. Buffalo (12/8/98)
Rebounds: 3 vs. Buffalo (12/8/98)

■ REDSHIRT FRESHMAN SEASON (1998-99)

Played in 15 contests, including seven ACC regular-season games and the ACC Tournament championship game • Scored 27 points and grabbed eight rebounds • Made 9 of 17 shots from the floor and was 9 for 10 from the free throw line • Scored 11 points against Buffalo • Made 3 of 4 from the field and 5 for 5 free throws against Buffalo • Had six points at Middle Tennessee State.

Robert Crawford

■ 1997-98

Played in the Tar Heels' first three games before injuring his foot • Suffered a soft tissue injury in practice just before the team left for Alaska in November • Never was able to overcome the effects of the injury • Decided in January to seek a medical redshirt from the NCAA • Played against Middle Tennessee, Richmond and California • Was two for two from the field • Scored against Middle Tennessee and California.

■ PREP

Attended McDowell High School in Marion, N.C • Played for Coach Lloyd Church at McDowell • Spent his first three years of high school in Juana Diaz, Puerto Rico • Was born in Ponce, Puerto Rico • Played the post position at McDowell, where he averaged 20.1 points, 9.1 rebounds, 2.9 blocked shots and 2.0 steals per game • Led the Titans to a 24-5 record and a berth in the state sectional finals • Earned second-team all-state and first-team all-conference honors • Also competed in track and field for three years • Ran the 400 meters.

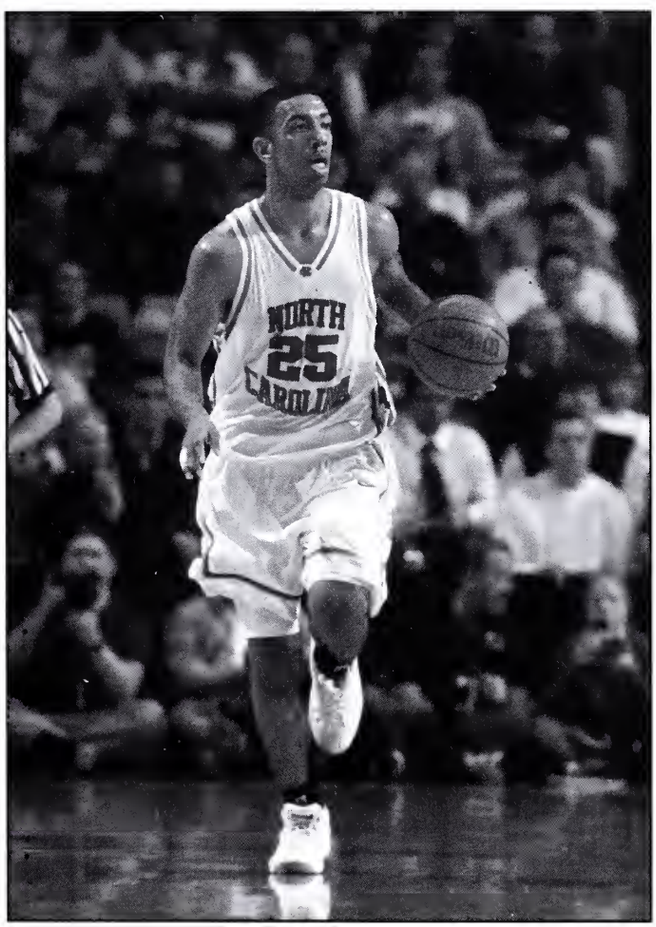
- Should ploy mostly ot smoll forword this seoson ofter playing shooting guard os o freshman.
- Ronked second in the ACC in free throw percentoge lost yeor.
- Should be poin-free this seoson ofter undergoing back surgery in Morch to repoir two hernioted disks.
- A sovvy ployer who excels ot driving the line and making the three-point ploy.

Solid all-around performer • Can play the off guard or either forward positions • Last year, he contributed primarily at off guard • Look for him to move to small forward with Ademola Okulaja's graduation • Loves to take the ball to the basket and look for the three-point play • Is a good perimeter shooter as well • Made some clutch three-point baskets as a freshman • Averaged more than three free throw attempts per game and was the second best free throw shooter by percentage in the ACC • Also is a good rebounder • Had five or more rebounds in 12 of the 26 games in which he played.

Had back surgery in March to repair two herniated discs • Played with back pain throughout his freshman season • Was unable to practice with the team on a regular basis because of the pain in his back • Also missed a number of games last year because of illness • A much overlooked aspect of Carolina's first round departure in the NCAA Tournament was the fact Capel was able to play just four minutes against Weber State.



Scott Sharpe

■ FRESHMAN SEASON (1998-99)

Played in 26 of the 34 games • Averaged 9.1 points and 4.1 rebounds per game • Led the team in free throw percentage at .854 • He converted 76 of 89 attempts • Was second in the Atlantic Coast Conference in free throw shooting percentage • Donald Hand of Virginia shot a league-leading .862 • Only the second Tar Heel to lead the team in free throw shooting as a freshman • Curtis Hunter accomplished the feat in 1982-83.

Missed eight games, due mainly to injuries • Did not play against Dartmouth due to an illness in his family, missed six games in late-January/mid-February due to mononucleosis, and did not play against Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament because of a back strain.

Battled through a disk problem all season • Fell on his back taking a charge in the UNC Charlotte, initially aggravating his back condition • Took a hard fall in practice two days before the regular-season finale against Duke • That caused him to miss the ACC Tournament opener against Georgia Tech.

Returned to action against fifth-ranked Maryland in the ACC semifinals and scored 13 points in the upset win • He was 5 for 6 from the field, including 3 for 3 from three-point range • However, he fell hard on his back attempting to grab a rebound and did not play the final 14:09 • In the championship game against Duke, he did not score in limited action • He was able to play just four minutes in the NCAA Tournament against Weber State.

Shared team-scoring honors with 15 points and was 7 of 8 from the free throw line in the home win over NC State • His three-point basket with 9:49 remaining cut the Wolfpack lead to one point • Sank four free throws in overtime to lead Carolina to a 68-65 win over Wake Forest on Feb. 23.

Scored a season-high 16 points in back-to-back games against Old Dominion and the College of Charleston and was named the Most Valuable Player of the Food Lion MVP Classic • The Chesapeake, Va., native was 6 of 7 from the field against ODU, where his father, Jeff, is the head coach, and 4 of 5 against College of Charleston.

Hit three three-point field goals in Carolina's 89-76 loss vs. Maryland on Jan. 13.

Scored 11 points, including several crucial free throws, in Carolina's 77-72 win vs. Louisville • In fact, Capel was 9 of 10 from the free throw line against the Cardinals.

- Scored in double figures in 11 of Corolino's finol 15 gomes lost seoson.
- One of three ACC players nomed to College Hoops Insider's notionol All-Freshmon Team.

Made more of an impact as a freshman than most people predicted • Showed the ability from day one to compete on the boards and play solid low post defense • Also displayed a nice touch around the basket • Has a devastating jump hook • As his first season progressed, he was able to hit the jump hook with either hand • Great competitor • Plays at such a high throttle that he needs to gain more endurance so he can remain on the floor longer.

■ FRESHMAN SEASON (1998-99)

Selected to the Atlantic Coast Conference's All-Freshman Team • He was the fifth UNC player to make that team since it began in the mid-1990s • Other selections include Rasheed Wallace and Jerry Stackhouse in 1994, Antawn Jamison in 1996 and Ed Cota in 1997.

Was one of four Tar Heels to play in all 34 games • Averaged 10.6 points and 5.4 rebounds per game • Scored in double figures 18 times, including 11 of the last 15 games.

College Hoops Insider named Lang to its national All-Freshman Team • He was one of 15 players on the team, including ACC rookies Corey Maggette of Duke and Chris Williams of Virginia.

Lang shot over 50 percent from the field in 24 games and finished the year shooting 57.8 percent from the field • Made 148 of his 256 field goal attempts.

Scored 11 points and added six rebounds in NCAA Tournament loss to Weber State • In the ACC Tournament, he scored 11 vs. Georgia Tech, nine vs. Maryland in the semifinal and 12 vs. Duke in the championship game • Was 6 for 9 from the floor in the ACC title game.

Shot 84.2 percent from the field (16 of 19) and averaged 18.5 points and seven rebounds to earn ACC Rookie-of-the-Week honors for the week of Feb. 1-7 • Was 7 for 7 from the field and scored 16 points and had eight rebounds in the loss at Clemson • In the Tar Heels' 98-64 win over Florida State, he matched his career high with 21 points and also had six rebounds.

Recorded his second career double-double in the Jan. 31 win over Georgia Tech • He led UNC with 17 points and led all players with 11 rebounds.

Posted his first double-double with 20 points and 10 rebounds in Carolina's 82-68 win at Dartmouth • Made nine field goals in 12 attempts and blocked three shots.

Scored a season-high 21 points in Carolina's 65-58 win over Georgia in the Preseason NIT quarterfinal • With just 40 seconds remaining in the game, he scored one of the game's biggest buckets, dunking Ed Cota's pass for a four-point UNC lead • Played great defense and had seven rebounds in the Tar Heels' 57-49 victory over Stanford in the Preseason NIT final.

He converted two three-point plays late in regulation and in overtime of Carolina's win over UNC Charlotte • With 1:17 remaining in regulation and Carolina trailing by three, Okulaja fed Lang a perfect baseline bounce pass that he converted into a layup • He was fouled on the play and completed the three-point play to tie the game at 64 • In overtime, he put the Tar Heels up by three with 4.23 left on another three-point play.

■ PREP

Attended Hunter Huss High School in Gastonia • Played for Coach Butch Blalock • Scored 16 points and grabbed six rebounds in the North Carolina Coaches High School All-Star Game • Named Mr. Basketball in the state by The Charlotte Observer • Is the fourth player to have been named Mr. Basketball to go on to play for the Tar Heels (joining Henrik Rodl, Donald Williams and Antawn Jamison) • Played in the Magic Johnson Roundball Classic and the McDonald's High School All-Star Game • Averaged 21 points, 14 rebounds and seven blocked shots per game as a senior • Netted 16 points per game and grabbed 10 boards per game as a junior • Was a teammate in AAU competition with Brendan Haywood.

■ COACHING HIGHLIGHTS
- Won more games (58) in his first two years than any coach in NCAA history.
- Reached 50 wins faster than any coach in Carolina history.
- Was the consensus National Coach of the Year in 1997-98.
- Has been a part of 13 Final Fours, including one as a player, 11 as an assistant coach and one as a head coach.

Following a legend is no easy task, but Bill Guthridge has done an outstanding job leading the Carolina men's basketball program after Dean Smith stepped down after 36 years as head coach. Guthridge followed college basketball's alltime winningest head coach with a Final Four and an Atlantic Coast Conference championship in his first year and a 24-win season and berth in the ACC Tournament championship game in year two.

Guthridge has directed the Tar Heels to an unprecedented 58 wins in his two years. That is the highest win total of any two-year coach in NCAA history. He has done what many observers predicted could not be done — taken over one of college basketball's premier programs and continued to win games, recruit the nation's top student-athletes and direct an all-around first-class program.

Smith decided to step down as coach in October 1997. Athletic Director Dick Baddour turned to Guthridge and immediately tabbed him to take over the Tar Heel program. It has proved to be an outstanding choice. In his first season as a head coach since a stint in Puerto Rico in 1967, Guthridge led the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, the ACC Tournament championship, a No. 1 final ranking in the Associated Press poll, an NCAA East Regional title and a berth in the Final Four.

Carolina posted two wins over then No. 1 ranked Duke, won the Great Alaska Shootout with a championship game victory over Purdue, boasted the National Player of the Year in Antawn Jamison, won a school-record four overtime games and had two players selected in the top five of the NBA Draft for the second time in four years.

Carolina equaled the school record for wins in a season with 34, the second-highest single-season output in ACC history. The 34 wins also were the most by any first-year head coach in NCAA history.

"Bill did a marvelous job, but it was not a surprise to me or anyone who knows college basketball," says Dean Smith. "He never did receive enough credit, although he didn't ask for it, for all his years as Tex Winter's assistant and my assistant. Bill's basketball savvy, ability to remain composed and genuine affection for his players are just some of the reasons for his success as a head coach."

The Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the country three different times in 1997-98, including the final AP poll heading into the NCAA Tournament. UNC won 17 consecutive games to start the season and at no point in the season lost back-to-back contests.

Guthridge was named the National Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, as well as the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award), CBS/Chevrolet and The Sporting News. He was also selected the ACC Coach of the Year after leading the Tar Heels to a 13-3 record in the regular season and the ACC Tournament crown. Carolina won the ACC title by winning three straight games against teams it had lost to in the regular season. Guthridge became the first coach in ACC history to win ACC Coach-of-the-Year honors in his first campaign as a head coach.

"He doesn't want to take any credit, but he was the man behind the scenes," point guard Ed Cota said following Carolina's 83-68 win over Duke in the ACC Tournament championship game. "We never had a doubt about him as a head coach. We wanted to win this one for Coach Gut."

The Final Four was Guthridge's 13th as a player, assistant coach or head coach. He became the sixth person to play on a Final Four team and then direct a Final Four squad as head coach. He is the seventh person to lead a team to the national semifinals in his first season as a head coach.

"No one can ever underestimate how much Coach Gut has done. He's been great to play for. He's been a great leader, and I think this proves it," said National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison after Carolina defeated Connecticut in the NCAA East Regional final to advance to the Final Four.

Early on, Carolina survived difficult non-conference tests in which Guthridge showed his ability to manage tense, late-game situations. Against fifth-ranked Purdue in the finals of the Great Alaska Shootout, Carolina trailed by eight points at halftime and by seven with seven minutes to play in the second half. The Tar Heels then reeled off eight straight points to take the lead and held on for a four-point victory.

After the game, assistant coach Dave Hanners said, "It was just like Coach Smith was on the sidelines. Everybody was so excited, hollering out ideas, and there was Coach Guthridge as calm as ever. He really kept the guys composed down the stretch."

Last year, Carolina hit the court with its most inexperienced team in more than three decades. Guthridge took a team that was without four starters from the year before — including first-round draftees Jamison and Carter — and went 24-10. The Tar Heels started two freshmen for much of the season, yet still finished third in the ACC behind two teams ranked in the top five in the country throughout the season. UNC qualified for NCAA postseason play for the 25th consecutive season and won 20-plus games for a remarkble 29th year in a row. Those streaks were no guarantees when the inexperienced Tar Heels began the season.

"The only thing that's different than Coach Smith is he's more vocal," says senior forward Ademola Okulaja. "He's still a very funny guy, loose, calm. He's got the same philosophy: Work hard, play together, play smart, and ultimately, you will have fun."

Expectations for another Final Four run were raised again in November when Guthridge directed Carolina past FIU, Georgia, Purdue and Stanford to win the Chase Preseason NIT. The Tar Heels were the toast of Manhattan after beating the 11th-ranked Boilermakers and second-ranked Cardinal in Madison Square Garden.

The Tar Heels went 12-7 against ACC competition in Guthridge's second season. The biggest conference win of the year came in the ACC Tournament semifinals as Carolina edged fifth-ranked Maryland, 86-79. That win came after the Terps won the regular-season matchups by 13 and 17 points, respectively. The victory also put the Tar Heels into the ACC championship game for the third straight year and eighth time in the last nine years.

"The first thing that stands out about Bill Guthridge is his love for the University of North Carolina," says Baddour. "Bill believes in the special virtues that make Chapel Hill and this University a unique and rewarding educational experience. Like his longtime friend and mentor, Dean Smith, Bill instills a commitment to academics first, social growth second and basketball third. It is obvious by the special bond his players, both present and former, share with him that they are devoted to Bill and thankful for his guidance and friendship. It takes a special person to be remembered fondly for being both firm and funny, always in the best interests of his students, and Bill is that special person."

As Smith's chief assistant, Guthridge was involved in every aspect of the North Carolina program and there is not a weakness in his coaching repertoire. He has a thorough knowledge of all aspects of his profession—teaching, organizational skills, motivation, on-bench decision making, practice plans and recruiting.

The Wall Street Journal noted during Carolina's 1998 Final Four march: "On its own terms this is a great story, both because it suggests that organizations are full of underappreciated people who need only a chance to showcase their talents, and because it reminds us that ceaseless self-promotion and perpetual job-hopping are not necessary ingredients for getting ahead. But what's most striking about Mr. Guthridge's success is the way it reflects UNC's dedication to him. Even as corporations increasingly look outside their ranks for top management, Mr. Guthridge's experience suggests a more comforting model of succession."

Guthridge has been a part of 845 wins at Carolina. Including 93 wins as an assistant coach at Kansas State, he has been on the sidelines for 938 college basketball victories.

Guthridge, who was born on July 27, 1937, is a 1960 alumnus of Kansas State University. He played as a guard on Wildcat teams which won Big Eight Conference championships in 1958, 1959 and 1960 and in his sophomore year, KSU made the NCAA Final Four after winning the Midwest Regional championship.

Guthridge's esteem is held equally high in Kansas as it is in North Carolina. In 1994 he was elected to membership in the state of Kansas' Basketball Hall of Fame by the Kansas Coaches Association.

Guthridge has been a part of some of the greatest teams in both Kansas State and North Carolina history as an assistant coach. In fact, Guthridge has been involved with 13 teams which have reached the Final Four—as a player at Kansas State in 1958, as an assistant coach with the Wildcats in 1964, as a Tar Heel assistant coach in 1968, 1969, 1972, 1977, 1981, 1982, 1991, 1993, 1995 and 1997, and as UNC's head coach in 1998.

Carolina has made 28 appearances in the NCAA Tournament and four in the National Invitation Tournament in Guthridge's time on the staff, participating in a postseason tournament in each of his years in Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels have finished third or higher in the Atlantic Coast

N.C. Collection / UNC-CH Library

Conference regular-season standings in each of his 32 seasons, including 16 first-place finishes and 10 second-place finishes. In 23 of his 32 years, Carolina has either won the ACC Tournament, finished first in the regular-season standings or done both. He also was on a staff that led Carolina to NCAA championships in 1982 and 1993 and to the NIT title in 1971.

Guthridge also played a key role when the United States won the Olympic gold medal in 1976 at the Summer Games in Montreal. Smith named Guthridge and Georgetown head coach John Thompson to his staff for the Games. Besides practice and bench coaching duties at the Olympics, Guthridge also was responsible for scouting the Americans' opponents during the two-week competition. The trio of Smith, Guthridge and Thompson coached a talented American squad to the gold medal four years after the U.S. had been denied the gold for the first time in history in a heartbreaking one-point loss to the Soviet Union in Munich.

Guthridge is the Tar Heels' shooting instructor and it's no coincidence Carolina has shot at least 50 percent from the field in 24 of the last 29 seasons and led the ACC in field goal percentage 19 times in the last 29 years. The Tar Heels have led the ACC in field goal percentage shooting, the best example of the unselfish, ball-movement style of offense Carolina is nationally known for, in five of the past six seasons.

Guthridge also excels as a tutor for the Tar Heel big men and works individually with the frontcourt players prior to each practice session. Among his former pupils are Rusty Clark, Bob McAdoo, Mitch Kupchak, Sam Perkins, Brad Daugherty, Joe Wolf, Scott Williams, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Eric Montross, Rasheed Wallace, Serge Zwikker, Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Ademola Okulaja.

Dan Sears

A native of Parsons, Kan., Guthridge played high school basketball for Harold Johnson, one of two brothers who innovated the zone press in the 1930s. In addition to his basketball accomplishments at Kansas State, Guthridge also was chosen as one of the University's 13 most outstanding all-around seniors in 1960 based on his leadership qualities, extracurricular activities and academic record.

After graduating from Kansas State, he coached at Scott City High School in Kansas for two seasons before returning to his alma mater as an assistant coach for Tex Winter. In five years on Winter's staff, Guthridge helped lead the Wildcats to a 93-43 record, a pair of Big Eight Conference crowns and the 1964 NCAA Final Four.

Guthridge, who has led UNC to a 6-1 record in overtime games as head coach, came to Carolina prior to the 1967-68 season after Larry Brown left to play in the ABA. He came to Carolina as freshman coach and co-assistant varsity coach with John Lotz. In his first six seasons at UNC, Guthridge directed the Tar Heel freshmen to a 72-25 record and a quartet of Big Four championships.

Besides working with Smith and Winter, two of the great names in coaching, Guthridge also coached in the Puerto Rican Amateur Athletic Union Summer Leagues twice, earning Coach-of-the-Year honors. His work was so superb that he was invited to coach the 1968 Puerto Rican Olympic Team.

However, Guthridge's greatest fame has come from his work with the Tar Heels. Smith gives Guthridge much of the credit for helping develop the players who have kept Carolina at the top of the college ranks during the past three decades.

"Coach Guthridge is the best I have ever seen in selecting potential in high school players," Smith says. "He has a keen sense of which ones will be very good players and which ones may be overrated. He has saved many scholarships when he has suggested backing off certain players, and of course, has selected some great ones who matriculated at Chapel Hill."

Guthridge says he actually enjoys the recruiting of new student-athletes for the Tar Heels.

"Some people say recruiting is undesirable, that it's the worst part of being a college coach," says Guthridge. "But my experiences have been very enjoyable. I think that has had a lot to do with the type of young man that our University attracts."

Guthridge, whose Bachelor of Science degree from Kansas State is in mathematics, received a master's degree in education from KSU in 1963.

His dry sense of humor makes him one of the most popular speakers in the Carolina athletic department. Tar Heel seniors annually credit Guthridge's discipline and wit among the things they will miss the most about the Carolina basketball family.

Bill and his wife, Leesie, have two sons, Jamie and Stuart, and a daughter, Megan.

■ COACHING HIGHLIGHTS
Has been a part of five Final Four teams, the 1993 NCAA title and five ACC Tournament championships.

Phil Ford has been an invaluable member of the Carolina basketball family for 25 years. As a point guard, Ford earned first-team All-America honors three times and was the 1978 National Player of the Year. In his 11-year stint as a UNC assistant coach, Ford has been a tireless instructor, motivator and recruiter.

Ford's name is synonymous with his enthusiastic attitude, and it is that quality which makes him stand out from many assistant coaches. Ford has been a part of five Final Four appearances, five NCAA Regional titles and five ACC Tournament titles. He has coached 10 first-round draft picks, including 1998 National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison.

Ford, Jamison and Michael Jordan are the only Tar Heel players to win the John Wooden Award as the nation's top player. Carolina is the only school to have three different payers win the Wooden Award.

"Phil was a great college basketball player and went on to have a successful career in the NBA, but we are very glad he has made coaching college basketball players his calling," says head coach Bill Guthridge. "Over the past decade, Phil has been very instrumental in our program's continued success. He's been a great recruiter, provided sound advice and analysis both preparing for games and on the bench, and he continues to relate well to today's players."

Ford, a native of Rocky Mount, N.C., and a 1974 graduate of Rocky Mount High School, was a backcourt star on Carolina teams that won 99 of 124 games in his four years. Those teams went to the NCAA Tournament four times and advanced to the championship game in Ford's junior year. As a senior, Ford won the coveted Wooden Award. He was also named the National Player of the Year in 1978 by the United States Basketball Writers Association, the National Association of Basketball Coaches and The Sporting News.

Brad Smith

Ford is Carolina's alltime leading scorer with 2,290 points. He saved what was perhaps his greatest collegiate performance for his final home game in Carmichael Auditorium, scoring a career-high 34 points in leading the Tar Heels to an Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season championship-clinching 87-83 win over Duke. Ford also held Carolina's single-game, season and career assist records until Jeff Lebo, Ed Cota and Kenny Smith eclipsed Ford's numbers.

Ford was the first freshman during Smith's tenure to start in the first game of his Carolina career. He capped a brilliant freshman year by leading the Tar Heels to the 1975 ACC Tournament championship, becoming the first freshman in league history to win the Everett Case Award as the Most Valuable Player in the ACC Tournament.

Ford earned first-team All-ACC accolades in 1976, 1977 and 1978. He also was named first-team All-ACC Tournament in 1975, 1976 and 1977 and second-team in 1978. He was listed on multiple All-America teams in earning first-team status in 1976, 1977 and 1978. He was also a first-team freshman All-America in 1975.

In his senior season Ford was voted the ACC Player of the Year, and in both 1977 and 1978 he was given the Anthony J. McKevlin Award as the ACC Athlete of the Year. In May 1978, he graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration.

Ford was taken as the second player in the 1978 NBA draft by the Kansas City Kings and won the 1979 NBA Rookie of the Year award. He also was named to the NBA All-Rookie Team and to the All-NBA second team. Ford's tenure with the Kings lasted four seasons, and he finished his NBA career by playing one year with the New Jersey Nets and the Milwaukee Bucks and two seasons with the Houston Rockets.

Ford was inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in May 1991.

Although Ford has come a long way from his backyard basketball court in Rocky Mount where he learned to play the game in the late 1960s and early 1970s, it is evident that family is an important aspect in Ford's life.

"I enjoy spending time with my wife and my two kids," says Ford. "You don't realize how lucky you are until you have a family of your own."

Ford was married in July 1988 to Traci Vample, a Salem College graduate and native of Durham, N.C. The Fords have a daughter, Tyler, 10, and a son, Mitchell, eight. His parents, Phil Sr. and Mabel, were both public school teachers. His brother, Wayne, is a dermatologist in Greensboro and his sister, Jackie, teaches in Durham.

"The University of North Carolina is a special place to call home. I love the people in the community and respect the fact I have a chance to give back to UNC. I played for Coach Guthridge, coached alongside him under Coach Smith and appreciate the opportunity to work for him as head coach. He has a great basketball mind and understands the importance of teaching the game of basketball."

■ COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

Has been a part of five Final Four teams, the 1993 NCAA title and faur ACC Taurnament champianships.

Dave Hanners enters his 11th season on the University of North Carolina basketball staff. In his tenure at Carolina, the Tar Heels have played in five Final Fours, won one NCAA title and four Atlantic Coast Conference championships.

"Dave is a tireless worker," says head coach Bill Guthridge. "He was a tenacious competitor as a player and remains that way as a coach. He does a lot of the behind the scenes duties that don't get noticed by many people, but really keep the program moving. Dave is adept at scouting the opposition and finding its strengths and weaknesses that help us prepare for games. He has a great basketball mind and is fun to be around."

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Hanners graduated from Walnut Ridge High School, where he won a state championship while playing with Brad Hoffman and Ed Stahl, both of whom would eventually become Tar Heel teammates of Hanners.

A guard at Carolina in the mid-1970s, Hanners earned four letters and was a tri-captain of the 1976 team with Mitch Kupchak and Bill Chambers. As a senior, he helped lead the team to a 25-4 overall mark and a 13-1 record in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Although he was the backup point guard to Phil Ford his senior year, Hanners played a significant role in one of the most famous comebacks in Carolina history. In the opening round of the 1975 Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, Carolina was trailing Wake Forest by eight points with only 50 seconds remaining.

Hanners contributed a key steal and a pair of assists in a rally that propelled the Tar Heels to a stunning one-point overtime victory. Spurred by that amazing comeback, North Carolina went on to capture the 1975 ACC Tournament crown. That year, Carolina had to win the ACC Tournament to earn a bid to the NCAA Tournament. That tournament victory also began Carolina's incredible run of 24 straight seasons in NCAA play, a streak that still exists.

In 1976 Hanners earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in English Education from Carolina. After graduating, he worked on the Tar Heel staff for two years as a graduate assistant coach, helping Eddie Fogler with the junior varsity program. Hanners earned his Master of Arts degree in English Education from UNC in 1978.

From 1978-80, Hanners worked as a high school head coach at the University School in Milwaukee, Wis., and in 1979-80 he coached at Westover High School in Fayetteville, N.C.

After his high school coaching stint, Hanners entered the collegiate ranks, serving as an assistant coach at UNC Wilmington for three years, at Furman University for two years and at East Tennessee State University for four years.

Working under head coach Les Robinson, Hanners was in charge of the Buccaneers' recruiting efforts. In 1988-89, ETSU won the Southern Conference championship and was one point shy of eliminating NCAA Southeast Regional top seed Oklahoma in the first round of the tournament.

"The most unique aspect of Carolina basketball is the family atmosphere that surrounds our program. Not a day goes by without a call or visit from former players or their families. It gives me a great sense of pride to be a part of something that has been done so well for so long."

— Asst. Coach Dave Hanners

Hanners served as head coach of Carolina's junior varsity team for two years. In 1994-95, Hanners guided the team to a record of 10-5 against many community colleges that give scholarships. Hanners will once again direct the junior varsity program in 1999-2000.

Was a part af the 1998 Final Faur and ACC champianship team.

Pat Sullivan, onc of only eight Carolina players to play on three Final Four teams, is in his third year as an assistant coach at his alma mater. Prior to joining the UNC coaching staff in October 1997, Sullivan spent two seasons on the Tar Heel basketball staff as an administrative assistant and assistant video coordinator.

"Pat has added a lot to our staff," says head coach Bill Guthridge. "He's the youngest of the four coaches, so he relates well to our players and what they face each day here at Carolina, academically, athletically and socially. He knows what to expect and is a good bridge to the players and other coaches. He works with the big men and has a good understanding of all the drills, since he is just a few years removed from participating in them.

"Pat is one of the few players in ACC history to have played in three Final Fours and now he has coached in a Final Four. As a player, there wasn't a more unselfish, hard-working player in the game and his love of the sport is obvious."

Sullivan, a native of Bogota, N.J., played in 118 games for the Tar Heels from 1990-1995. He exemplified the unselfish nature for which Carolina teams have been known. After playing three seasons, he requested that he red-shirt the 1993-94 season. The following year, he missed the first 21 games due to ruptured discs in his back, but returned in time to play in the final 13 games, including the Final Four in Seattle.

He was a member of the regular playing rotation in 1992-93 when the Tar Heels went 34-4 and beat Michigan to win the NCAA title in New Orleans. Sullivan also played against Kansas in the 1991 Final Four in Indianapolis. He joins a list of Tar Heel players to play in three Final Fours that includes Joe Brown, Bill Bunting, Rusty Clark, Dick Grubar, Gerald Tuttle, Serge Zwikker and Shammond Williams.

Dan Sears

Carolina played in the ACC Tournament championship game in all five of Sullivan's seasons. He is the only player in ACC history who has been a part of five consecutive ACC title games. UNC won ACC titles in 1991 and 1994. The Tar Heels posted an overall record of 142-33 in those five years.

He scored a total of 478 points, grabbed 223 rebounds and handed out 120 assists, but his value to the Tar Heels went far beyond those things found on the stat sheet. He was the recipient of the Rick Sharp Award, given to the player who contributed the most in practice and behind the scenes, in 1993-94. He was given the Butch Bennett Award as a freshman for determination, sportsmanship and sacrifice for the good of the team. As a senior in 1994-95, he was a team captain and recipient of the Foy Roberson Award, which is given to the Most Inspirational Player.

"It is an awesome responsibility to have the opportunity to pass on to young players the same fundamentals, philosophies, teaching experiences and passion for the game that I learned from Coach Smith and his staff. I think I learned the right way and the fun way to play basketball and now I have the challenge of passing that knowledge and commitment to another generation of the Carolina basketball family."

— Asst. Coach Pat Sullivan

A 77.4 percent free throw shooter for his career, Sullivan hit the front end of a key one-and-one with 20 seconds to play in the 1993 NCAA championship game. He had three points, a rebound and an assist in that championship game.

He also played a valuable role in the Tar Heels' NCAA Tournament second round win over Iowa State in 1995. He entered that contest late in the first half with UNC trailing by 14 points and scored six quick points to lead the Tar Heel comeback. He finished the game against Iowa State 4 for 4 from the floor with four rebounds, a block, a steal and an assist.

He averaged 4.1 points per game in his career, but had a season-high 6.4 point-per-game average in 1992-93 when he scored 245 points. He shot 51.8 percent from the floor and 78.9 percent from the line that year. As a 6-8, 220-pound small forward, Sullivan netted a career-high 18 points against Old Dominion on Dec. 1, 1992. He averaged 8.3 points and 3.3 rebounds over three games in the 1993 ACC Tournament and had nine points in the 1993 NCAA Tournament against Rhode Island.

As a sophomore he scored 14 points and added seven rebounds, two assists, three steals and a blocked shot in a win over Colorado. Later that year, he hit a pair of clutch free throws with just 38 seconds left to tie Wake Forest in a game Carolina trailed by 20 points in the second half yet rallied to win by a basket.

Coach Smith substituted a first-year Sullivan into the 1991 NCAA East Regional final against Temple with just 8.6 seconds to play. A savvy player, Sullivan was sent into the game, despite being just a freshman, to inbound the ball under the Carolina basket and with UNC holding a 73-72 advantage. Sullivan did get the ball in to King Rice, who was fouled and hit the game-clinching free throws.

Sullivan was the head coach at Hale High School in Raleigh in 1995-96. A bachelor, he resides in Chapel Hill. His younger brother, Ryan, was also a member of the UNC basketball team from 1996-97.

BASKETBALL SUPPORT STAFF

MARC DAVIS

■ Head Basketball Trainer, Physical Therapist

Marc Davis serves as the head trainer for the University of North Carolina men's basketball team, a position he has held since the 1977-78 school year.

Davis received his Bachelor of Science degree in physical therapy from the University of North Carolina in 1974. After graduating from Carolina, he worked as a physical therapist at Danville Memorial Hospital in Danville, Va., from October of 1974 to May of 1975. He began his current tenure on the sports medicine staff at Carolina in July of 1975.

The 47-year-old Davis, a native of Wilmington, N.C., and alumnus of New Hanover High School, is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association and the National Athletic Trainers Association.

He was the recipient of the award for the outstanding physical therapist of the year for 1998 by the North Carolina Physical Therapy Association.

Davis' duties at Carolina consist of providing physical therapy and athletic training services to Carolina athletic teams. In addition to the men's basketball team, he also works closely with the football team and he serves as head trainer for the men's and women's swimming and diving teams. He also provides similar services to members of the general student body who are recommended to him by Student Health Service physicians. Davis also works with the basketball coaching staff to coordinate team travel.

Davis is married to the former Paula Gee. They have a 10-year-old daughter, Irma Consuelo.

BEN COOK

■ Strength & Conditioning, Video Operations Coordinator

After assisting the University of North Carolina football program and several other varsity sports between 1990-93, Ben Cook took over as the men's basketball strength and conditioning director during the 1993-94 season. In this capacity, he also serves as the video operations coordinator for the team.

A Denton, N.C., native, the 35-year-old Cook received his Bachelor of Science degree in exercise science from Pfeiffer College in 1987. He received a master's degree from the University of North Carolina in 1995 in exercise and sports science.

Cook, who is a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist and a Certified Personal Trainer through the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA), is responsible for the design and administration of weight training and conditioning programs for the Tar Heels. In addition, Cook's duties include filming the squad's practices and games and organizing the team's video library.

Cook was born October 26, 1963, in Denton, N.C. From 1987-88, he assisted with the strength and conditioning of varsity athletes at Appalachian State University. Cook is married to the former Lisa Hill of Midway, N.C.

Consistency.

It is perhaps the trait that everyone in athletics most admires, the ability to accomplish something on a regular basis. Anyone can achieve a goal once or even twice, but to do it everyday or every year is the mark of true brilliance.

Sports fans, for example, like to say that "records are made to be broken."

They will also tell you there is one record that will always be safe— Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak.

That may sound confusing, but it's an indication of the incredible awe with which the DiMaggio streak is viewed. To get a base-hit in each of 56 consecutive games is a stunning achievement.

It is a record of unbelievable consistency.

The incredible record of North Carolina Basketball Coach Dean Smith is a similar example of amazing consistency. The overall numbers alone are staggering.

But, the consistent manner with which they were put together is even more remarkable.

In 36 seasons at Carolina, Smith's teams had an alltime record of 879-254. His teams won more games than those of any other college coach in history.

However, that's only the beginning of what his UNC teams achieved.

• Under Smith, the Tar Heels won at least 20 games for 27 straight years and 30 of his final 31. No coach in history has ever produced that many consecutive 20-win seasons. In fact, no other coach has even won 20 games for 27 years.

• A 28-7 finish in his last year also gave Smith an NCAA-record 22nd season with at least 25 wins. Fresno State's Jerry Tarkanian ranks second in 25-win seasons with 14 and former UCLA Coach John Wooden is third with 11.

• From 1981 to 1989, Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' polls each year. That nine-year run is the second-longest streak of Top-10 finishes in history, exceeded only by UCLA's 13-year string from 1967 to 1979.

• In an era of tremendous competitiveness in the college game, the Tar Heels were ranked among the nation's final Top 15 teams 28 of the past 31 seasons, missing only in 1970, 1990 and 1996 and were among the Top 10 on 23 occasions during that period. Kentucky was second on the list with 23 appearances in the Final Top 15. Carolina teams coached by Smith finished the season ranked No. 1 in at least one of the two major polls four times (1982, 1984, 1993 and 1994).

• Smith's teams were also the dominant force in the Atlantic Coast Conference, arguably the nation's strongest overall basketball league. The Tar Heels under Smith had a record of 364-136 in ACC regular-season play, a winning percentage of .728.

• The Tar Heels finished at least third in the ACC regular-season standings for 33 successive seasons. In that span, Carolina finished first 17 times, second 11 times and third five times.

• Those 17 first-place finishes are the most ever by an ACC coach. Frank McGuire ranks second with six regular-season ACC titles.

• In 36 years of ACC competition, Smith's teams finished in the conference's upper division all but one time. That was in 1964 when UNC was fifth and had its only losing record in ACC regular-season play under Smith at 6-8.

Contrast that 36-year record of league success with the fact that since 1977 every other ACC school, with the exception of Florida State which had only been in the league six years, has finished last at least once in the regular-season standings.

Scott Sharpe

Dean Smith was named the 1997 Sports Illustrated Sportsman of the Year. SI Managing Editor Bill Colson (at right) presented the award as Carolina players stood by at halftime of the Carolina-Hampton game on Dec. 16, 1997.

• Carolina's sweep of the 1997 ACC Tournament was its 13th under Smith. Former coaches Vic Bubas of Duke, Everett Case of NC State and Mike Krzyzewski of Duke rank second in ACC Tournament titles with four each.

• When Carolina advanced to the NCAA Final Four in 1997, it marked the 11th trip for one of Smith's teams to the national semi-finals. Only Wooden, with 12, has been there more often.

• Smith's teams made a record 23 consecutive appearances in the NCAA Tournament. Georgetown's John Thompson and Arizone's Lute Olson have the second-longest streaks in history at 15.

• In his last 31 years Smith guided the Tar Heels into the NCAA Tournament 27 times. That's the most in history. Indiana's Bob Knight is second with 23 appearances.

• From 1981 through 1993 Carolina reached the Final 16 of NCAA play every season. That 13-year streak is the second-longest in Tournament history to a 14-year stretch by UCLA from 1967 to 1980.

Those numbers just begin to tell the story of what Dean Smith accomplished in his Carolina career. He has done more for his sport than perhaps any coach in history. Respected by fellow coaches, admired by his current and former players and acknowledged as one of the greatest minds in the game, Smith has accomplished nearly everything imaginable in his sport.

The awards and accolades continue to be given to Smith, even after he stepped down as Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith was named Sportsman of the Year by Sports Illustrated, Honorary Coach of the Year by the United States Olympic Committee, received the Arthur Ashe Award for Courage at the annual ESPY Awards, and was honored with special awards for contributions to basketball by the Atlanta Tipoff Club and New York Athletic Club. In 1999, ESPN ranked Smith one of its seven "Sportscentury Greatest Coaches of the Century."

Smith also became the first recipient of the Mentor Award for Lifetime Achievement, given by the University of North Carolina Committee on Teaching Awards for "a broader range of teaching beyond the classroom."

He's recognized throughout the sports world for his character, his innovations to the game and his ability to have established Carolina's program as one of the greatest in college basketball. Smith's players consistently produce on the floor, in the classroom and in life.

As in any vocation, it's one's peers who truly know the daily rigors of a job best and can most appreciate what it takes to excel in the competitive world of collegiate coaching. The accolades Smith has received over the years are an indication of the respect they have for him.

Those have been common throughout his career, but mushroomed in March 1997 as he surpassed Adolph Rupp as the coach whose teams have won the most games in college history.

Here are a few examples of what some coaches said when that milestone was reached:

Former Winston-Solem State Coach Bighouse Goines: "I can't think of a more deserving coach to break that record than him. He's done so much for the game of basketball— I think it's terrific. He's a credit to the profession. He's not only a role model for the state of North Carolina, he's known throughout the world."

Former UCLA Cooch John Wooden: "It's a tremendous accomplishment to break Coach Rupp's record. More than anything, it shows excellence over a long period of time. But what's more impressive to me about Dean than the record is how good he is as a teacher of basketball. I've always said he's a better teacher of basketball than anyone else. I couldn't begin to teach players the things Dean has taught them. I've admired him because there's more to him than just wins."

Indiana's Bob Knight: "Let me say some things that he won't say. He's going to say an awful lot about teams and that's the way it should be. But let me put it in perspective. His being able to do that and do it at a single institution, do it through all the years without ever having a problem with any kind of recruiting violation or probation, is a very singular accomplishment in college basketball. I think it's a great achievement, indicative of a guy who really knows how to coach and has decided from day one that things are going to be done the absolute right way.

"He's not going to tell you, but just take my word for it. That's a great, great accomplishment for a coach."

Missouri's Norm Stewort: "North Carolina had a great reputation

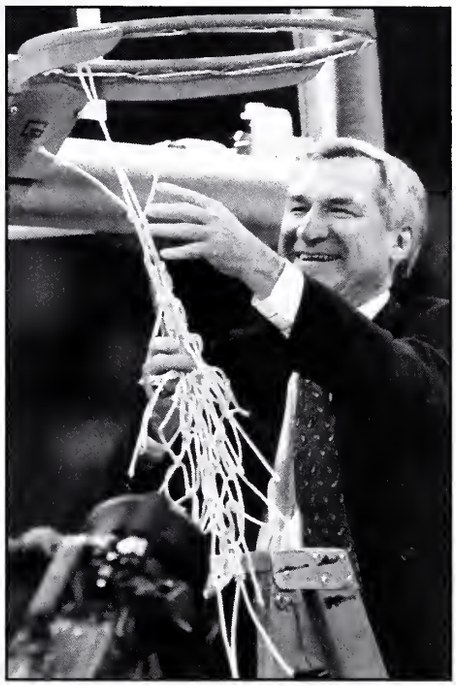
when he took over, but he took that and built on it. In order to stay on top you've got to change, innovate and develop, and he's done that. He was ahead of his time. He was far ahead of everyone else in the use of personnel. We have to change rules because of Dean."

Princeton's Bill Carmody: "Every day in practice we mention his name because things are named after him. Fastbreak, they run this, transition offense, that's North Carolina this or that. When you start having things named after you, you've done something.

"It's an incredible thing. It's like Cy Young's record 511 wins. A 20-game winner for 25 years and you still can't beat the guy."

Duke's Mike Krzyzewski: "It's singularly such a tremendous accomplishment. People might say 'Yeah, you're at North Carolina and you've been there a number of years." You be there a number of years. You be competitive. And you be as consistent with excellence as he has been.

"So whatever is written about him in a positive sense he justly deserves. I know he'll give credit, as we all would, to the players who have played for us, but in this situation the praise for him should rise well above that for the players who played for him."



Kentucky Athletic Director C.M. Newton: "Coach Smith is a master innovator who is the best I've ever seen at dealing with a player individually."

Roy Williams of Kansas: "He has a basketball program, he doesn't have a team. And when you have a program, you're concerned about the kids' entire lives, their entire existence... and what they're going to do after they leave you and what kind of effect you can have on them as they mature.

"I think that's his greatest strength. I've always felt that he's the best there is on the court, but he's even better off the court in what he gives to those people who come in contact with him."

Dave Odom of Wake Forest: "What boggles the mind about him, at least to me, are the numbers of nights he's gone into the arena and been ready to compete on every single possession. I've not done it anywhere close to half as often and there are nights when it seems the season will never end. And yet, he's there, ready to go, always figuring out a way to beat you. Whenever I think about it, I shake my head in wonder."

DePaul's Pat Kennedy: "I think the more you mature in this business, the more you appreciate two things: longevity and excellence. To put both of them together in one package, as Dean has, is incredible. He has created the IBM of college basketball. It's mind-boggling what he has done."

Bobby Cremins of Georgia Tech: "Dean has always been the guy you shoot for. He's always been at the top. It just seemed like his team was the best one every year. His teams were special. He set the standard."

Former Virginia coach and current Athletic Director Terry Holland: "He has been a target for all of us who coached in the ACC to shoot for. It is not always the most pleasant position to be in. The Carolina program was the measuring stick to everybody who came into the league. He has been willing to be the measuring stick. He helped create national exposure not only for North Carolina, but also for the other ACC teams as well and made us all improve our programs."

Former Virginia Coach Jeff Jones: "I think the sheer numbers of wins he has is remarkable. But when you look at the consistent way his teams have achieved this, it's amazing. This is probably the most competitive time in college basketball and he's still going strong.

"That says a lot about him as a recruiter, about him as an organizer and as a coach. We're talking about a team, a total team. When I look at the big picture, the consistency just smacks me in the face."

Consistency.

Coaches certainly recognize its importance and the work it takes to maintain a program at Carolina's level on a year-in, year-out basis. There are more good players than ever in college basketball. Competition is tougher than it has ever been in the past. That's what makes the accomplishments of Smith's teams more incredible.

And it is the teams that Smith says deserve any recognition which has come his way. The players, he points out, are the ones who make the plays, stop the opposition and face the pressure of winning and losing games.

Carolina has certainly had its share of sensational players. But, it was Smith who molded them into great teams by stressing unselfish play on offense and emphasizing hard-nosed defense on the other end of the court.

That's why he received praise for years and not just because of his all-time record.

In the December 1993 issue of College Sports magazine, Smith was hailed by his fellow NCAA Division I coaches as the coaching colleague they respected the most. In a survey of 46 Division I basketball coaches, Smith topped the most respected category and was second in the most feared category behind Indiana's Knight. The latter was based on the question, "Who would you least like to face in a big game?"

The results of a 1986 Dallas Morning News poll of college head coaches also revealed resounding admiration for Smith. In a survey of head coaches at that season's NCAA Final Four, Smith received 49 votes as the nation's top basketball coach.

At the 1995 NCAA Final Four, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer conducted a poll of all attending coaches. The paper asked, "If you could spend one hour talking with one living person about college basketball, who would it be?" The top three answers were UCLA's Wooden, Indiana's Knight and Smith.

Perhaps his greatest form of praise on a worldwide level came when a group of his peers, including Hall of Fame coaches Henry Iba, Pete Newell and Red Auerbach, chose Smith to coach the U.S. Olympic basketball team in the 1976 Montreal Games. The Americans had finished a controversial second to the Soviet Union at Munich in 1972. Smith was given the challenge of trying to develop a team to regain the Gold Medal against a group of improving international teams.

He promptly named his long-time Carolina assistant, Bill Guthridge, and Georgetown's John Thompson, to be his assistants on the Olympic Team staff. Smith's teaching skills were put to one of their toughest tests. In the international game, it's not about building character and preparing young men for life, it's about winning under extreme pressure.

Smith molded a group of college all-stars into a cohesive unit during a few short weeks in that summer of 1976 and led them to the gold medal, sweeping through the Games undefeated and beating Yugoslavia in the championship game. Emphasizing a tough pressure defense and a fast-breaking, attacking style on offense, the Americans returned to the top of the international game.

Four of Smith's Tar Heels — Walter Davis, Phil Ford, Mitch Kupchak and Tommy LaGarde — played on that 1976 U.S. Team. In fact, Smith has had at least one player on eight of the last nine U.S. Olympic teams, dating back to the 1964 games in Tokyo when Larry Brown was named to the squad. In addition to the quartet in 1976, this group has included Charlie Scott in 1968 in Mexico City, Bobby Jones in 1972 in Munich, Al Wood in 1980 (although the U.S. boycotted the Moscow Olympics), Michael Jordan and Sam Perkins in 1984 in Los Angeles, J.R. Reid in 1988 in Seoul and Jordan again in 1992 in Barcelona. In addition, former Tar Heel player Henrik Rodl was the starting point guard on the 1992 German Olympic Team.

Just as Smith used his talents to develop that 1976 all-star team into an Olympic champion, he has prepared a host of players for successful careers in the NBA.

"UNC is a plus-four school," according to Orlando Magic Vice President of Basketball Operations-Player Personnel John Gabriel, "meaning that if I rate a player as the 10th-best player in the NBA Draft, being a Tar Heel automatically jumps him to number six. The plus-four rating is based upon the success of former Tar Heels in the NBA."

The Miami Heat's Pat Riley, who coached former Tar Heel standout James Worthy to three world titles with the Los Angeles Lakers, is another believer in Smith's program.

"We always look for players from North Carolina," said Riley a few years ago. "If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

While statistics can sometimes be misleading, in Smith's case the figures are just too overwhelming to ignore.

During his last 31 seasons, since Smith's Tar Heels won their first ACC title in 1967, Carolina was among the most dominant teams in the history of the game. The Tar Heels had a record of 813-207 in that span, winning 79.7 percent of their games. That's an average record of 26-7 per year.

In 23 of those 31 seasons, Carolina won either the regular-season or tournament title or both. That level of consistency would be an amazing feat for any college basketball program, but it is particularly significant in a league as competitive as the ACC.

Most schools are happy just to win 20 games in a season. At Carolina, it's become a habit. No school in the country won more total games in that 31-year period than Carolina. UCLA was second with 751 victories. The Tar Heels also had the most wins over his last 20 seasons with 539, and over his last 10 years with 268.

Smith's teams earned 27 or more wins in 14 of his last 17 seasons.

Carolina's record under Smith was even more amazing given the fact the Tar Heels not only played in the rugged ACC, but also regularly have faced one of the country's toughest non-conference schedules. Those assignments were even more difficult for, as Holland pointed out, a win over North Carolina is a top priority for every school the Tar Heels play.

Even opposing coaches had admitted there's something special about Smith's Tar Heel program.

When Joe Wolf, a Wisconsin native and recruiting target of Marquette, signed with Carolina a few years ago, Rick Majerus, then the Warrior head coach, said he couldn't argue with that decision.

"Joe made a good choice," said Majerus, now the head coach at Utah. "North Carolina may very well be the best program in the country, and Dean Smith may very well be the best coach of all time."

For Smith and his players, the word "class" applied to the team's exemplary sportsmanship on the court, to its excellent academic performance and to Smith's belief that basketball involves many complexities that must be learned over the course of time — that coaching and playing the game is a classroom situation in its own right. The Tar Heels' astounding consistency on the court was due in large part to Smith's efforts to teach his players the fundamentals and the intricacies of the sport.

That dedication, along with a graduation rate among his lettermen of 97.3 percent, have been instrumental in Carolina's success.

"I think he is the number one guy in America," said Bill Frieder, the former Michigan coach whose Wolverines were beaten in the 1987 NCAA Tournament second round by Smith's Tar Heels. "He's always there. It isn't like Louisville or Villanova, where they win it all one year and they're way down the next. Even Indiana finished way down in our league a couple of years ago. But with Dean and Carolina, year after year, they're there."

■ In 1999, ABC Sports named its "Sportscentury Greatest Coaches of the Century." Dean Smith was selected as one of the seven. The list (in alphabetical order):

Without compromising a commitment to academic excellence, Smith's teams have won championships at every level. There were NCAA titles in 1982 and 1993 and a sweep of the National Invitation Tournament in 1971. His gold medal-winning team at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games makes Smith one of only three men in history to coach teams to that troika of an NCAA title, NIT championship and Olympic victory. The others are Pete Newell of California and Indiana's Knight.

Smith's coaching skills and dedication to playing with class are the reasons he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1981.

Former Marquette Coach Al McGuire once said of him: "If anyone was born to be a coach, it's Dean Smith. He's the Jack Armstrong-type person."

A key to Smith's success has been his ability to change Carolina's style to fit his personnel. He favored an offense which used the fast break whenever possible and featured a quick passing attack. But, he was also comfortable in a more disciplined style of play.

He liked to play multiple defenses to confuse opponents. However, his preference was a pressure, man-to-man to speed up the action.

Smith had tremendous rapport with his players and that was an important aspect of what he has accomplished. He had an uncanny talent for getting the best out of all his players, from his many All-Americas to the last guys on the bench.

The fast-breaking attack, great teamwork in a set offense and steals produced by the defense resulted in a number of easy baskets. Along with good shot selection, those things have helped Carolina annually rank among the best shooting teams in the nation. Only four times since 1970 did Carolina failed to hit 50 percent from the field as a team. Even in those four seasons, Carolina topped the ACC in field goal shooting each year — 49.8 percent in 1990, 49.9 percent in 1994 (and fifth nationally) 49.2 percent in 1996 and 47.9 percent in 1997. Those figures all came after the three-point field goal was added to the rules.

Among Smith's many innovations are the run-and-jump defense, the scramble defense out of man-to-man pressure defense, the point zone, team huddles at the foul line, double-teamming the screen-and-roll, the free-lance passing game and multiple screens against zone defenses.

"Dean is one of the most organized and brilliant minds that I've ever met in basketball," says Georgetown's John Thompson. "He shared ideas and thoughts and philosophies with me that people just don't share with people, and I will always be grateful and respect him for that. He did me a tremendous favor. One of the greatest gifts you can share with somebody is the knowledge that you have."

Smith's amazing knack for being such a good instructor developed early. Born February 28, 1931, in Emporia, Kan., Dean Edwards Smith grew up as the son of public school teachers. He graduated from Topeka High School in 1949 and went to the University of Kansas on an academic scholarship. He played varsity basketball and baseball and freshman football for the Jayhawks. He was a member of Jayhawk basketball teams that won the NCAA championship in 1952 and finished second in 1953.

After graduating from Kansas, Smith served as an assistant coach at his alma mater to Phog Allen and Dick Harp and then served in the U.S. Air Force as a lieutenant. While in the service, he played and coached basketball in Germany. Smith served for three years as an assistant basketball coach under Bob Spear, recognized by his peers as one of the outstanding coaches in the history of the game, and one year each as head baseball and head golf coach at the United States Air Force Academy. In 1958, the late Frank McGuire asked him to join his staff at Carolina as an assistant coach. Smith served as an assistant under McGuire for three years before McGuire resigned to become head coach of the NBA's Philadelphia Warriors in the summer of 1961. At that time, Carolina Chancellor William Aycock tapped the 30-year-old Smith to become UNC's head coach.

Since Smith taught the fundamentals and complexities of basketball so well, former Tar Heel players, assistant coaches and managers have moved on to enjoy very successful careers in all fields of endeavor.

Smith shared his knowledge of the game with a talented group of assistants. Former Tar Heel player and assistant coach Larry Brown led Kansas to the 1988 NCAA championship, UCLA to the 1980 NCAA championship game and has rejuvenated the fortunes of many NBA teams, his most current assignment being the Philadelphia 76ers. When Brown left Kansas in 1988 to coach the San Antonio Spurs, the Jayhawks plucked its new coach from the ranks of Smith's staff, choosing Roy Williams, a 10-year assistant.

In only his third year Williams led the Kansas to the NCAA championship game. Williams' Jayhawks returned to the Final Four again in 1993, losing to Smith's Tar Heels in the semifinals.

Two of Smith's former assistants, John Lotz and Kenny Rosemond, left Carolina to take head coaching jobs at Florida and Georgia, respectively, and each was named the Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year. Lotz currently serves as an assistant athletic director at Carolina.

Eddie Fogler, like Brown both a player and an assistant coach under Smith at UNC, left Carolina in 1986 after 15 years as an assistant to take over the head coaching job at Wichita State. He quickly rebuilt the Shockers' program to national respectability, taking them to the NCAA Tournament his first two seasons and the NIT the third.

He moved to Vanderbilt for the 1989-90 season, succeeding C.M. Newton as head coach, and in his first season with the Commodores, led them to the NIT championship, after having been picked to finish eighth in the SEC in the preseason. In 1993, Fogler led Vanderbilt to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament and the SEC Championship over NCAA semifinalist Kentucky, and he was named National Coach of the Year by several organizations. He's now the head coach at South Carolina, where his team was one of the nation's biggest surprises in 1996-97, sweeping both its games with Kentucky.

Guthridge, Smith's assistant at Carolina for 30 seasons, received numerous head coaching offers during his stint at UNC. Guthridge, however, made a career decision to stay in Chapel Hill and not pursue head coaching positions. He was named Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997. Guthridge posted a 34-4 record in his first year as a head coach and was named National and ACC Coaeh of the Year.

That's not the case with Randy Wiel, who resigned in the spring of 1993 to become the head eoach at the University of North Carolina at Asheville and is now at Middle Tennessee State. Former Tar Heel Buzz Peterson, who played on the 1982 national championship team, is Appalachian State's head coach. Jeff Lebo is now the head eoaeh at Tennessee Tech and Matt Doherty is Notre Dame's head eoaeh.

2. Mike Krzyzewski, Duke	48
3. John Wooden, UCLA	47
4. Denny Crum, Louisville	43
5. Bob Knight, Indiana	42

Smith's talents do not lie solely in tutoring quality eollege eoaches as is evidenced by the number of outstanding players who have gone on to professional careers after their days in Chapel Hill. In Smith's 36-year tenure, over 50 of his players went on to play pro basketball in the National Basketball Association or American Basketball Association and many more played in other professional leagues both in the United States and overseas.

In the 1993 NBA playoffs, North Carolina had a former player on at least one team in all eight first round matehups, a rather astonishing feat. The list included Michael Jordan and Scott Williams of the three-time world champion Chieago Bulls, Brad Daugherty of the Cleveland Cavaliers, the New York Knicks' Hubert Davis, Boston Celtie Rick Fox, Kenny Smith of the Houston Rockets, Joe Wolf of the Portland Trailblazers, San Antonio Spur J.R. Reid, Sam Perkins of the Seattle Sonics and Los Angeles Laker James Worthy. In addition, former Tar Heel George Karl eoaehed the Sonics to the Western Conferenee finals that year.

In 1994, former Carolina backcourt players Kenny Smith and Hubert Davis went head-to-head in the NBA finals with Smith's Houston Rockets prevailing over Davis' New York Knicks four games to three. As the Rockets repeated as world champions in 1995, Kenny Smith was joined by former Tar Heel Pete Chilcutt as keys to Houston's success.

In 1996, Jordan onee again led the Bulls to the NBA Championship, capturing regular-season MVP honors along the way. In the NBA finals, Jordan and the Bulls defeated Karl's Sonics team which included Perkins.

After playing in Smith's program at Carolina, most Tar Heels have made a smooth transition to the rigors of the professional game. Six of Smith's players have won rookie-of-the-year awards in either the NBA or ABA, including Charlie Seott, Robert MeAdoo, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, Jordan and Vinee Carter. Fourteen Tar Heels have been named to the NBA All-Rookie first or seeond teams, ineluding Carter and Antawn Jamison in 1999.

In addition, Jordan, MeAdoo and Billy Cunningham are Smith protégés who have won either NBA or ABA Most Valuable Player honors. And a check of NBA ehampionship teams from the past 25 years or so will find many a player listing Carolina as his alma mater, including the Bulls' Jordan in 1991, 1992, 1993, 1996, 1997 and 1998; Williams of the Bulls in 1991, 1992 and 1993; the Roekets' Smith in 1994 and 1995; and Chileutt, who was also with the Rockets in 1995.

"Coming out of high school I had all the ability in the world, but I didn't know the game," says Jordan, a five-time NBA MVP. "Coaeh taught me the game, when to apply speed, how to use your quiekness, when to use that first step, or how to apply eertain skills in eertain situations. I gained all that knowledge so that when I got to the pros, it was just a matter of applying the information. Dean Smith gave me the knowledge to seore 37 points a game and that's something people don't understand."

Former Chieago Bulls Coach Kevin Loughery, who eoaehed the Bulls when Jordan eame into the league in 1984-85, eredited Smith for the manner in which Jordan handled his rather instant and incredible popularity as a pro player.

"Michael has had the most media hype I've ever seen in professional basketball, and I was around Dr. J for three years," said Loughery. "He has handled it all extremely well. It is a tremendous tribute to the way Dean Smith, who is one of the greatest coaches of all time, handled this guy. You can see his training. We are very fortunate that he has had that coaching background."

Bobby Jones, who was named to the NBA's All-Defensive Team nine times in his career, once gave Smith eredit for the sueeess of his professional eareer in an interview with the New York Times.

"If I had gone to any other school, I would probably not have been in pro basketball," said Jones. "I was a shy and gangly kid, not very well coordinated when I started playing basketball in junior high school. At North Carolina, they gave me the tools to play in the pros, and I don't want to forget it."

In his 36 years at Carolina, Smith eoached players who went on to beeome doctors, lawyers and businessmen. Many of them attribute their success to the skills and lessons they carried over from their time as a player under Smith.

"He was always very supportive and has provided me with invaluable insight for most of the major decisions I've made sinee 1971," says Charles Waddell, Assistant Director of Business Operations for the NFL's Carolina Panthers. "He is one of the best teachers I've had. He taught us to work hard, to saerifiee for the good of the team, to maximize your strengths and minimize your weaknesses. Although he taught us these lessons through basketball, they have provided me with a strong foundation for life."

Here are more examples of what some of his former players have said about him in the past:

Indiana Pacers' President Donnie Walsh: "He was great. I eould really relate to him. Basketballwise, he hit me with things defensively I had never heard before. I thought, 'No one has ever told me to do this, but it works.' When basketball was over, he eared about how you were fitting in socially and academically. And it wasn't just lip service. I just thought that he sincerely cared about me.

"I'm in a situation now where I ean really appreciate what he does. I know how basketball is looked upon down there. I know it means a lot. I know how losing affects some of the people who live down there. He never lets winning become everything for his players. He insulated them from all that pressure."

Milwaukee Bucks Head Coach George Karl: "I don't think any of the lettermen can really express the family atmosphere that he's built, the tradition that he's built of loyalty and camaraderie. It's a fraternity that's very much admired by basketball people in the world. We get a lot of abuse because of our loyalty to one another, but we love being a part of it.

"The meaning of tradition doesn't exist in sports anymore. It's fading, from the Yankees to the Steelers to the Dodgers. The great tradition in pro basketball is fading because of free agency and college basketball because of guys leaving to go pro. North Carolina still remains very, very special. The loyalty is unprecedented. The man behind it all is Coach Smith."

Michael Jordan: "The camaraderie that he has with his players goes a long way. He's taught a lot of us similar traits and we've accepted that and we've moved on as players and people. That's something we treasure more so than maybe our basketball experience— the things that we learned away from the game.

"He's like a second father to me. When I first left school I was unsure, nervous, scared, going into a situation I wasn't really comfortable with and I didn't know if I was ready for it. He calmed me down with a fatherly attitude, taking me under his wing and teaching me a lot of things about being an adult.

Phil Ford: "My first impression of Coach Smith was honesty. He didn't promise me playing time. In fact, he told me I might have to play on the junior varsity my first year. That kind of set me back. But my mom really liked that because she said 'Phil, if he's not out here promising you that you will start, that means you go there and work hard and do the best that you can do, then he won't be out promising your job to another high school player.' And if you think about it, that made a lot of sense."

Philadelphia 76er Coach Larry Brown: "Nobody's done it better over a longer period of time than he has. He has won in the '60's, '70's, '80's and '90's and if you look at his teams, they've always been innovative, he hasn't been lost or left behind. He's always stayed ahead. He's kept young, he's learned to deal with all kinds of athletes and the changes we've all faced."

Smith ranks as the winningest coach in the history of the NCAA Tournament with 65 victories. And in 36 ACC Tournaments, he had a coaching record of 58-23, a winning percentage of .716.

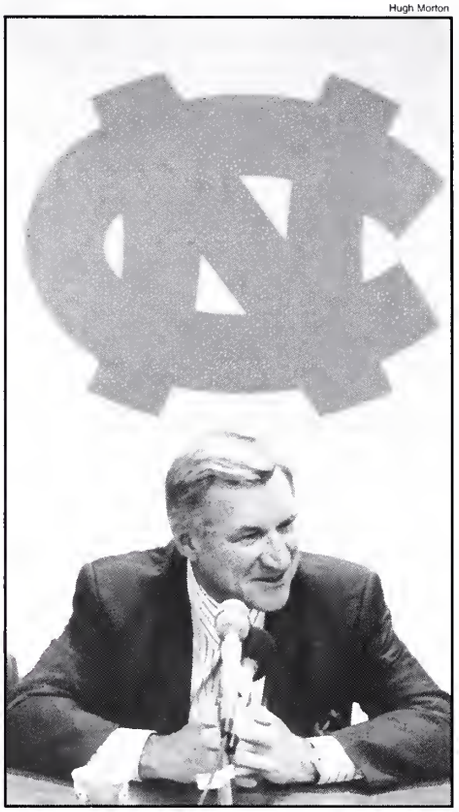
A few years ago at the NCAA Southeast Regional in Lexington, Ky., Eddie Sutton of Oklahoma State was in awe of Carolina's 12th straight appearance in the Final 16.

"It's an unbelievable record, because things aren't like they used to be. They're tougher," said Sutton. "Their program allows them to do well during the year, but you get into the tournament and everybody's good and you have to win or it's time to pack your bags—it's just amazing."

Smith, who played for the legendary Phog Allen at Kansas in the early 1950s, is also one of only two men to both play on and coach an NCAA championship team. Smith was a member of the Jayhawk squad that won college basketball's top prize in 1952. He then coached the Tar Heels to national titles in 1982 and 1993. Knight is the other person to accomplish the feat. Indiana's Knight played on Ohio State's 1960 championship team and then coached Indiana to three titles.

Certainly, one of the highlights of Smith's coaching career came in the form of Carolina's NCAA championship in 1982. The Tar Heels began that year ranked No. 1 in both polls, ended the regular season the same way and won the NCAA Tournament by beating Georgetown, 63-62, in the title game. Carolina's wire-to-wire first-place finish is one of the few times in college basketball history that has been accomplished. The championship game with Georgetown still is considered one of the best-played and most exciting title contests in 58 years of the post-season classic.

Hugh Morton



The 1993 NCAA championship was also won in New Orleans, where ironically the Tar Heels had won the 1982 title. Again going down to the wire just as the 1982 game did, this championship was not decided until Carolina's Pat Sullivan and Donald Williams sank several crucial free throws in the closing moments to ensure a win over Michigan.

Carolina was invited to the postseason in each of Smith's last 31 years as head coach. In 27 of those seasons, including the last 23 in succession, Carolina was invited to play in the NCAA Tournament. In 1970, 1971, 1973 and 1974, Carolina was invited to play in the NIT, winning the championship in 1971 and finishing third in 1973. But those appearances came before the NCAA opened its tournament in 1975 to admit more than one member from any conference.

Smith is a great goodwill ambassador for the University and the sport of basketball worldwide. He is called upon to give lectures at basketball clinics all over the globe. Smith is a past president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches and was the only basketball coach among a group of college presidents and administrators who served on the NCAA Select Committee, which is credited with many legislative improvements in college athletics, in the early 1980s. The committee was called upon by the NCAA membership to study many of the problems facing intercollegiate athletics in the modern era.

Smith is also the author of Basketball: Multiple Offenses and Defenses, which has been translated into several foreign languages and is the best-selling technical basketball book in history. His autobiography, A Coach's Life, hit bookstores in November 1999.

Smith's ability to teach the fundamentals of life and basketball to his players has earned him many honors. He won the prestigious Golden Plate Award from the American Academy of Achievement, which honors people from all fields. The list of other coaches to win the award include Wooden, the late Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, the late Bear Bryant of Alabama, Joe Paterno of Penn State and Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

After taking Carolina to the NCAA championship game in 1977, Smith was named National Coach of the Year by the NABC. He received similar honors from the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and Basketball Weekly in 1979 and from Medalist in 1982. He was named the Naismith National Coach of the Year in 1993 after leading the Tar Heels to the national crown.

In 1993, the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association named Smith the ACC Coach of the Year, an honor he received on seven other occasions as well—1967, 1968, 1971, 1976, 1977, 1979 and 1988.

Smith has received honorary doctorates from Eastern College in St. Davids, Pa., and Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C. In 1984, he was cited by his alma mater, Kansas, with the Distinguished Service Citation. This honor is the highest KU bestows upon an individual to acknowledge outstanding achievements for the betterment of society.

In addition to basketball, Smith especially enjoys golf, music and reading. He also has a special interest in theology.

Smith's wife, Linnea, is a physician. He has five children. Daughters Mrs. Sandy Combs and Mrs. Sharon Kepley and son Scott are all Carolina graduates, while daughters Kristen Caroline and Kelly Marie are both at Chapel Hill High School. Coach Smith also has five grandchildren. Tim and Sharon Kepley have a son, Drew, and a daughter, Megen; Scott and Kelli Haynor Smith have a daughter, Morgan Kay, and a son, Brian Dean; and Sandy and Steve Combs have a son, Luke.

THE CAROLINA EXPERIENCE

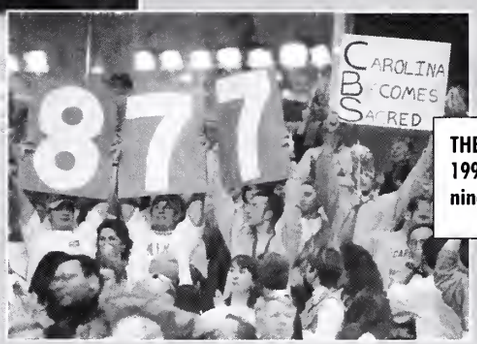
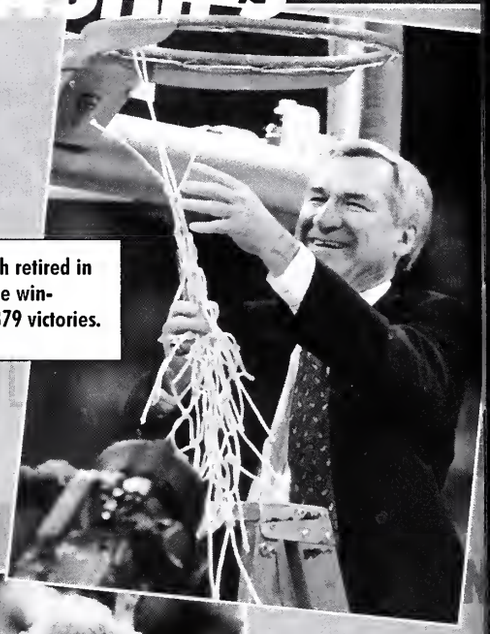
VICTORIES

NORTH CAROLINA is college basketball's second-winningest program of alltime, with 1,733 wins in 89 seasons.



THE GREATEST: Dean Smith retired in 1997 as the NCAA's alltime winningest head coach with 879 victories.



CHAMPIONSHIPS

THE TAR HEELS have won four national championships and appeared in 14 Final Fours.

"I am proud to be a part of the Carolina basketball family. I can't imagine a more nurturing environment or a better program in which to learn the game of basketball than at North Carolina."
— Michael Jordan

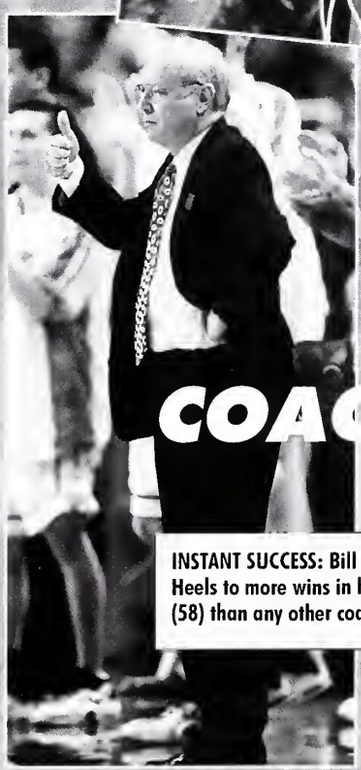
COACHING

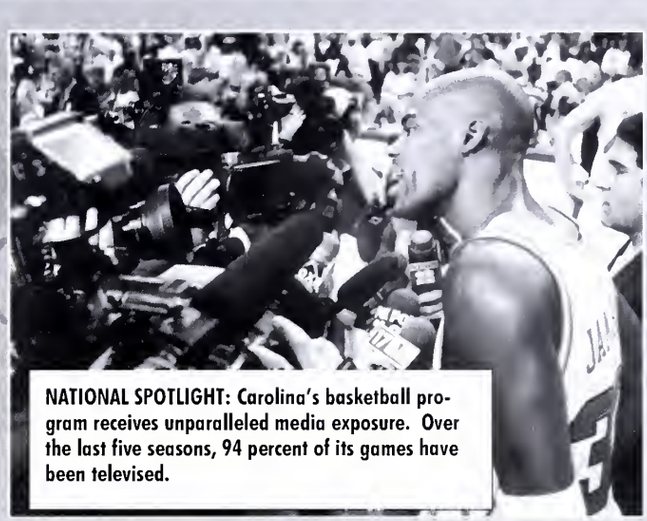


INSTANT SUCCESS: Bill Guthridge led the Tar Heels to more wins in his first two seasons (58) than any other coach in NCAA history.

CONSISTENT EXCELLENCE

GREAT PLAYERS

UNC has had nine National Players of the Year and 37 All-America selections.



NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT: Carolina's basketball program receives unparalleled media exposure. Over the last five seasons, 94 percent of its games have been televised.

STORIED RIVALRIES

CAROLINA VS. DUKE: Either Duke or Carolina has been ranked in the AP poll in 104 consecutive meetings. UNC holds a 121-83 record over the archrival Blue Devils and has won 10 of the last 15 meetings between the two schools.

TRADITION

A July '99 ESPN Chilton Sports Poll showed that more teenagers wear Tar Heel clothing than any other school in America.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

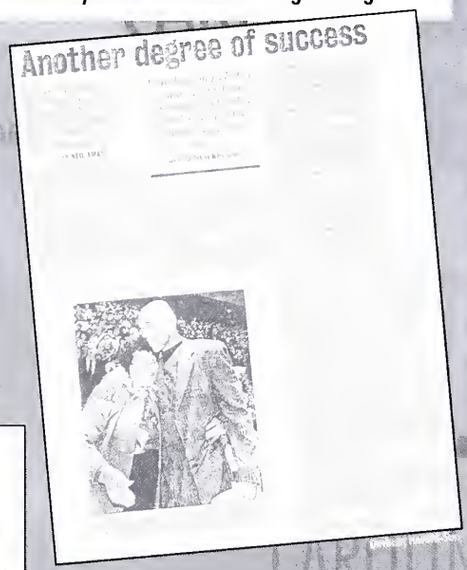
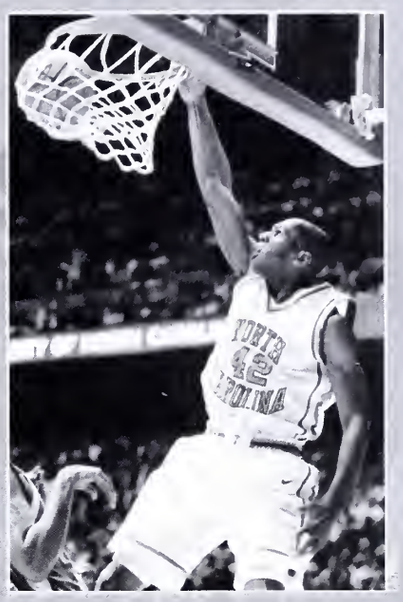
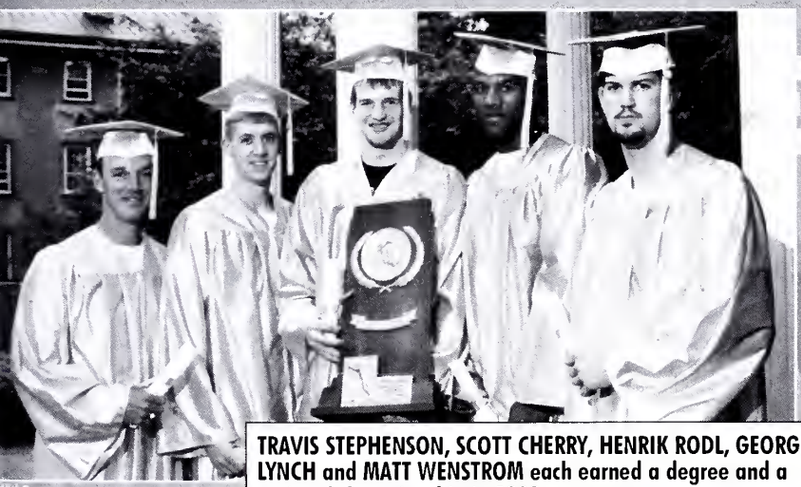
A former student-athlete since May 1995, when he announced his intentions to declare for the NBA Draft after his sophomore season, he is now Jerry Stackhouse, Carolina '99. He completed his degree in African-American Studies by taking classes in summer school and correspondence courses while playing for the Philadelphia 76ers and Detroit Pistons. He finished his academic load by taking eight hours over the summer of 1999.

"I don't think I have ever had a feeling after a big game like I felt after that last sociology exam. I'm more proud of this than anything I have ever accomplished on the basketball court. This is similar to winning a championship. It's rare. I've been playing basketball a long time, so winning a game or having a big game are things I have done before."

— Jerry Stackhouse on earning his degree







TRAVIS STEPHENSON, SCOTT CHERRY, HENRIK RODL, GEORGE LYNCH and MATT WENSTROM each earned a degree and a national championship in 1993.

ANTAWN JAMISON left Carolina for the NBA after his junior year but earned his degree last summer in African Studies and will join former teammate Jerry Stackhouse in graduation ceremonies in December.

■ 1958-59: The L & M boys, York Larese and Doug Moe, had the first of their three consecutive All-America seasons as Carolina went 20-5 and won the ACC regular-season title.

■ 1959-60: Lee Shaffer led the ACC in scoring as Carolina shared the ACC regular-season title with Wake Forest.

■ 1960-61: In Frank McGuire's final season, Carolina won the ACC regular-season title as both Moe and Larese averaged over 20 points per game.

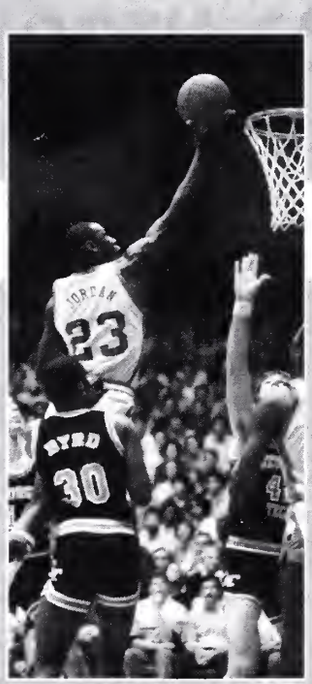
MICHAEL JORDAN '85

Curry Kirkpatrick, Sports Illustrated, April 5, 1982
"Jordan, as ice-bucket cool as a 6'5" freshman could be, had already contributed six baskets and nine rebounds. Now with 18 seconds to go, Jordan caught Black's pass in front of the Carolina bench. He was all alone. It was a play designed for him. He was right where he had imagined he would be on the bus ride over from the hotel, with the ball -- and the game -- in his hands. 'I didn't see it go in,' he said. 'I didn't look at the ball at all. I just prayed.' String music, chair."



"There is so much I can say about North Carolina and my experiences there. I forged many special relationships and life-long friendships, received a quality education, and developed both personally and athletically. Coach Smith and Coach Guthridge are not only brilliant teachers of the game of basketball, but they also taught me a great deal about life."

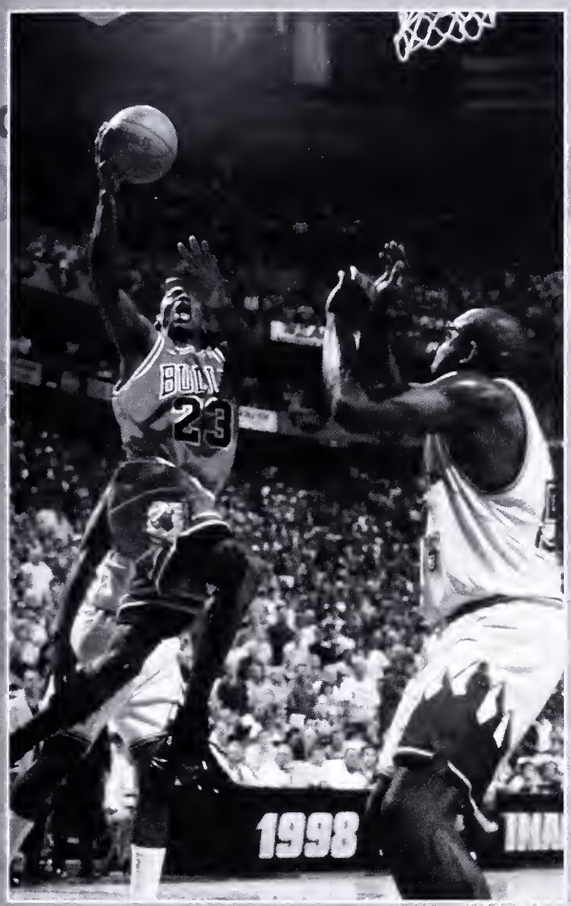
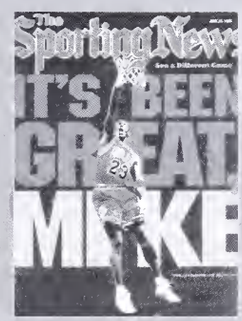
UNC CAROLINA

CAROLINA LEGEND



Michael Jordan announced his retirement from the Chicago Bulls at a January 13, 1999, news conference.



Jack McCallum, Sports Illustrated, January 25, 1999

"Think what a player would have to do to be regarded as Jordan's equal. He would have to construct dramatic bookends on his basketball life by sinking championship-winning shots at the beginning of his college career (as North Carolina's Jordan did as a freshman in 1982) and at the end of his pro career (as the Chicago Bulls' Jordan did to beat the Utah Jazz in Game 6 of the NBA Finals last spring). He would have to leave the game, only to make a triumphant return a year-and-a-half later, as Jordan did when he became the most famous banjo hitter in '94 and basketball's best player once again in '95. He would have to win a championship trifecta with ane style of play (take-it-to-the-haap acrabatics) and then three more titles with a different style (controlled fadeaway jump shoating)—the basketball equivalent of writing a comedy as good as Twelfth Night and a tragedy as gaad as Hamlet. He would have ta possess the crassaver appeal to sell sneakers to youngsters in the ghetto and cologne to oldsters in the boardroom. He would have to put his imprint not only on the game but also on the culture, as Jordan did with his shaved pate and his close, personal relationships with Spike Lee and Bugs Bunny. He would have to become a worldwide icon, more well-known in places than even the game he played. And he would have to accomplish all that, as veteran NBA writer Terry Pluto of the Akron Beacon Journal observed last week, without acting like a jerk."

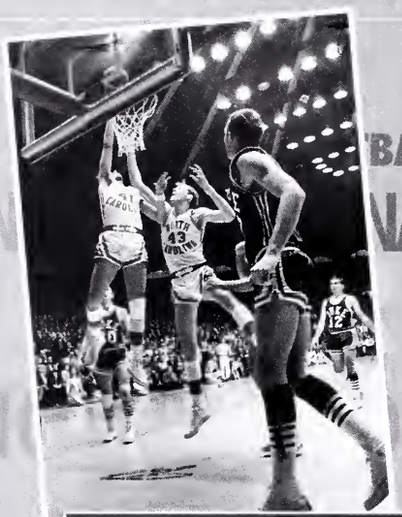
GREAT PLAYERS: '60s-'70s

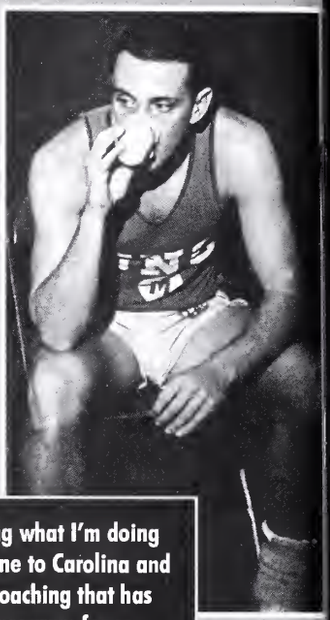


"Playing at Carolina has certainly had a major impact on my life. You develop tremendous relationships while you're here, and you learn a great deal about life – how to relate to people, how to learn, how to win and how to lose. This program continues to be a major part of my life as an extended family."

— Franklin "Rusty" Clark '69

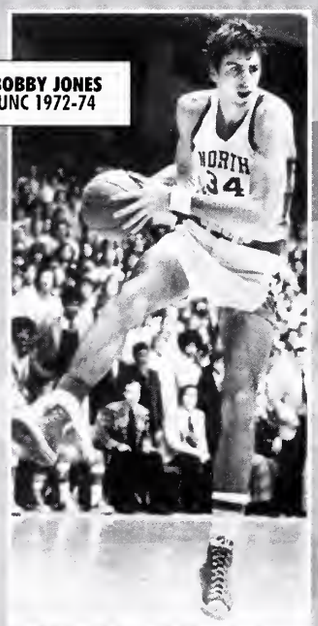
"Playing for Carolina and Dean Smith was a dream come true for me. I feel like I played in the greatest program in college basketball."

— Walter Davis '77

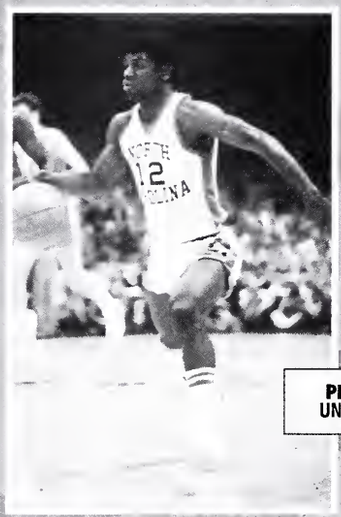


"I wouldn't be doing what I'm doing today if I hadn't gone to Carolina and gotten the quality coaching that has been a part of this program for so long. Carolina is the best in every area – great academics, a great environment and the finest basketball program there is. To look around and see all the guys that have gone to Carolina and to see how they feel about, it's not like that anywhere else."

— Larry Brown '63, Head Coach, Philadelphia 76ers



BOBBY JONES
UNC 1972-74



PHIL FORD
UNC 1975-78

"I look back on it now, and say I'm just so pleased to have been a part of that program. And, now Coach Guthridge is continuing on the tradition. I played with Phil Ford and Dave Hanners, so the program is still very much a part of me. The Carolina basketball family extends to the guys I played with, to the guys who played before and after me, to the Carolina guys in the NBA, whether they're in management or coaching, and to the current players themselves."

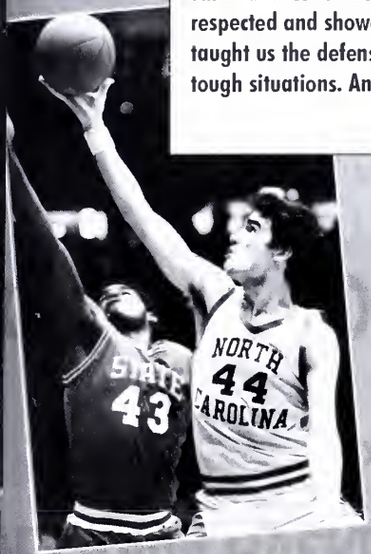
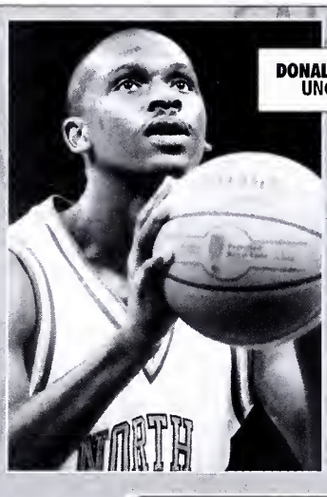
GREAT PLAYERS: '80s-'90s

"I apply the mental notes I took at Carolina every day as head coach at Notre Dame. Coach Smith and Coach Guthridge taught us how to run an organization from top to bottom. They respected and showed loyalty to their players, worked hard to find roles for each of us, taught us the defensive and offensive principles and displayed remarkable poise during tough situations. And then, they taught us even more about life."

— Matt Doherty '84, Head Coach, University of Notre Dame

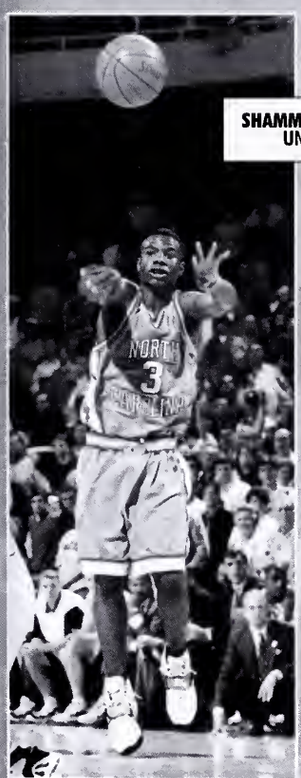




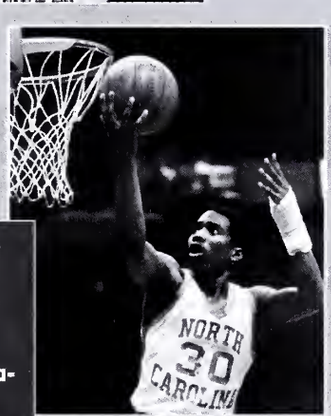
DONALD WILLIAMS
UNC 1992-95

"I'm just so fortunate to be affiliated with such a classy university, and to be able to deal with the coaches and players that have gone through the basketball program. It's almost like it's its own world to itself. The guys in the NBA have so much respect for the Carolina players because of the professional atmosphere and solid reputation that this program has."

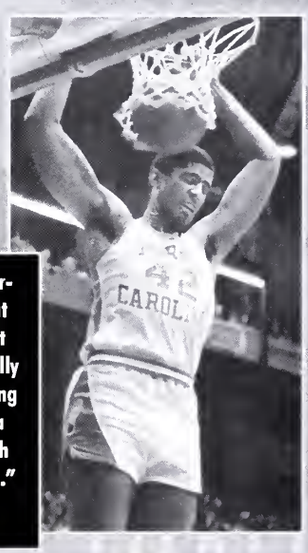
— Eric Montross '94, Detroit Pistons



SHAMMOND WILLIAMS
UNC 1995-98



"A lot of schools that were recruiting me had great basketball programs, a lot of schools had great academics and other schools had a great social atmosphere. Carolina has it all, the complete picture."
— Kenny Smith '87, studio analyst, NBA on TNT



"The Caralina experience far me was the most important faur years af my life. I came ta the University at only 16 years of age, and ta be in an environment at Carolina where I could graw academically and socially was so important to my pragress as an adult. Laaking back, I'm extremely fortunate ta have been in such a nurturing environment led by Coach Smith and Coach Guthridge, wha were extremely positive role models."

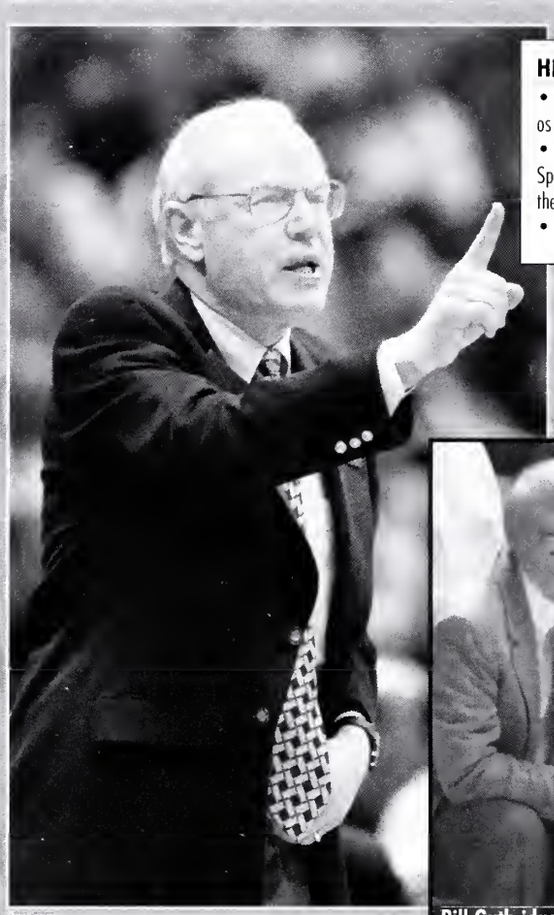
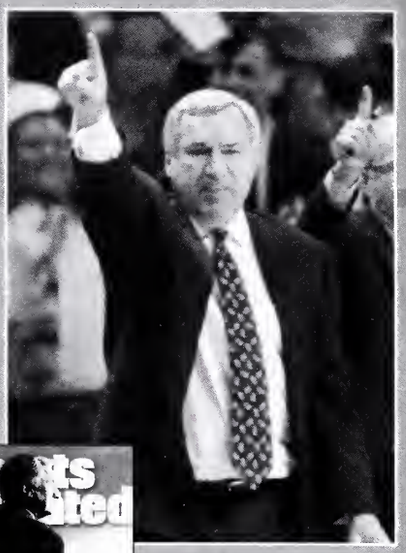
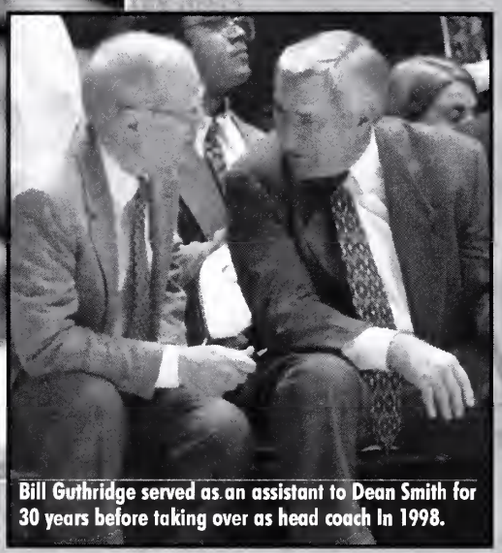
COACHING LEGACY



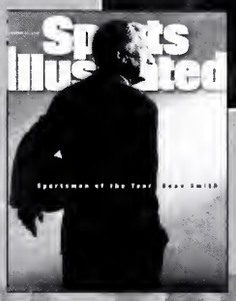
HEAD COACH BILL GUTHRIDGE

- Has led Carolina to a 58-14 record in two seasons as UNC's head coach
- Was named National Coach of the Year by The Sporting News, CBS/Chevrolet, NABC, Naismith and the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club in 1998
- 1998 ACC Coach of the Year





Bill Guthridge served as an assistant to Dean Smith for 30 years before taking over as head coach in 1998.



College basketball's all-time winningest coach, Dean Smith helped lead the Tar Heels to two national titles and 13 ACC Tournament championships. In December of 1997, Smith was named Sports Illustrated's Sportsman of the Year.

■ 1986-87: Carolina went undefeated in the ACC regular season for the second time in four years and finished 32-4 overall. Kenny Smith ended his career as UNC's career assist leader. Smith was named National Player of the Year as Carolina finished No. 2 in the AP poll.

■ 1987-88: Ronzino Smith was the only senior on a team that went 27-7 and won the ACC regular-season championship.

■ 1988-89: Carolina won its first ACC championship since 1982 with a hard-fought, 77-74 win over Duke. J.R. Reid was the ACC Tournament MVP.

■ 1989-90: Rick Fox hit a leaning bank shot as time expired to upset No. 1 Oklahoma, 79-77, and advance to the NCAA Sweet 16.

MILWAUKEE BUCKS HEAD COACH GEORGE KARL

"The older I get the more I realize that the best four years of my life were spent right here in Chapel Hill. Not only learning about basketball but learning about life. I love the University of North Carolina. I am more proud of this place because of its academic reputation than even its basketball program. There isn't anything I wouldn't do for Coach Smith or Coach Guthridge because of what they meant to me and other players. Coach Guthridge has picked up right where Coach Smith left off. There is a fluidity to the program because of the way Coach has handled the transition. I always appreciated Coach Guthridge's low-key demeanor and sense of humor. His style of recruiting was a big key to not only me but a lot of other Tar Heel players.

"A lot of people in the NBA are jealous of the type family we have here at Carolina. That's too bad. I don't know of another place where the bonds are so strong between players of all ages. It's been more than 25 years since I was a student, but I feel I am now and always will be a Tar Heel and will be welcome here. There's a sense of pride that is very strong."

■ 1990-91: Carolina advanced to the Final Four for the 10th time overall and first time since 1982. The Tar Heels crushed Duke, 96-74, in the ACC Tournament championship game.

■ 1991-92: Senior Hubert Davis averaged 21.4 points per game and Carolina advanced to the Sweet 16 for the 12th straight season. The Tar Heels came from 22 points behind to defeat Wake Forest, 80-78, on a last-second jumper by Brian Reese.

■ 1992-93: Carolina set a school record with 34 wins en route to the national title. Donald Williams was named the MVP of the Final Four after hitting 10 of 14 three-pointers and scoring 50 points in wins over Kansas and Michigan. George Lynch posted double-doubles in the last four games of the season.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DICK BADDOUR

Dick Baddour (UNC '66) was named Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. The athletic landscape in Chapel Hill has changed dramatically in the two years since the Goldsboro, N.C., native became the department's chief executive officer. Through it all, Baddour's easy-going, friendly and visionary style of management combined with his love and passion for all things related to the University have kept the program on a solid foundation.

Baddour's first season was one in which legendary basketball coach Dean Smith retired and head football coach Mack Brown moved on to the University of Texas after 10 successful seasons. Baddour acted swiftly and decisively filling both vacancies, elevating longtime assistants Bill Guthridge and Carl Torbush to the men's basketball and football positions, respectively.

Guthridge, an assistant at UNC for 31 seasons, became the winningest first-year head coach in college basketball history by leading the Tar Heels to 34 wins, an ACC championship and a trip to the NCAA Final Four. Last year, Guthridge won his 50th game faster than any coach in ACC history, led the Tar Heels to the ACC Tournament finals and to the NCAA Tournament.

Torbush has directed UNC to a pair of postseason bowl victories. Last year, he became the first rookie football head coach at UNC to earn a trip to the postseason.

Baddour hired three spring sport head coaches, moves that revitalized those programs and should help to keep the UNC athletic department among the nation's elite. He hired Mike Fox, a former Tar Heel who played in the 1978 College World Series, as baseball coach; John Inman, 1984 NCAA men's golf champion and former PGA Tour golfer, as the men's golf coach; and Roland Thornqvist, former National Indoor Singles Champion, as the women's tennis coach.

In his second season, Baddour established a number of task forces to examine specific functions within the department and guide those administrative units as they prepare for the 21st century. Baddour formed committees to examine recruiting, admissions and academic progress of student-athletes; finances; student-athlete development; and communications.

Baddour continues to direct a vast facilities expansion project that stretches from Kenan Stadium to Finley Golf Course. Last year, the McCaskill Soccer Center and the Francis E. Henry Stadium (field hockey and lacrosse) were dedicated and Finley Golf Course was totally redesigned by noted golf course architect Tom Fazio.

Baddour has overseen the signing of the equipment/apparel contract with Nike and the department's multi-media marketing plan with Vilcom. The agreement with Nike is worth more than $10 million and enhances the athletic department and its coaches as well as provide for $400,000 to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund. He also initiated discussions between the student body, Carolina Athletic Association and Office of Student Affairs to develop a comprehensive and equitable policy on student tickets to allow students to obtain football and basketball admission without having to miss class or camp out in inclement weather.

Baddour, who has served on 12 ACC committees, chaired the ACC Athletic Directors last year, will serve as a member of ACC Committees on Football, Basketball and Television and has chaired the ACC Tennis Committee.

He is in his 33rd year of continuous service to the University. Prior to his current position, he spent 11 years under athletic director John Swofford the athletic department's executive associate director of athletics. He handled many of the day-to-day affairs of the department. That included personnel matters, serving as NCAA and ACC compliance coordinator, supervisor of the grant-in-aid program, administrator of the student-athlete development program and liaison with the academic support programs.

Dan Sears

Dick and Lynda Baddour

After graduating from UNC, Baddour spent one year as a cost accountant for Burlington Industries. He then returned to his alma mater in 1967 as assistant dean of men.

In 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. Coordinating freshman admissions took him into every high school in the state.

In 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

Baddour was then named Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement. He was also in charge of minority recruitment programs.

He became associate athletic director in 1986, was promoted to senior associate director in 1990 and to executive associate in 1995.

A 1962 graduate of Goldsboro High School, Baddour is active in community affairs in Chapel Hill. He is past president of the Public School Foundation, has been co-president of the Ephesus Elementary School PTA and has served on the Chapel Hill-Carrboro School System Effective Schools Committee.

He received the Chapel Hill/Carrboro Public School System award as "Volunteer of the Year" for his service and leadership as president of the Public School Foundation.

In 1998, he was inducted into the Order of the Golden Fleece, one of the most prestigious honor societies on campus.

He has been a member of the Chapel Hill Library Foundation, The Chapel Hill Library Building Committee and the board of directors of The Village Bank, Triangle Bank and Nations Bank. He and his wife, Lynda, are currently honorary chairpersons for the local YMCA's major fundraising campaign.

He is a past president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club and served as vice-president of the Chapel Hill Parks and Recreation Commission. Baddour completed 31 years as a member of the N.C. National Guard and holds the rank of colonel.

Lynda taught kindergarten and first grade for 17 years. They have two sons and a daughter. Allen, 28, graduated from UNC and Carolina law school and practices law in Chapel Hill. David, 26, recently married, is a UNC graduate and Certified Public Accountant. He is in his first year of law school. Jennifer, 25, is a graduate of UNC Greensboro and recently earned her master's from the UNC School of Social Work.

Jennifer is a social worker for Mecklenburg County.

What is the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus and one of the premier athletic foundations in the nation. It is one of the many constituent university foundations working for the benefit of the oldest public university in the country.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation was established to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or purchase of equipment.

How much support does the Educational Foundation actually provide? Since its founding in 1938, the Educational Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, to over 7,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 will be awarded scholarships during the 1999-00 school year at a cost of more than $5 million.

What are the different levels of giving to the Educational Foundation?

Little Ram ($100) — Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $100 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, the location of which is subject to the point system; gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games; participate in football and basketball ticket exchanges; purchase group travel packages; receive the RamPage Newsletter, car window decals and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) — In addition to that above, a Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages when available and receive football and basketball media guides.

Rameses ($375) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of two season football tickets; additional tickets may be purchased, location subject to the point system. Note: This level will increase to $375 effective 1/1/2000.

Big Ram ($750) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of four season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Super Ram ($1,500) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to eight season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program? Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $15,000 and $30,000 life memberships as well as $50,000 and $100,000 endowed scholarships that may be set up through various giving vehicles.

Does the Foundation have chapters at the local level? There are currently 45 local Educational Foundation chapters which meet at least once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an early opportunity to hear about recruiting, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who provides the leadership for the Educational Foundation? The Foundation's outside officers include a Chairman, three Vice-Chairmen, a Secretary, Treasurer, Counsel and Past Chairman. These officers, together with the at-large members and an Investment Committee, comprise the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is the decision-making body of the Educational Foundation and reports its actions to the Board of Directors.

The leadership within the Foundation office is provided by Moyer G. Smith. He is in his 14th year as President. He was appointed to the position in December 1986. There are also four vice-presidents within the office: John D. Cherry, Executive Vice-President; Neal B. Harrell, V.P. for Donor Services; Sue Walsh, V.P. for Endowment; and Dawn D. McPherson, Administrative V.P.

How can one become a contributor to the Educational Foundation? By contacting the Educational Foundation at (919) 945-2000 or www.educationalfoundation.com or by writing P.O. Box 2446, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515.

An Exciting Time To Be Involved!

Since 1938, The Educational Foundation, Inc. has provided support for student-athletes and athletic facilities at UNC Chapel Hill. Dedicated donors have helped elevate our intercollegiate athletics program to an unprecedented level of achievement and respect. As we set course for new, exciting milestones, we invite you to be part of the journey - part of history.

Where Your Support Will Make A Difference:

FIELD HOCKEY & WOMEN'S LACROSSE

Francis E. Henry Stadium

Project Description: This new stadium-office-locker room complex for field hockey and women's lacrosse is the finest of its kind in the nation and will also serve many UNC programs as a Sports Medicine Center.

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S SOCCER

McCaskill Soccer Center

Project Description: Built behind legendary Carmichael Auditorium a long-needed complex for two legendary soccer programs that have not had locker room facilities or meeting space of their own.

MEN'S & WOMEN'S GOLF

The New Finley Golf Course

Project Description: Construction of one of the finest golf courses in the country of which not only the men's and women's teams can take advantage, but students, faculty, staff and Educational Foundation donors as well.

FOOTBALL

Kenan Stadium Expansion and Renovation

Project Description: Increased seating and modernization of one of the nation's most beautiful football venues.

If you have not already done so, we invite you to make a pledge to one or more of these campaigns. The generations of family pride will be matched only by the tangible tribute to the future of Carolina athletics.

Yes, I want to join other loyal Tar Heel supporters and help Carolina's men's and women's athletic programs continue to succeed.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT PROGRAM

The Academic Support Program assists student-athletes in successfully reaching their academic goals. The program supports students in the process of exploring their interests and abilities and in developing a broad academic experience.

"The academic support program for student-athletes at Carolina has a successful history of providing a variety of services to meet the needs of our student-athletes," says Dr. Janice L. Hilliard, Assistant Director of Athletics and Director of the Academic Support Program. "The entire staff is committed to providing the very best counsel, advice and guidance to our young people."

Located primarily in the Pope Academic Support Center, the program opened its doors in 1986. It is equipped with study facilities, a foreign language lab, tutorial rooms, a computer lab, a 128-seat auditorium, counselor's offices, and state-of-the-art video and computer equipment. Students meet with staff to discuss issues related to course selection, major and career exploration, academic progress and academic eligibility.

The computer labs are equipped with new computers and laser printers complete with a variety of software packages, including word processing, spreadsheets, CD-ROM reference materials, tutorials, internet access and e-mail capability.

In the spring 1999 semester, 340 student-athletes had a grade point average of 3.0 or better. That is 47 percent of the student-athlete population. In that same semester, 91 student-athletes made the Dean's List.

"We have an athletic program with our priorities in line with the fundamental academic mission of the University," says Athletic Director Dick Baddour. "Our young people are students first and athletes second and that will always be the case at the University. That is a credit to our coaches, administrators, support staff, but most of all, our student-athletes. Their accomplishments in the classroom are very impressive."

The staff consists of Assistant Athletic Director and Program Director Dr. Janice Hilliard, Associate Directors Burgess McSwain and Mercer, Assistant Directors Susan Berner, Carl Carey and Laurie Yakubec and Administrative Assistant Doug Roberts. They serve approximately 725 student-athletes, planning academic and life skill programming designed to help the student-athlete maximize his or her academic and extracurricular activities.

The Academic Support center is open from 8 a.m. to midnight five days a week and from 7:30 p.m. to midnight on Sundays. Visitors are welcome to tour the facility during afternoon hours.

NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL
THE UNIVERSITY

■ THE FIRST STATE UNIVERSITY

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the first state university to open its doors and was the only public university in the nation to award degrees to students in the eighteenth century.

Authorized by the North Carolina Constitution in 1776, the University was chartered in 1789, the year George Washington was inaugurated as president. The charter called for a central location, and New Hope Chapel Hill (now Chapel Hill), where several colonial roads converged, was selected.

The cornerstone for Old East, the first state university building in the United States, was laid October 12, 1793. Just fifteen months later, on January 15, 1795, the University admitted its first student. By March 1 there were forty-one students and two professors, and by 1860 only Yale University had a larger enrollment.

From that beginning, the growth, development, and destinies of the state and its citizenry have been inseparable from the University at Chapel Hill. The University has trained many of the state's leaders, including almost half of its governors, as well as leaders in virtually all walks of life. Among its graduates is United States President James K. Polk.

Carolina scientists and students began the first systematic astronomical observations in the nation between 1827 and 1831, and built the first observatory at a state university in North America in 1832. In the 1820s, University faculty members conducted the nation's first state geological survey. Later in that century, Carolina was one of the few Southern universities to remain open during the Civil War. Reconstruction forced it to close (1871-75) for the only time in its history.

The twentieth century brought periods of growth in student enrollment, programs, and intellectual influence.

Now entering its third century of discovery, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill ranks among the great institutions of higher education in the nation.

■ RECENT NATIONAL RANKINGS

• U.S. News & World Report magazine's "America's Best Colleges" Aug. 1999, issue ranked Carolina fifth among public universities and 27th overall among both public and private national universities. U.S. News rated Carolina sixth overall among national schools offering students the best value for their education dollars.

• Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine's September 1998 issue placed Carolina at the top of the list of the nation's best values at state university campuses. The article, "State Universities to Cheer About," spotlighted the best buys — "schools where students can graduate with a high-caliber education but without a mortgage-size debt."

• The 1999 edition of the Fiske Guide to Colleges ranked Carolina one of the 21 best undergraduate buys among public universities. The annual guide, compiled by Edward B. Fiske, the former education editor for The New York Times, is a universally well-regarded college guide.

• The Sporting News ranked the Tar Heel athletic department second nationally in a cover story detailing a survey of the 112 U.S. colleges participating in Division I football and basketball. Grades were based on standards ranging from on-field success to academic performance.

• Black Enterprise ranked Carolina fifth overall and the top public campus on the magazine's list of best non-historically black colleges. The ranking, the magazine's first ever, was based on a combination of academic and social environments supportive of black students.

■ LOCATION

Carolina sits at the heart of Chapel Hill, an idyllic college town of about 40,000 located in the geographical center of North Carolina. Chapel Hill is at the western point of the Research Triangle, an area of about one million people, comprised of Chapel Hill, the cities of Durham and Raleigh, and the Research Triangle Park, home of many corporate offices and scientific research centers.

Campus is about thirty miles from the state capital, Raleigh, and twenty minutes from Raleigh-Durham International Airport. Chapel Hill's main street, Franklin Street, borders the campus and offers shops and boutiques, restaurants and cafes, movie theaters and houses of worship. Arguably the most vibrant downtown in the state, Franklin Street is filled day and night with people enjoying shopping, dining, and entertainment.The town has historic districts, a museum, a library, parks, malls, and many recreational facilities.

■ ACADEMICS

Carolina's respected faculty teach some of the brightest students in the world. These students benefit from the enthusiasm their professors show for engaging students in learning and from the diligence that faculty apply to their research. Because they spend time in research, faculty here not only bring new knowledge to the classroom, but they also encourage independent thinking by students. Students can assist in research, and often carry out independent projects under faculty supervison.

The most comprehensive institution in North Carolina, the University's 13 colleges and schools provide instruction in more than 100 fields, leading to 84 bachelor's, 165 master's, and 106 doctoral degrees, as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy, and law.

■ EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL RESOURCES

Carolina's educational and cultural influence extends throughout the state of North Carolina and beyond.

Researchers and people from all walks of life use the University's 4.93-million-volume library system, which is ranked among the top research libraries in the United States and Canada by the Association of Research Libraries. The system includes the main Davis Library, Wilson Library, House Undergraduate Library, the Health Sciences Library, and the Law Library, plus 10 departmental libraries. The extensive North Carolina, Manuscripts, and Rare Book collections are in Wilson Library. Visitors are welcome at any UNC library.

The University's public radio station, WUNC-FM, is heard by more than 197,000 listeners each week at 91.5 on the FM band.

The Morehead Planetarium, dedicated in 1949 as the first major planetarium on a university campus, was one of the training sites for America's early astronauts. From 1959 to 1975, astronauts from the Mercury, Gemini, Apollo, Skylab, Apollo-Soyuz, and some early Space Shuttle missions came to Chapel Hill for training in celestial navigation. Each year about 123,000 people visit the planetarium, including more than 70,000 school children.

The North Carolina Literary Festival, a biennial event begun in 1998, brings authors from across the state and nation to the Chapel Hill campus. The first festival featured performances by more than 100 authors, including bestseller John Grisham, and Pulitzer Prize winners Rita Dove and Annie Dillard.

Art, drama, and music abound on campus. More than 38,000 visitors annually enjoy the Ackland Art Museum's 14,000 works of art. The PlayMakers Repertory Company, the only nonprofit, professional, full-season theater company in North Carolina, draws up to 70,000 patrons annually to the Paul Green Theatre. The Carolina Union Performing Arts Series also brings top national dancers, dance troupes, dramatic productions, and other performances to Chapel Hill. For music lovers, the Department of Music in Hill Hall offers more than 60 concerts a year.

■ RESEARCH

Carolina's research extends the boundaries of knowledge in the arts, humanities, and sciences. Among the nation's most comprehensive institutions, the University belongs to a select group of sixty-two research campuses forming the Association of American Universities. In 1998, the University received more than $304.9 million in research funding from federal and other sources, up five percent from 1997.

Internationally recognized, cutting-edge research is conducted across the campus. Carolina chemists have developed an improved method of synthesizing promising antiviral drugs for people with AIDS, hepatitis B, and other illnesses. AIDS researchers at Carolina have studied a new combination of three drugs that promises to be the best treatment yet to significantly reduce the number of AIDS-related illnesses in infected people.

In the battle against cancer, UNC researchers discovered a key cancer control mechanism that is believed to be one of the most potent natural ways of fighting tumor development. Scientists hope the mechanism might be manipulated to treat cancer better or to detect it earlier.

Other researchers in medicine are studying promising new molecular strategies for treating congestive heart failure.

Chemistry research by faculty and students has led to an environmentally friendly dry cleaning method, and may produce a way to manufacture Teflon more cheaply and with less waste.

■ PUBLIC SERVICE

The University's public service activities reach more than 400,000 people annually. Carolina's service programs extend to every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect public health, improve their schools, deliver better medical services, stimulate business, plan for new growth, understand their heritage, and enrich the quality of life.

One of Carolina's most visionary student outreach programs is a.p.p.l.e.s. (Assisting People to Plan Learning Experiences in Service). Participants volunteer in the community or to take part in summer internships in nonprofit or government agencies as part of their course work, then write about or discuss with faculty the findings from their experiences.

The North Carolina Area Health Education Centers (AHEC) Program helps meet the primary health care needs of the state by training and supplying health care professionals in local communities.

School teachers across North Carolina benefit from the Learners' and Educators' Assistance and Resource Network of North Carolina (LEARN NC), a Website offered free through the School of Education to the state's school systems. Dozens of UNC faculty members share their expertise on state commissions, licensing and regulatory boards, task forces, and committees to benefit North Carolinians.

✔ Kiplinger's Personal Finanace magazine rates Carolina No. 1 in the U.S. among state universities, calling UNC a "place where high achievers are in good company."

✔ U.S. News & World Report ranked Carolina No. 5 among public universities and No. 27 overall in 1999.

✔ The Princeton Review's 1999 edition of The Best Colleges ranks Chapel Hill as one of the nation's 10 best college towns.

"The thing I have always admired about the University of North Carolina is it's been a place that emphasized both academics and athletics and other extracurricular activites. And it's demonstrated to the country that it is not necessary to make a choice, and that there's something to be said for learning how to compete, to work on a team, to put aside your own personal ambition for what is best for a group, and that an institution like the University of North Carolina can really set a standard for the entire country."

CHANCELLOR WILLIAM McCOY

William O. McCoy, a devoted and loyal alumnus who has been a key volunteer for years, is the interim chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. University of North Carolina President Molly Corbett Broad named him to the post July 9, 1999, after Chancellor Michael Hooker died following a six-month battle with lymphoma.

McCoy previously served as acting chancellor while Hooker was on medical leave in April and May of 1999. A search committee chaired by Board of Trustees member Richard Stevens has begun work expected to take several months to find Hooker's successor.

Meanwhile, McCoy says he will lead the nation's oldest public university as if he had the permanent job. His goal is to keep Carolina squarely on the ambitious course set by Hooker and others over the past four years.

"My role is to be the university's chief executive officer," McCoy says. "The only way I know how to approach this assignment is to work with others as if it were permanent. That will help me be as effective as possible in examining important issues facing the university such as faculty salaries, urgent facility needs, enrollment growth and a continued emphasis on private fund raising.

"What I've learned during my recent time in the chancellor's office is what wonderful people we are so fortunate to have on our campus. Our students are terrific, the faculty is inspiring, the deans are so able and purposeful, and the chancellor's cabinet is exceptional," McCoy says. "We also have a staff that prides itself on making the university the very best that it can be. And we can count on loyal alumni who care so deeply about the university's welfare and future."

Dan Sears

McCoy says that he's always known Chapel Hill was a remarkable place since he first learned of the University growing up in eastern North Carolina's Greene County. Now he knows the significance of Carolina's status as one of the top public campuses in the entire nation.

"It's been a delight to learn firsthand just how committed our campus community is to excellence in all that we do here in teaching, research and public service to North Carolinians and beyond," McCoy says. "I can't say enough about the positive spirit that is so evident and the willingness of people to pull together at this particularly important time in our history. I love this university and am thrilled to be making the contribution that I can in this way. It's a privilege to do so for a place that has such special significance in my own heart."

McCoy retired in January 1999 as vice president for finance of the 16-campus University of North Carolina. He joined UNC General Administration in 1995 after a 35-year career with BellSouth Corporation, where he retired as vice chairman of the board. As the UNC vice president, he was credited with raising the bar of expectations for sound management, productivity and efficiency, and fiscal integrity across the UNC system. His solid credibility with the North Carolina General Assembly also helped secure significant additional funding support and budget flexibility for the university.

The Snow Hill native's strong academic performance in high school earned him a scholarship to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he helped work his way through school in assignments that included shelving books in Wilson Library and serving as a residence hall manager. He also was active in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps. He earned Phi Beta Kappa honors on the way to graduating with a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1955. He later received a master's degree in management from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he was a Sloan Fellow.

After leaving Chapel Hill, McCoy became a United States Marine Corps helicopter pilot for several years, training at Quantico, Va., and Pensacola, Fla., before serving at Camp Lejeune, N.C., and aboard several aircraft carriers traveling to countries including Lebanon, Venezuela and Cuba. Then he began his business career with Southern Bell in Charlotte, N.C. Progressing through a variety of executive positions with Southern Bell, South Central Bell and AT&T, McCoy was named chief financial officer-designate of BellSouth when the regional telecommunications company was being formed in 1982. He was elected vice chairman of BellSouth Corporation in 1983 and president of BellSouth Enterprises Incorporated in 1986.

A staunch Carolina supporter, McCoy has served as chairman of the University's National Development Council and as a member of both the Bicentennial Campaign for the Carolina Steering Committee and the Board of Visitors. He is a member of the Kenan-Flagler Business School's Board of Visitors and, since January 1999, has served as a director of the new University of North Carolina Health Care System.

He is a member of several corporate boards including Carolina Power and Light Company, Kenan Transport Company and Fidelity Investments. He serves on the board of the Research Triangle Foundation and has become inactive as a partner in Franklin Street Partners, a Chapel Hill investment management firm. He spent 15 years on the board of First American Corporation, a bank holding company in Nashville, Tenn.

While living in Atlanta, Ga., McCoy was extensively involved in that city's community affairs. He was chairman of the Southern Center for International Studies and a member of the boards of trustees of the Woodruff Arts Center and Egleston Children's Hospital at Emory University. He served on the boards of directors of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and as a member of the Governor's Commission on Effectiveness and Economy in Government.

McCoy and his wife, Sara, have two adult daughters, Kathleen and Laura, and six grandchildren.

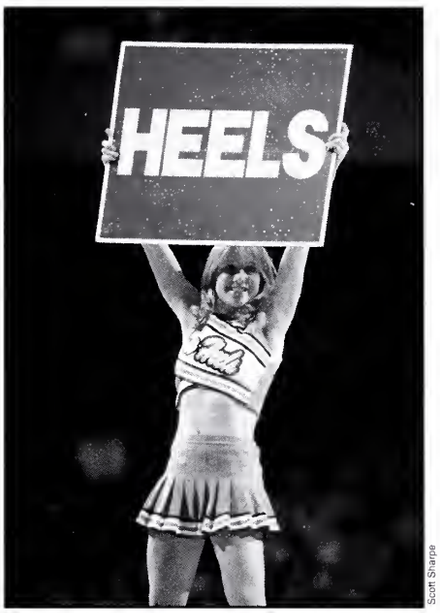
TAR HEEL TRADITIONS

■ WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.



Scott Sharpe

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

■ RAM MASCOT

For nearly 70 years the mascot of North Carolina's basketball and other teams has been a ram. Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant, 9-1 football record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

Tar Heels rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

■ SCHOOL COLORS

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the University, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a University student body.

THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

Dan Sears

One of the nation's finest basketball facilities, the Dean E. Smith Center opened during the 1985-86 season. Carolina has compiled a 157-20 overall record in 14 years of competition in the building, including just two non-conference losses.

In May of 1980, the University of North Carolina Department of Athletics, in conjunction with the Educational Foundation, embarked on a mission of unparalleled proportion in college athletics. Five hundred volunteers, motivated by the slogan, "Pride Will Build It," set out to do the impossible - raise millions of dollars from private donations to erect an arena to showcase the nationally-prominent Tar Heel basketball team.

"Fund-raising experts told us there was no way to raise that kind of money unless one person made a significant gift of more than $5 million," says Ernie Williamson, a consultant for the Educational Foundation. "Well, we did have one $1 million contribution, but nothing exceeding that. We also had five dollar gifts from children who contributed their allowance. Nothing's impossible when there's that kind of love and loyalty for the University and its basketball program."

However, the real inspiration for the fund-raising effort came from the campaign chairman, the late Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles. Always the optimist, Bowles was determined to defy the odds. "Are we going to make our goal? On a scale of 1 to 10, with 10 the most optimistic, I'm a 12!," he once exclaimed.

Six years and 2,362 donors later, the premier basketball arena in America became a reality. Dedicated in September of 1986 as the Dean Edwards Smith Center, the 300,000-square-foot edifice stands on seven and one-half acres on the University's south campus. Over 20,000 cubic yards of rock were removed to make room for the 340-foot-wide, 380-foot-long and 140 foot high building.

The Smith Center has three levels. On the first floor is the varsity hallway, where Carolina basketball players spend numerous hours preparing for competition. This self-contained hallway features fully-equipped training and weight rooms. The basketball dressing area contains a players' lounge complete with computer terminals and study desks for academic support and a wide screen television and stereo system for relaxation. The first floor also features six recreational locker rooms in addition to two locker rooms reserved for the Carolina swimming program.

The highlight of the second floor is the Carolina memorabilia room. The memorabilia room houses artifacts showcasing Carolina's rich athletic tradition. Visitors can enjoy the memories of the Tar Heels' 1924, 1957, 1982 and 1993 national men's basketball championships as well as sports memorabilia from Carolina's other 27 varsity sports. In May of 1994, the memorabilia room underwent its first major renovation since its 1986 opening. The renovation's most noticeable addition was a state-of-the-art communications studio. The studio is the home to The Bill Guthridge Carolina Basketball TV Show, Inside Carolina with Head Coach Carl Torbush and the many sports radio programs broadcast over the Tar Heel Sports Network. Additionally, the room's displays were refurbished in July 1998 with new pictures, copy and memorabilia.

In addition to the memorabilia room, the second floor of the building houses the athletic department's administrative offices, the basketball suite and the sports information office.

The upper most level features a 1,200-foot-long, 22-foot-wide concourse with eight concession stands and a souvenir showcase. All are easily accessible from the 68 aisles which empty into the concourse.

■ MAIN ATTRACTION

The main attraction, and indeed the very reason for the Smith Center's existence, is Carolina basketball. When the lights blaze down on the spring maple floor and the 21,572 Carolina Blue seats are filled with Tar Heel fans, the stage is set for one of college basketball's most successful programs to display the teamwork and tenacious defense that have long been its trademark. In the east end zone, the jerseys belonging to such greats as Lennie Rosenbluth, Phil Ford and Michael Jordan keep a vigil over the hardwood which has been the home to Carolina basketball since January 18, 1986.

The Smith Center's computer-controlled lighting system concentrates more light on the actual playing floor rather than the arena, resembling the lighting effect once experienced by Carolina fans in Carmichael Auditorium. Other technologically-advanced features include two 29-foot-long message centers and four scoreboards. The most recent additions to the Smith Center are four large video screens - one in each corner of the building - each 16 feet by 13 feet. Besides game action, the boards provide replays, stats and information, previews of upcoming games and highlights of past games.

From that Saturday afternoon on which Kenny Smith spotted an open Warren Martin in the lane for the first Carolina basket scored in the Smith Center as the top-ranked Tar Heels defeated third-ranked Duke 95-92 in a battle of college basketball unbeatens, the Smith Center has been the host to many spectacular Carolina contests.

Seven years later, on January 27, 1993, the Smith Center crowd, and a national ESPN viewing audience, witnessed one of the greatest comebacks in NCAA history. The 19th-ranked Seminoles of Florida State were shocking the second-ranked Tar Heels, holding a 45-28 halftime lead. The FSU lead would grow to 21 points with 11:48 remaining in the game. But senior George Lynch's three-pointer with 8:51 remaining sent Carolina on a memorable run. The Lynch goal was followed by successive three-pointers from Donald Williams and Henrik Rodl to cut the Seminole lead to 10. Frenetic pressure defense and a Derrick Phelps layup forced Florida State Coach Pat Kennedy to call a timeout. Coming out of the timeout, Williams scored four consecutive points to slash the lead to four with 6:52 remaining. A steal and dunk by Lynch completed the amazing comeback, putting the Tar Heels up 78-77 in the game's final two minutes. Clutch foul shooting in the waning seconds clinched one of the most remarkable wins in Smith Center history as Carolina prevailed, 82-77.

The Smith Center featured the second-ranked Tar Heels taking on top-ranked Duke on February 3, 1994. It was the first #1 versus #2 matchup in the 74-season, 191-game history of the rivalry. After a nip and tuck first half, which saw the Blue Devils holding a 40-38 lead at halftime, Carolina exploded. Playing some of their best ball of the year, the Heels surged past Duke to take an 11-point lead with 12:35 remaining in the second half. An Eric Montross layup would push the lead to a game-high 15 with almost nine minutes left in the contest. The Blue Devils could get no closer than seven points as quality free-throw shooting and a team high 18 points by Derrick Phelps led Carolina to an 89-78 victory. Following the final buzzer, hundreds of students rushed the Smith Center court to celebrate.

On Feb. 5, 1998, the Tar Heels and Blue Devils met in another matchup featuring the top two ranked programs in the nation. No. 2 Carolina led by a wide margin for much of the game and then overcame a late Duke rally to win, 97-73. National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison had 35 points and 11 rebounds, Ed Cota dished out a dozen assists and the Tar Heels limited No. 1 ranked Duke to 33.3 percent shooting from the field.

■ OTHER ATHLETIC AND ENTERTAINMENT EVENTS

The Smith Center has hosted a wide range of athletic events. In 1987, the arena served as the site for U.S. Olympic Festival basketball competition, which attracted a Smith Center record crowd of 22,713 for the gold medal game, and the gymnastics events, which recorded an attendance figure of 58,646, the largest total attendance ever for that sport at a multi-day event in the United States. In 1988, the venue served as the site of the first and second rounds of the NCAA East Regional. In March of 1994, the Smith Center hosted the NCAA Division I Wrestling Championships, attracting a three-day total of over 60,000 spectators.

In 1999, the Smith Center and Koury Natatorium served as the basketball and aquatic venues for the 1999 Special Olympics World Summer Games.

The Smith Center's internal design allows it the flexibility to host numerous entertainment events. A large grid hangs over the east end zone from which more than 50,000 pounds of sound and lighting equipment can be easily attached. A curtain system allows for the conversion of the arena to various seating configurations to allow smaller events the opportunity to use the building. There are 14 speaker clusters located around the top of the facility which are capable of delivering 300,000 watts of sound.

Some of the most heralded stars in the entertainment business have performed in the Smith Center. Since Kenny Rogers staged the first concert in the arena on April 12, 1986, entertainers ranging in appeal from Bruce Springsteen to John Denver, Janet Jackson to James Taylor, Kiss to Garth Brooks and Eric Clapton to Guns N' Roses have performed to enthusiastic crowds. Performance Magazine named the Smith Center the 1987 "Venue-of-the-Year" and, by a poll of its peers, the Smith Center received the Pollstar Readers Poll Award for the "Best New Major Concert Venue," placing it at the forefront of outstanding facilities in the nation.

A dedicated and tireless maintenance team directed by Clayton Womble is responsible for ensuring that the physical transformation from one event to another is successful. Whether it's for concerts or basketball, theatre or exhibitions, the transformation is a laborious task requiring the use of a 150-foot loading tunnel near the east end zone. Through this tunnel passes the tons of equipment required for the close to 400 events to which the Smith Center has played host.

■ KOURY NATATORIUM

Adjacent to the Smith Center is the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium. One of the finest and fastest swimming facilities in the country, the natatorium features an eight-lane, 50-meter pool with a turbulence control system which minimizes water resistance. The natatorium was the site of aquatic events at U.S. Olympic Festival-'87, hosting swimming, water polo and modern pentathlon competitions. In 1989, U.S. Swimming conducted its Short Course National Championships at Koury, while in 1992 the U.S. Master's Swimming Short Course National Championships were held there. Home to Carolina's highly-successful swimming and diving program, Koury has played host to the Atlantic Coast Conference men's and women's swimming and diving championships in 1987, 1989, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1995, and 1996. The 2000 championships will again be held at Koury Natatorium.

Koury Natatorium underwent construction several years ago, renovating the Educational Foundation offices and adding the Athletic Ticket Office. The offices sit atop the marble-floored room named after the man who made the fund-raising efforts a reality - Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, a Greensboro native who was the Democratic Party's nominee for governor of North Carolina in 1972. Utilized by various University groups, Bowles Hall serves as a reminder of the perseverance and determination of loyal alumni to see the dream of a new basketball facility come to life.

Nearly six million people have attended over 400 events at the Smith Center over the past 14 years, including over 3.9 million Carolina basketball fans alone. They have experienced first hand the nation's premier basketball facility. Most all of them would agree with the adage, "Pride Built It."

■ JAMISON, CARTER JERSEYS AMONG RAFTERS SOON

Antawn Jamison and Vince Carter will have their jerseys honored this season. Jamison, a consensus National Player of the Year in 1997-98, will have his #33 retired.

Hanging from the rafters in the east end zone of the Dean E. Smith Center are 35 Tar Heel jerseys that together serve as a symbolic reminder of Carolina's overwhelming success in its 89 seasons of collegiate basketball competition.

Of the 13 jerseys which were hung in the first two years of the building's existence, the six jerseys in the front row belonged to players who had their numbers retired by the University as national Players of the Year. They are:

Jack Cobb (Class of '26)
20 • George Glamack ('41)
10 • Lennie Rosenbluth ('57)
12 • Phil Ford ('78)
52 • James Worthy ('83)
23 • Michael Jordan ('85)

The original back row included seven jerseys honoring players whose accomplishments were remarkable, including a national Player of the Year and six two-time first-team All-Americas. They are:

Cartwright Carmichael ('24)
32 • Billy Cunningham ('65)
44 • Larry Miller ('68)
33 • Charlie Scott ('70)
31 • Mike O'Koren ('80)
41 • Sam Perkins ('84)
30 • Kenny Smith ('87)

On October 4, 1994, the University's Athletic Council adopted new objective criteria for the hanging of players' jerseys in the Smith Center. Under this criteria, 22 additional jerseys have been hung in the rafters of the Smith Center. The new criteria includes the most valuable player (as voted by his teammates) of a team that wins an NCAA championship, any member of a gold-medal winning Olympic team or one of the top 10 players in the country on a generally recognized All-America team. They are:

35 • Pete Brennan ('58)
11 • Larry Brown ('63)
31 • Bill Chamberlain ('72)
42 • Brad Daugherty ('86)

FOOD LION MVP CLASSIC TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The University of North Carolina enters the 1999 Food Lion MVP Classic hoping to improve on its 16-2 record in nine previous appearances. The Tar Heels' two losses in the tournament came in the 1990 first round at the hands of South Carolina and in 1998 against College of Charleston. For the first time in three years, the winners of the first-round games will face each other in a championship game. The Tar Heels will face College of Charleston on Friday, Dec. 3, and will play either Princeton or UNLV on Saturday, Dec. 4.

NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL
1998-99 SEASON REVIEW

■ SEASON SUMMARY

• North Carolina finished 24-10 and advanced to its NCAA-record 25th consecutive Tournament appearance. The Tar Heels played in the post-season for the 33rd straight year.

• Carolina was 10-6 in Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season play and advanced to the championship game in the ACC Tournament for the third consecutive year and eighth time in nine seasons.

• The Tar Heels finished the season ranked 13th in the Associated Press poll and 18th in the USA Today/ESPN coaches poll. Carolina began the year ranked No. 11 in both polls and was ranked every week in both polls (18 weeks in both polls). Carolina's highest ranking was No. 3 in both polls on November 29th. That followed the Tar Heels' Preseason NIT title.

• Head Coach Bill Guthridge has won 58 games in his first two years at North Carolina. That is more than any two-year head coach in NCAA history. He surpassed NC State's Everett Case (55 wins) with a win over Wake Forest on Feb. 23.

• First-team All-ACC forward Ademola Okulaja became the only player in Tar Heel history with career totals of at least 1,000 points, 800 rebounds, 300 assists and 150 steals. Okulaja concluded his career with 1,254 points, 890 rebounds, 327 assists and 175 steals. In the UNC record book, Okulaja is 34th in scoring, ninth in rebounds, 18th in assists and tied for seventh in steals.

• Point Guard Ed Cota became just the second player in UNC history to dish out at least 200 assists in three different seasons. Cota had 238 assists, the third-best single-season total in school history. He compiled the first- and fourth-best single-season totals his sophomore and freshman seasons, respectively.

■ CAROLINA IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

• Carolina made a record 25th consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance and 33rd overall. Only Kentucky (40) and UCLA (34) have been in the NCAA field more often than UNC. The current streak of 25 consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament began in 1975.

• The Tar Heels are 76-33 in NCAA Tournament games. Kentucky is first alltime in NCAA wins with 84, Carolina is second with 76, UCLA is third with 74, Duke is fourth with 65 and Kansas is fifth with 58.

• The Tar Heels lost to Weber State in the first round of the 1999 NCAA Tournament. That's the first time UNC has lost its first game in the NCAA Tournament in 19 years.

■ TAR HEELS ADVANCE TO ACC TITLE GAME

• Third-seeded North Carolina advanced to the finals of the 1999 ACC Tournament with a 78-49 win over Georgia Tech in the quarterfinals and an 86-79 win vs. Maryland in the semifinals. The Tar Heels lost to Duke, 96-73, in the championship game.

• Shooting guard Max Owens posted the two best performances of his career during the weekend and earned first-team All-Tournament honors along with teammate Ademola Okulaja. Owens, who entered the tournament averaging less than seven points per game, scored a career-high 23 points in the semifinal victory vs. Maryland and 22 in the final vs. Duke. Against Maryland, he was 5 of 9 from the field and 11 of 12 from the free throw line. Against the Blue Devils, Owens was 6 of 15 from the field, 8 of 8 from the charity stripe and had a team-high three steals.

• Carolina's 26th overall championship game appearance was its eighth in the last nine years and 11th in the last 13 seasons. The only times UNC failed to make the finals in the 1990s were in 1990 and 1996 (lost in the quarterfinals both years).

• Carolina held both Georgia Tech (30.0) and Maryland (38.6) to less than 40 percent shooting from the floor. However, Duke connected on 57.1 percent in the final.

Scott Sharpe

Ademolo Okulojo earned first-team All-ACC honors after leading Corolina in scoring, rebounding, three-point field gools ond steols.

■ OVER 300 STRAIGHT GAMES AS RANKED TEAM

• North Carolina's first-round NCAA Tournament game was the Tar Heels' 314th straight game as a ranked team in the Associated Press poll. The ACC record for most consecutive games played as an AP-ranked team is 319 set by UNC between Dec. 5, 1973, and Dec. 20, 1982.

• The last time Carolina was not ranked was during the 1989-90 season. That year, Carolina was ranked in five weekly polls, but fell out of the poll in late January. Since the start of the 1990-91 season, Carolina has been ranked in 161 consecutive polls. That is the nation's longest current streak and the fourth-longest alltime.

• Since Dec. 5, 1973, Carolina has been left out of the weekly AP poll just 15 times. In that time, Carolina has been ranked in 438 of a possible 453 weeks, a percentage of .967.

■ OKULAJA FIRST-TEAM ALL-ACC

• Senior forward Ademola Okulaja was the 60th first-team All-ACC selection from Carolina. UNC's 60 first-team selections are more than any other school in league history. Duke is second with 43.

• Okulaja became the first UNC senior to earn first-team honors since George Lynch in 1993.

• Okulaja's selection to the first team completes a Class of 1999 sweep for the Tar Heels. Okulaja signed to play at UNC along with Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison. They were freshmen in 1995-96. Jamison became the only player in ACC history to make the first team in each of his first three seasons. Carter was a first-team selection in 1998. Okulaja made the first team in 1999. Carter and Jamison left UNC after their junior seasons and played in the NBA in 1998-99.

• Junior point guard Ed Cota was a second-team All-ACC selection for the second straight year. No point guard was named to the All-ACC first team (only four have made first-team All-ACC in the 1990s). He was joined on the second team by fellow point guards William Avery of Duke and Terrell McIntyre of Clemson.

Craig Jonas/Allsport

Ed Cota led the ACC in assists for the third straight year.

■ COTA LED THE LEAGUE AGAIN

• Ed Cota led the Atlantic Coast Conference in assists for the third consecutive season with 7.4 per game. Maryland's Terrell Stokes was second at 6.2 assists per contest.

• Cota joined Georgia Tech's Drew Barry (1994-96), Wake Forest's Tyrone Bogues (1985-87) and Carolina's Phil Ford (1976-78) as the only players to lead the ACC in assists three consecutive years. However, Cota is the first player in ACC history to lead the league in assists in each of his first three seasons.

■ COTA SETS ACC TOURNAMENT ASSIST RECORD

• Ed Cota dished out 29 assists in three games at the 1999 ACC Tournament and is the ACC Tournament career leader with 67 assists. Cota had nine assists in the quarterfinal win vs. Georgia Tech, nine in the semifinal victory vs. Maryland and 11 vs. Duke in the championship game.

■ CAROLINA WINS 10 ACC REGULAR-SEASON GAMES

• Carolina finished third in the ACC regular-season standings with a 10-6 record. The Tar Heels have recorded double-digit ACC wins for an unprecedented seven consecutive seasons. The last time Carolina did not post at least 10 regular-season victories was in 1991-92, when UNC was 9-7 in conference play. Carolina won 10 ACC games six straight seasons from 1956-61. Carolina has won at least 10 ACC games 28 times.

■ 21 WINS EXTENDS NCAA RECORD

• Carolina extended its NCAA record of at least 21 wins to 29 seasons with its victory at Virginia on Feb. 20. The Tar Heels' streak of 29 straight 21-win seasons began with a 26-6 record in 1970-71.

• Carolina and Kentucky have the most 20-win seasons in NCAA history with 44.

■ FIELD GOAL PERCENTAGE DEFENSE

• Carolina was third in the ACC in field goal percentage defense, limiting opponents to just 39.3 percent shooting. In 1997-98, UNC opponents shot just 38.4 percent from the field.

• Since the 1961-62 seasons (37 years), UNC's opponents shot less than 40 percent from the field on just two prior occasions. In 1993-94, UNC held the opposition to 39.5 percent shooting and in 1997-98 opponents shot 38.4 percent.

■ ACC OPPONENTS' THREE-POINT PERCENTAGE

• In Carolina's 10 ACC regular-season wins, opponents shot 25.2 percent (58 of 230) from three-point range. In the Tar Heels' six ACC defeats, opponents combined to hit 40 of 94 from behind the three-point line (42.6 percent).

■ OKULAJA'S BEST SEASON

•Ademola Okulaja led the team in scoring (13.9 ppg), rebounding (8.4 rpg), three-point field goals (59) and steals (46). No other player in Tar Heel history has led the team in those four categories.

• Okulaja never missed a game in his four years as a Tar Heel. He played in 139 consecutive games at UNC. The Tar Heels were 107-32 in those games.

• He scored in double figures in 29 of the 34 games in 1998-99, including 22 of the last 23 games. He had a streak of 15 games in double figures snapped Feb. 17 vs. NC State when he scored nine. The 15-game streak in double figures was the longest streak of his career.

■ ACC ALL-FRESHMAN SELECTION KRIS LANG

• Kris Lang shot 57.8 percent from the field and averaged 10.6 points and 5.4 rebounds per game. He scored in double figures 18 times, including 11 of the last 15 games.

• Lang was selected to the Atlantic Coast Conference's All-Freshman Team. He is the fifth UNC player to make that team since it began in the mid-1990s. Other selections include Rasheed Wallace and Jerry Stackhouse in 1994, Antawn Jamison in 1996 and Ed Cota in 1997.

• College Hoops Insider named Lang to its national All-Freshman Team. He was one of 15 players on the team, including ACC rookies Corey Maggette of Duke and Chris Williams of Virginia.

■ HAYWOOD OVER 60 PERCENT FROM THE FIELD

• Center Brendan Haywood shot 64.8 percent from the field in 1998-99 and shot less than 50 percent from the field in just six games. The 64.8 percent mark equalled the third-highest single-season field goal percentage in UNC history.

• Haywood scored a then-career-high 21 points and pulled down 11 rebounds in Carolina's 54-47 win over Purdue in the NIT semifinal. Haywood made 8 of 10 shots from the field and was five of seven from the free throw line against the Boilermakers. He also blocked two shots, one of which was a critical block at the end of the game that resulted in a shot clock violation by Purdue with 1:19 to play.

• In the NIT final victory over Stanford, Haywood had six blocked shots and seven points. He helped hold Stanford's starting frontcourt to 7 of 27 from the field.

■ COTA'S ASSISTS

• Ed Cota led the ACC with 7.4 assists per game.

• Cota was fourth on the team in scoring (10.5), first in assists (7.4), fifth in rebounding (4.3) and second with 42 three-pointers.

• Cota had 29 assists in Carolina's three 1999 ACC Tournament games, an average of 9.7 per game. He became the ACC Tournament alltime leader with 67 assists, passing Drew Barry's previous best of 61.

• Cota has 746 career assists, eighth-best in ACC history and third in UNC history. Kenny Smith holds the UNC record and is fifth in ACC history with 768. Phil Ford is seventh in ACC history and second at Carolina with 753.

• In 103 career games, Cota is averaging 7.24 assists per game. That is the third-highest average in ACC history behind N.C. State's Chris Corchiani (8.37 from 1988-91) and Duke's Bobby Hurley (7.68 from 1990-93). The previous career assist per game high by a Carolina player was 6.1 by Phil Ford.

• Cota has posted a UNC career record 20 double-figure assist games.

N.C. Collection / UNC-CH Libraries

Dan Sears

Kris Long scored in double figures in 11 of Carolina's final 15 games and garnered ACC All-Freshman Team hanars.

He had double figures in assists six times as a freshman, eight times as a sophomore and six this year. Phil Ford held the previous record of 10 or more assists with 16.

• Matched his career scoring high with 20 points and added 10 assists in the NCAA Tournament loss to Weber State. It was his 10th career double-double and 20th career double-digit assist game.

• Cota averaged 14 points, 7.5 rebounds and 6.5 assists to earn MVP honors and lead North Carolina to the NIT Championship with wins over Purdue and Stanford. Cota scored 11 points and had eight assists to help Carolina overcome a 7-point halftime deficit to Purdue. He then posted his eighth career double-double with 17 points and a career-high 11 rebounds against No. 2 Stanford. It was the first time Cota had ever posted a points-rebounds double-double. He has seven career double-doubles of points and assists.

■ BERSTICKER SPARKS TAR HEELS IN ACC TOURNAMENT

• Brian Bersticker scored a season-high 12 points to spark the Tar Heels to a 78-49 win over Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament quarterfinal. The Virginia Beach, Va., native followed that performance with six points in the win vs. Maryland.

• In the last five games, he scored 36 points. He scored 30 total points in the first 15 regular-season ACC contests.

■ CAPEL LED TEAM IN FREE THROW PERCENTAGE

• Freshman Jason Capel averaged 9.1 points and 4.1 rebounds in 26 games. He missed six games due to mononucleosis, one game to an injured back and one game due to an illness in his family. He also played a limited amount in the final two games of the season due to a back injury.

• Underwent back surgery in mid-March to remove two herniated disks. He was back playing basketball by June.

• Came off the bench to score 11 points in the win vs. Maryland in the ACC Tournament. Was 5 of 6 from the field and 3 of 3 from three-point range. Unfortunately, he came down hard on his back attempting to grab a rebound and did not play the final 14:09 against the Terps. In the championship game against Duke, Capel did not score in limited action. He played just four minutes in the NCAA Tournament against Weber State.

• Led the team in free throw percentage at .854. He converted 76 of 89 attempts. Was second in the ACC in free throw percentage behind Virginia's Donald Hand.

• Scored a season-high 16 points in back-to-back games against Old Dominion and the College of Charleston and was named the MVP of the Food Lion MVP Classic.

■ OWENS SHINES AT ACC TOURNAMENT

• Sophomore guard Max Owens started all three games in the ACC Tournament and posted the two best scoring performances of his career. Owens scored 23 points against Maryland in the semifinal and had 22 against Duke in the final to earn first-team All-ACC Tournament honors. Owens entered the ACC Tournament averaging 6.7 points.

■ CURRY ADDS DEPTH AT THE POINT

• Freshman guard Ronald Curry played in 26 games. He totaled 76 points, 43 assists, 39 rebounds and 10 steals.

• Curry made his first collegiate start on January 31st in a 75-66 win over Georgia Tech. In 33 minutes, he scored 13 points, grabbed five rebounds, had seven assists and just three turnovers. Was 7 for 8 from the free throw line. He had a steal and basket in the final minute to seal the win.

■ TAR HEEL TRENDS

• The Tar Heels averaged 71.4 points per game. That is the lowest season average since the 1981-82 team averaged 66.7 points. Carolina was led by James Worthy, Sam Perkins and Michael Jordan that year, went 32-2 and won the national championship.

• The Tar Heels held their opponents to 64.9 points per game, the lowest opponent average since 1981-82 when Carolina allowed 55.4 ppg.

• Carolina shot 47.1 percent from the field. That is Carolina's lowest team field goal percentage since UNC shot 45.5 percent in 1968. Carolina, who led the ACC in field goal shooting in each of the previous five seasons, ranked third in the league.

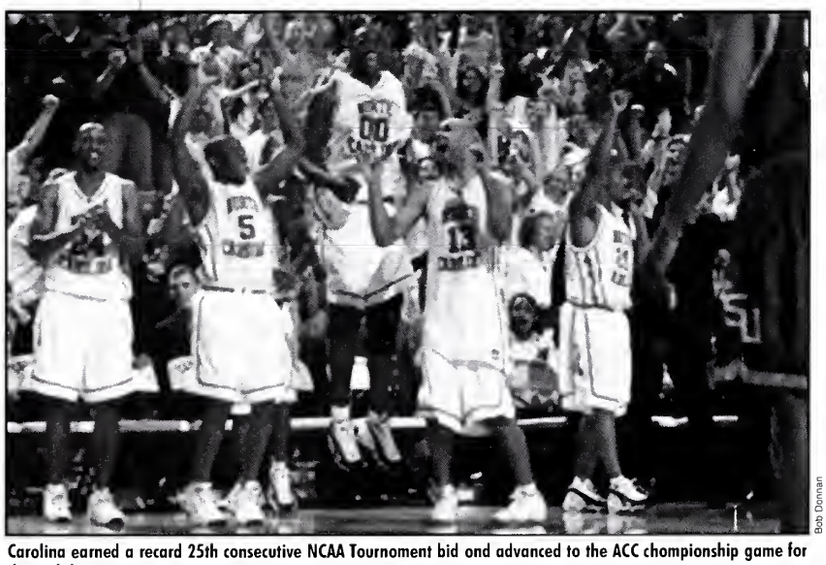
• UNC opponents shot just 39.3 percent from the field. Nineteen of the 34 opponents shot less than 40 percent, including Florida International, who shot a season-low 26.5 percent.

• In the last 107 games (beginning with the first game of the 1996-97 season), only eight opponents have made 50 percent or better from the field against the UNC defense. Maryland has done it three times.

• In the last 107 games, Carolina has limited its opponents to less than 40 percent shooting from the field on 55 occasions (51 percent of the time).

■ 55 CONSECUTIVE OVER NON-CONFERENCE FOES AT HOME

• Carolina has won 55 consecutive home games vs. non-conference opponents, the second-longest streak in the country behind Maryland's 64. The Tar Heels' non-conference record in the Smith Center is 70-2. Carolina's only losses are against Temple in 1988 (83-66) and Iowa in 1989 (98-97).



Bob Donnan

Carolina earned a recard 25th consecutive NCAA Tournoment bid ond advanced to the ACC chompionship game for the eighth time in nine years.

NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL
A HISTORY OF TAR HEEL BASKETBALL

The University of North Carolina has always possessed one of college basketball's most storied histories and the tradition becomes richer with each passing season. Through the decades, with the seemingly endless flow of talented players to go along with the winningest coach in college basketball history, the Carolina basketball program continues to roll onward.

Carolina's 89 seasons in the intercollegiate ranks have produced an overall record of 1,733 victories and 609 losses, making the Tar Heel program the second-winningest alltime in total victories. The University of Kentucky has 1,748 victories in 96 seasons. Carolina became the first university to hit the 1,600-win plateau with its 90-67 victory over Pittsburgh on Nov. 29, 1994, in the Smith Center.

Carolina's winning percentage of .740 ranks second alltime among schools that have played at least 25 seasons at the NCAA Division I level. Only Kentucky, North Carolina, Kansas and UNLV have played at least 25 years and won more than 70 percent of their games.

Only nine of the 89 Tar Heel teams have suffered through losing seasons, and no Carolina coach has ever left the position with a cumulative losing mark. The closest to the .500 mark was Nat Cartmell, Carolina's first coach, who went 25-24 in four seasons. From 1911 through 1952, the UNC program had 13 different head coaches, with none staying for more than six seasons. Carolina has only had three head coaches in the last 47 years – Frank McGuire for nine years, Dean Smith from 1961-62 to 1996-97 and Bill Guthridge beginning in October 1997.

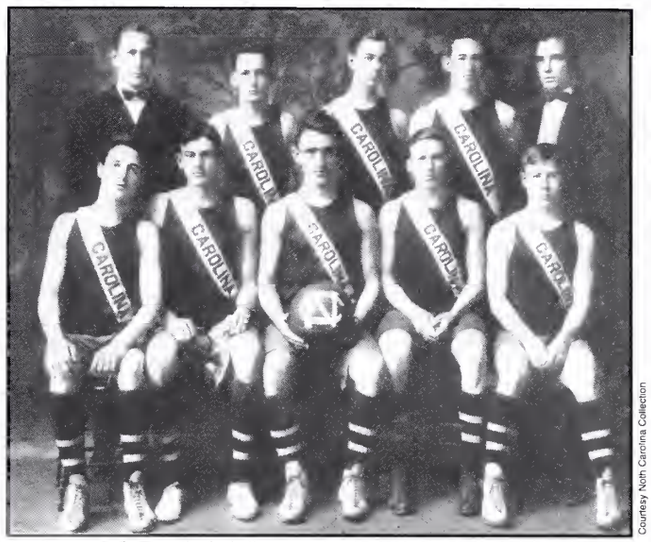
■ THE ROOTS OF A SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM

The first varsity team played at North Carolina during the 1910-11 season. Basketball clubs had originally been a part of physical education classes at the University, but student Marvin Ritch led the drive with school officials to start an organized varsity team. Nat Cartmell, UNC's track and field coach, who was internationally known in his own right as a sprinter, coached that first team in 1911.

By the time the team was organized, Carolina did not schedule its first game until January 27, 1911, when it defeated Virginia Christian, 42-21, in Chapel Hill. The team played its games in Bynum Gymnasium, now the site of the University Cashier's office. Carolina went 7-4 that first season, playing the likes of Tennessee, Virginia, Wake Forest, Davidson, the YMCA teams from Durham and Charlotte and the Woodberry Forest School of Virginia. At the time, a crowd of 50 spectators for a game was considered enormous.

Cartmell ended up coaching the Tar Heels for four seasons. His 1912 squad finished only 4-5, but several thousand fans came to see the Tar Heels play Virginia Tech at the Raleigh Auditorium, a sign that interest in and fan support of the game was growing quickly in the Carolinas.

Charles Doak became the program's head coach in 1915. His 1916 team recorded a 12-6 ledger, the best record for any team during the first decade of the sport on campus. Doak had served as the Tar Heels' baseball coach before being assigned to coach the basketball team as well.



Courtesy North Carolina Collection

Carolina won its first-ever basketball game on Jan. 27, 1911. The Tor Heels defeated Virginio Christian, 42-21, en route to o 7-4 record in their inaugurol seoson.

In 1917, Carolina recorded its first victory over then arch-rival Virginia after eight previous losses. That Tar Heel team was led by George Tennent, who captained both the 1917 and 1918 teams. Luther Hodges, who later served as governor of North Carolina from 1957-61 and was the Secretary of Commerce under President John Kennedy, was a substitute player on the 1917 team. Beginning with that 1917 season, Howell Peacock coached the team for three years, compiling a 23-14 mark.

In 1920, Fred Boye took over as the head coach at Carolina, staying two years and compiling a 19-17 ledger. The 1922 squad played without an official head coach, but nevertheless compiled a 15-6 record. Carolina went to Atlanta that season and swept the first-ever Southern Conference Tournament championship, winning five games in five days. The Heels captured the title with a 40-26 win over Mercer in the finals. The Southern Conference had been founded the previous summer with an initial membership of 22 schools. The 1922 squad was led by Cartwright Carmichael, who was then a sophomore. He went on to become one of Carolina's alltime great players. He became UNC's first All-America in any sport in both 1923 and 1924 and he was an All-Southern Conference pick from 1922 through 1924.

■ CELEBRATING CAROLINA'S FIRST NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The five-year period beginning in 1922 was actually a glorious one for Carolina despite the fact the Tar Heels played with no coach during the 1922 and 1923 seasons and with a different head coach in each of the following three years. But with incredibly talented players on hand, Carolina went 96-17 in that five-year span and won four of five Southern Conference championships as well as the national championship in 1924.

The 1923 team set the stage for that magnificent '24 squad by going 15-1, losing only a 34-32 thriller to Ole Miss in the Southern Conference tournament final.

The '24 team proved to be something very special indeed. Led by Jack Cobb, Carmichael and Bill Dodderer, it rolled to a 26-0 record and was named the national champion by the Helms Foundation. Carolina beat Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Alabama to capture the Southern Conference championship.

Carolina's nine-man 1924 squad played for the first time in the Indoor Athletic Center, better known around campus as the Tin Can, a structure which existed until the late 1970s. It was razed to clear land for what is now the Robert Allison Fetzer Gymnasium on the UNC campus. Norman Shepard coached the Tar Heels in 1924 in what would be his only season as head coach. He left the following year to pursue business ventures abroad.

After being an All-Southern Conference selection in 1924, Monk McDonald took over as the team's head coach the following season. Led again by the magnificent Cobb, the Tar Heels finished 20-5 in 1925 and won another Southern Conference crown by whipping Tulane 36-28 in the finals. A year later, Carolina had yet another new head coach in Harlan Sanborn as the '26 team compiled a solid 20-5 mark. That team was led by Cobb, who was named the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation, and by Dodderer, who was named All-Southern Conference for the third year in a row.

Cobb, who averaged 15 points per game in 1926, a total practically unheard of in that day, was named an All-America for the third successive year. One of the highlights of the year was the crowd of thousands which gathered at Memorial Hall to hear a telegraphic play-by-play of the Southern Conference championship game from Atlanta as UNC downed Mississippi State, 38-23.

James Ashmore began an impressive five-year coaching stint with the Tar Heels in 1927. His teams were led by players like Billy Morris, Puny Harper, Bunn Hackney and Rufus Hackney. Ashmore's teams combined for an 80-37 mark during his tenure, but they never won the Southern Conference championship – in fact they never reached the finals.

■ THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE REALIGNS

Norman Shepard's brother, George "Bo" Shepard, took over as head coach in 1932. He quickly catapulted Carolina back into national prominence. The "Charlotte Connection" provided many of the best players for UNC at the time because of the strong high school and YMCA programs in that part of the state.

Guard Tom Alexander and forward Virgil Weathers, both All-Southern Conference choices, led the '32 team to a 16-5 mark as Carolina lost, 26-24, in the Southern Conference final to Georgia at Raleigh, the new site of the conference tournament. After the '32 season, the Southern Conference lost 13 schools which went on to form what is now the Southeastern Conference. That turn of events left 10 schools in the Southern Conference.

In 1933, Shepard needed a big man for rebounding purposes and to control the jump ball after each score. He found his man in Jack Glace, who hadn't even made his high school squad. The Heels went 12-5 that season and lost a double overtime thriller to South Carolina, 34-32, in the semifinals of the Southern Conference Tournament.

The 1934 Carolina team finished 18-4, being upset by Duke in the Southern Conference tournament after beating the Blue Devils twice in the regular season. Dave McCachren was the captain of that Carolina squad and was the first of four McCachren brothers to play at UNC from 1931-43. Each brother captained the Tar Heel team his senior year, and each was elected president of the UNC athletic association. After Dave, Jim, a three-time All-Southern Conference selection, captained the '36 team, Bill captained the '39 squad and George, better known as "Toad," captained the '43 unit.

The 1935 team won the conference championship and compiled a marvelous 23-2 mark in Shepard's last year as head coach. After that season, Shepard stepped down because of health reasons and Walter Skidmore became head coach. Skidmore continued the winning ways in Chapel Hill, leading the 1936 team to a 21-4 record and a Southern Conference title. That 1936 unit was led by Pete Mullis and Andy Bershak, who was also a Carolina football All-America.

Carolina had successful years in 1937 and '38, but failed to win the Southern Conference title either time. However, in 1938, Carolina inaugurated a new home base for its basketball operations as the 5,000-seat Woollen Gymnasium opened and Carolina left the Tin Can to be used for track meets and campus social functions. Then, in 1939, Carolina suffered its first losing campaign in 19 years and Skidmore stepped down as coach. He was replaced for the 1940 season by Bill Lange, then an assistant football coach under Ray Wolf.

"The Blind Bomber" George Glamack was a two-time National Player of the Year, in 1940 and 1941.

■ CAROLINA EARNS ITS FIRST NCAA BID

The 1940 Carolina team proved to be an outstanding one. Led by George Glamack, nicknamed the "Blind Bomber," UNC went 23-3. The 6-6 junior from Johnstown, Pa., could barely see the basket because of impaired vision, but his foul line hook shot was lethal. Glamack became only the third player ever designated as the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation on two occasions, winning the honor in both 1940 and '41.

Other stars on the teams of the early 1940s were Paul Severin, who was also a two-time All-America in football, and Bob Rose, an All-Southern Conference player in both 1941 and '42. Glamack averaged 20.6 points per game for the Tar Heels, an amazing statistic given the fact teams only scored in the 40s and 50s during that era.

As in other sports, the World War II years in college basketball were unsettled in nature. The Carolina team lost many players to service obligations during this time – in fact, only one letterman was available for the 1943 team. In 1944, the Tar Heels played 11 contests against service teams. Lange stepped down as coach after the 1944 season with an impressive five-year record of 85-41. Lange's 1941 team was also the first at UNC to make the NCAA Tournament field.

Ben Carnevale took over as head coach in 1945 and the Tar Heels motored to an outstanding 22-6 ledger and the Southern Conference championship. The star of that team was Jim Jordan, who was named a second-team All-America that season.

The Tar Heels celebrate the 1957 NCAA championship after triple-overtime victories over Michigan State and Kansas in the Final Four.

■ A NEAR NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1946 team was a truly outstanding one. Led by first-team All-Americas Jordan and John "Hook" Dillon and 6-6 Horace "Bones" McKinney, Carolina made it all the way to the NCAA championship game before losing to Coach Henry Iba's Oklahoma (A&M) State team, 43-40, at Madison Square Garden. McKinney had attended N.C. State before going into the military in World War II, and he resumed his education at Chapel Hill, helping lead the Heels to their 30-5 mark in 1946. Carnevale left after the season was over to take the coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. He was replaced by Tom Scott.

At this time, basketball in the South was enjoying unprecedented popularity. N.C. State was becoming a formidable rival for the Tar Heels, and the Southern Conference Tournament was moved to Duke's Indoor Stadium so more fans could attend the postseason classic.

Scott's first team, in 1947, was led by Jim Hamilton and Bob Paxton. It posted a 19-8 record and lost in the conference finals to N.C. State, then coached by the legendary Everett Case. Unfortunately, that would be the second of 15 consecutive losses Carolina suffered at the hands of the Wolfpack over a six-year period.

Scott produced 20-win seasons in both 1948 and '49, but lost three contests to N.C. State each of those campaigns, including heartbreakers in the league tournament.

■ TAR HEELS TURN TO MCGUIRE

The next three seasons produced a trio of mediocre records and Scott resigned after the 1952 season. He was replaced by Frank McGuire, a 38-year-old native of Greenwich Village in New York City. Formerly the coach at St. John's University in Jamaica, N.Y., McGuire was successful at luring many outstanding New York basketball stars, the first of whom was Jerry Vayda, to Chapel Hill through his connections to the area.

McGuire's first team, in 1953, proved to be a scrappy unit. It didn't have great talent, but ended up 17-10 and beat N.C. State in Raleigh, breaking the six-year losing streak to the Pack. During the offseason, Carolina and seven other schools left the Southern Conference to join what has become America's finest intercollegiate athletic league, the Atlantic Coast Conference. The next two years produced average records – 11-10 in 1954 and 10-11 a year later – but McGuire was building a foundation for future greatness.

Lennie Rosenbluth, from New York City, debuted for the Tar Heels in 1955 as a sophomore and averaged 25.5 points per game. In 1956, a great new class joined holdovers Rosenbluth, Vayda, Tony Radovich and Bob Young. The new sophomore class included Pete Brennan, Tommy Kearns, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham and Roy Searcy. That '56 team went 18-5, setting the stage for what happened a year later.

■ HEELS WORK OVERTIME TO CLAIM SECOND NATIONAL TITLE

In 1957, McGuire had a lineup that consisted of the 6-6 Brennan, 6-5 Rosenbluth and 6-9 Quigg on the front line with Cunningham and Kearns in the backcourt. En route to its 32-0 record, Carolina had to avoid a couple of close calls in the regular season – against Duke at home and a double overtime contest with Maryland in College Park. The closest call of all may have come in the ACC Tournament semifinals when the Heels edged Wake Forest, 61-59. Because only the ACC Tournament champion earned an NCAA bid in those days, had the Tar Heels lost to the Deacons, they would not even have been allowed to compete in the national tournament. Once in the NCAAs, however, Carolina swept past three opponents in the East Regional to set up a meeting with Michigan State in the semifinals.

It took three overtimes, but Carolina finally vanquished the Spartans, 74-70. That set up a showdown with Dick Harp's Kansas Jayhawks, led by the great Wilt Chamberlain. At Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, UNC needed another three overtimes to subdue Kansas, 54-53, on Quigg's two free throws with six seconds to play in the third extra session. Thousands turned out at the Raleigh-Durham Airport to welcome their conquering heroes home the next day. Rosenbluth concluded his brilliant career by being named an All-America, first-team All-ACC for the third straight year and the Helms National Player of the Year.

In 1958, a Carolina team led by All-America and ACC Player of the Year Brennan finished 19-7. Lee Shaffer and Dick Kepley, soon to be Carolina stars in their own right, joined the squad as sophomores. With the exception of the 1957 national championship team, McGuire's 1959 squad may have been the best amongst the nine he coached during his time at UNC. Doug Moe, York Larese and Lou Brown joined the team and Carolina finished 20-5 and qualified for the school's fourth NCAA Tournament appearance.

A year later, Carolina had another outstanding season under McGuire. The Heels finished 18-6 overall and Shaffer was named a first-team All-America.

The 1961 season yielded an outstanding team and a 19-4 record. It was the senior year for Moe, Laresc and Kepley. Moe was an All-America that season and together with Larese, they were called the L&M twins. McGuire chose to accept a head coaching offer from the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association after the season concluded. His nine-season record at Carolina was a brilliant 164-58. Under McGuire, Carolina went to the NCAA Tournament twice, won five ACC regular-season titles, one ACC Tournament title and the national championship.

■ CHANCELLOR AYCOCK MAKES THE PERSONNEL DECISION OF A LIFETIME

The man who stepped into the coaching void was a native Kansan by the name of Dean Edwards Smith. He had been lured to Carolina in 1958 from the U.S. Air Force Academy to be McGuire's top assistant. Carolina Chancellor William Aycock was charged with the duty of finding the successor for the popular McGuire. He entrusted the post to the 30-year-old Smith, who built a program that still is a model for integrity and success in college athletics.

Coach Smith's first team in 1962 compiled an 8-9 record, his only losing season as a head coach. But his players did give him a victory in his first coaching outing, 80-46 over Virginia on December 2, 1961. It would prove to be a harbinger of things to come. After that victory, Smith said, "I've never been as scared in my life."

Billy Cunningham, affectionately known as "The Kangaroo Kid," joined the varsity and became an immediate star in 1962. Averaging 22.7 points and 16 rebounds a game, he helped lead the Tar Heels to a 15-6 record, which included road victories against both Kentucky and Notre Dame. A year later, Cunningham was still awesome, but the Tar Heels' record dipped to 12-12. Help for the future arrived, however, in the form of highly-touted freshman Bob Lewis.

Lewis moved up to the varsity in 1965 and with the All-America Cunningham, the two combined for 46.4 points per game as Carolina went 15-9. Cunningham left Carolina as its all-time leader in rebounds and as one of the most prolific rebounders and scorers in conference history. A two-time All-America and three-time All-ACC selection, he went on to a great professional playing and coaching career, mainly with the Philadelphia 76ers.

For 1966, Cunningham was gone, but Lewis was now joined by soon-to-be superstar Larry Miller. The Tar Heels moved out of Woollen Gymnasium and into 8,800-seat Carmichael Auditorium, which would evolve into one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. The '66 squad finished only 16-11, but it was obvious greatness was just around the corner.

■ THREE STRAIGHT ACC TITLES, THREE SUCCESSIVE FINAL FOURS

The 1967 team proved to be Coach Smith's first truly great squad at Carolina. Lewis and Miller were joined on the varsity by sophomores Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting, Dick Grubar and Joe Brown. The season resulted in a 26-6 ledger, and the Tar Heels finished third in the final United Press International poll and fourth in the Associated Press rankings. The '67 campaign marked the beginning of a string of three successive first-place finishes in the ACC regular-season standings, three straight ACC tournament titles and three consecutive NCAA East Regional championships for Smith and his troops. That's a feat unmatched in ACC history. The '67 squad was characterized by an enthusiastic, gambling defense that would become a trademark of Smith-coached teams.

Affectionately known as "The Kongoroo Kid" for his leaping ability, Billy Cunningham holds the three highest single-seoson rebounding averages in Corolina history, including o record 16.1 per game as a sophamore in 1962-63.

Lewis graduated after '67, but the great Charlie Scott arrived to take his place in the Carolina lineup as the Heels prepared for the 1968 season. Scott was the first black player on the Carolina varsity and he started from the beginning of his sophomore year. The '68 team was an outstanding one and made it all the way to the NCAA finals before losing to UCLA and Lew Alcindor. The Heels' final record that year was 28-4, the best yet under Smith's tutelage. Miller was both an All-America and the ACC Player of the Year for the second straight year.

Hugh Morton

Fram 1967-69, Caralina wan three straight ACC regular seasan titles, three straight ACC Taurnament titles and three straight NCAA East Regianal champianships. Na team has accamplished the feat since.

Heading into 1969, Miller was gone but the remaining core of those great teams returned. Carolina went 27-5, won the ACC championship for the third straight year and was again in the Final Four, the school's fifth such visit since the NCAA Tournament began in 1939. Scott, Bunting, Clark and Grubar led that team as well as junior guard Eddie Fogler.

The 1970 squad entered that season decimated by graduation. The tremendous seniors of the previous year – Bunting, Clark and Grubar – had graduated. Carolina finished 18-9, buoyed by the addition of sophomores Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Steve Previs, all solid players. Scott was named All-ACC for the third successive year and was a first-team All-America for the second time. Carolina accepted the first of its four NIT bids in history and the 18-9 record remarkably resulted in the last time Carolina failed to win 20 games in a season.

The 1971 team was not expected to do much according to the pre-season ratings, but it rolled up a 26-6 record and won the ACC regular-season title and the National Invitation Tournament championship. Sophomore George Karl moved up to the varsity and formed a great backcourt with Previs. Wuycik was a first-team All-ACC choice and Chamberlain the Most Valuable Player of the NIT as Carolina downed Georgia Tech 84-66 in the finals at Madison Square Garden.

Carolina returned to the NCAA Final Four in 1972 with a 26-5 record. Robert McAdoo, a junior college transfer from Vincennes University, was outstanding for the Heels along with returnees Wuycik, Chamberlain, Karl and Previs. Sixth man Bobby Jones, a 6-8 sophomore, showed great promise for the future. Carolina won five different tournament championships during the course of the season, including the ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional championships. The Tar Heels were eliminated in the NCAA Final Four by Florida State in the semifinals, 79-75. After the season, McAdoo became the first player under Smith to declare himself eligible for the NBA draft prior to the completion of his eligibility. A year later, he was the NBA Rookie of the Year with the Buffalo Braves.

Carolina returned to the NIT in 1973 and reached the semifinals after losing in the first round of the ACC Tournament. The 25-8 squad was led by the play of Karl and, in the first year freshmen were again eligible to play under NCAA rules, Mitch Kupchak showed signs of greatness inside.

■ A REMARKABLE COMEBACK AGAINST DUKE

The 1974 team was led by All-America and All-ACC player Jones. It compiled a 22-6 record but was relegated to a return trip to the NIT even though it was ranked eighth in the final UPI poll. That team featured a freshmen class of Walter Davis, Tommy LaGarde and John Kuester, a group which would lead Carolina back to the Final Four three years later. That season will also be remembered for the astounding comeback the Tar Heels made against Duke at Carmichael Auditorium in the final game of the regular season. Trailing by eight points with 17 seconds to play, the Heels rallied to tie the contest on a 28-foot shot by Davis as time expired. UNC went on to win in overtime, 96-92. The 1974 season also marked the last time Carolina failed to make the NCAA Tournament field, a streak now numbering an NCAA record 22 years.

In 1975, the wonderous Phil Ford arrived on campus as a freshman and had an immediate impact on Carolina basketball fortunes. He became the first freshman under Smith to start the first game of his career, a feat since matched only by Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison. As a frosh, Ford won the Everett Case Award as Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament as Carolina beat defending national champion N.C. State in the finals, 70-66, knocking the Wolfpack out the NCAA Tournament in the process. The Tar Heels had to survive overtime games with Wake Forest and Clemson in the first two rounds of the tournament just to get into the final game. Overall, that Carolina team finished 23-8 and was eliminated in the NCAA East Regional semifinals by Syracuse, which went on to the Final Four.

A year later, in Kupchak's senior season, the Tar Heels had one of their best teams ever under Smith, but it was undone by injuries and bad luck at season's end. First-team All-Americas Kupchak and Ford led the team to a 25-4 mark and a 13-1 ACC slate. But Carolina was upset in the ACC finals by Virginia, giving the Cavaliers their only ACC championship in history, and then UNC lost to Alabama in the first round of the NCAAs with Ford sidelined with a badly sprained ankle. Following the season, Carmichael Auditorium underwent a renovation which increased seating capacity from 8,800 to 10,000. Individual seats were torn out and bleacher seats installed throughout the facility.

The 1977 campaign marked a return to the Final Four for the first time in five years as UNC posted a 28-5 mark. Mid-season knee surgery on LaGarde ended his college career prematurely and then Davis broke his thumb in the ACC Tournament semifinals against N.C. State. Led by Kuester, the Tar Heels persevered and beat Virginia in the tournament finals, 75-69. Carolina used its up-tempo style to perfection in conjunction with the famed four corners offense in scoring NCAA wins over Purdue, Notre Dame, Kentucky and UNLV. All were of the comeback variety save the win over the Wildcats. Ford suffered a hyperextended elbow in the waning moments of the Notre Dame game and played the remainder of the tourney at less than 100 percent. After freshman O'Koren helped the Heels into the finals with 31 points against Vegas, the Tar Heels fell to Marquette, 67-59, in the title game.

The 1978 team had to play minus LaGarde,

Freshman Michael Jordan first burst upon the national scene with his game-winning jump shot to lift the Tar Heels to a 63-62 win over Georgetown in the 1982 NCAA championship game.

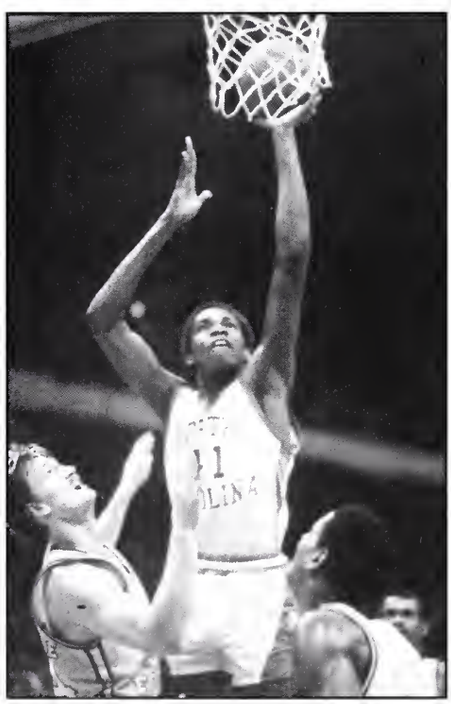
Davis and Kuester – no easy task. It was Ford's senior year and the Rocky Mount, N.C., native was tapped for National Player-of-the-Year honors by four organizations as UNC finished 23-8. In an emotional Carmichael Auditorium farewell, Ford scored a career-high 34 points as UNC beat Duke 87-83 in one of the most memorable games played in the building, clinching the ACC regular-season championship for the Heels in the process. Ford finished his career as a three-time first-team All-America and as Carolina's alltime leading scorer and assist man. He still holds the scoring record to this day with 2,290 points.

The 1979 squad was not ranked highly in the preseason, but won Smith ACC and National Coach-of-the-Year honors after finishing 23-6. O'Koren, senior defensive wizard Dudley Bradley and sophomore sharpshooter Al Wood led that team. During the regular season, UNC upset eventual national champion Michigan State 70-69 at Carmichael and scored an infamous 70-69 win at N.C. State on Bradley's last-second steal and dunk. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship with Duke and then beat the Blue Devils 71-63 in the ACC Tournament finals as Bradley captured tournament MVP honors. Carolina was upset in the NCAA second round by Penn, which went on to play in the NCAA Final Four.

The 1980 squad was led by a senior class which featured O'Koren, a first-team All-America in 1979 and 1980. The Tar Heels finished 21-8. Other graduating seniors were guards Dave Colescott and John Virgil and centers Rich Yonakor and Jeff Wolf. One of the season's highlights was a 61-57 win at Indiana in the homecoming game for Colescott, a Marion, Ind., native and former Mr. Basketball in the Hoosier State.



Sam Perkins, a three-time first-team All-Americo, remoins Carolina's alltime leading rebounder and shot blocker.

■ WORTHY'S MVP PERFORMANCE KEYS CAROLINA'S THIRD NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1981 team would initiate a string of 13 straight Carolina squads which advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament. Led by Al Wood and sophomore power forward James Worthy, UNC finished 29-8 and won the ACC Tournament title with one-point wins over Wake Forest and Maryland in the semifinal and final, respectively. After winning the NCAA West Regional crown, UNC returned to the Final Four in Philadelphia where it avenged two regular-season losses to conference foe Virginia in the semifinals behind Wood's astounding 39-point performance, an NCAA Tournament semifinal game scoring record to this day. Two days later, on the day President Ronald Reagan survived an assassination attempt, UNC was beaten by Indiana in the national championship game.

The 1981 team proved to be only a prelude to the greatness of the 1982 squad which won the national championship. Preseason rated No. 1, the Tar Heels finished the regular season that way and went on to win the NCAA championship. The squad's 32-2 record equaled the school record for victories in a season as the Tar Heels swept through the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regional. There were many heroes on the '82 team. Worthy was named the co-National Player of the Year and he scored a career-high 28 points in UNC's pulsating 63-62 win over Georgetown in the championship game. Center Sam Perkins was a first-team All-America and he was joined in the lineup by point guard Jimmy Black, small forward Matt Doherty and a freshman guard by the name of Michael Jordan. Jordan hit a 16-foot jump shot with 15 seconds left, providing the winning points in the title game, and Worthy sealed the victory with a steal of a Fred Brown pass with five seconds left.

Worthy opted to make himself available for the NBA draft after his junior year and he was chosen as the first pick by the Los Angeles Lakers. Even without Worthy, the Tar Heels returned a strong cast in 1983 with a nucleus featuring Jordan and Perkins. Both players earned first-team All-America honors that year and Jordan was named National Player of the Year by The Sporting News. The Tar Heels finished 28-8 after starting 0-2, the worst-ever start for a Smith-coached team at Carolina. After splitting its first six games of the season, Carolina recovered from the slow start to be the nation's No. 1-ranked team for several weeks in January and February. After tying for the ACC regular-season championship, the Heels made it to the finals of the NCAA East Regional before being upset by Georgia. The highlight of the year was an improbable 64-63 victory over Virginia on February 10, 1983 as No. 1-ranked Carolina rallied from 16 points down with 8:43 to play to beat second-ranked Virginia at Carmichael Auditorium.

In 1984, Smith had one of his best teams

ever before it fell victim to a late-season injury bug. At 28-3 overall, the Tar Heels became only the sixth team in ACC history to go through the conference regular-season round-robin undefeated at 14-0. Jordan was named the consensus National Player of the Year and Perkins was named both first-team All-ACC and first-team All-America for the third straight year. Starting point guard Kenny Smith suffered a broken wrist in the LSU game on January 29 and never fully recovered that season. Center Brad Daugherty also suffered a hand injury during the ACC Tournament that hampered his play the rest of the way. That Tar Heel team finishcd No. 1 nationally in both final polls.

The 1985 team was another of Smith's over-achieving teams. Ignored in the pre-season Top 20 polls for the first time in recent memory, UNC went 27-9 that year after losing Perkins and Jordan from the lineup. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship as Daugherty and Kenny Smith had superb years for the Tar Heels. Carolina was eliminated in the finals of the NCAA Southeast Regional at the hands of eventual national champion Villanova.

■ THE OPENING OF THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

The 1986 unit, led by first-team All-America Daugherty, won its first 21 games en route to a 28-6 mark. The Tar Heels were devastated at season's end by injuries to starters Steve Hale and Joe Wolf and backup center Warren Martin. For the second straight year, UNC was eliminated from the NCAA Tournament by the eventual national champion, Louisville. The season was also highlighted by the opening of the Dean E. Smith Center on the Carolina campus on January 18, 1986. The No. 1-ranked Tar Heels celebrated the move into their new 21,572-seat arena by beating No. 3 Duke, 95-92, that day.

The 1987 squad proved to be another of Coach Smith's best teams. Led by a strong senior nucleus which featured All-ACC players Kenny Smith and Wolf, UNC tied the school record for victories in a season with 32 while completing a 32-4 ledger and a No. 2 ranking in the final AP poll. For the second time in four years, UNC finished the ACC regular-season a perfect 14-0. UNC advanced to the NCAA East Regional finals before falling to eventual NCAA finalist Syracuse. Smith capped a brilliant Tar Heel career by surpassing Ford as the school's all-time assist leader and being named Basketball Times' National Player of the Year.

Going into the 1988 campaign, many experts viewed the Tar Heels as an inexperienced bunch that might struggle more than some of Carolina's previous great squads. Smith again confounded the experts as he took a team with only one senior and molded it into a 27-7 unit that won the ACC regular-season championship outright. The season was highlighted by the play of first-team All-America forward J.R. Reid. Among the 27 wins was a thrilling 96-93 overtime win over pre-season No. 1-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass.

While the 1988 team was inexperienced, the 1989 team was a veteran unit, led by a tremendous starting backcourt of seniors Jeff Lebo and Steve Bucknall. Carolina won its first ACC Tournament championship in seven years as it beat arch-rival Duke 77-74 in the championship game at Atlanta. The Tar Heels went on to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament before losing to eventual NCAA champion Michigan. UNC's 29-8 record marked the ninth successive season in which Carolina had won as many as 27 games. The Tar Heels finished the season ranked fourth in the final United Press International poll.

After the 1989 campaign, Reid opted to forgo his final year of eligibility to enter the NBA draft and was chosen as the fifth selection of the draft by the Charlotte Hornets. With Reid, Lebo and Bucknall gone, Smith's 1990 unit was his youngest in recent memory. In an "off" year by Carolina standards, UNC still finished a solid 21-13. The 13 losses were the most by a Carolina team since the 1952 squad finished 12-15. Despite the double-digit losses, Carolina tied for third in the ACC standings, won at least 20 games again and was invited to the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels made the most of their opportunity there. Carolina pulled off a stunning upset of top-ranked Oklahoma, 79-77, in the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional at Austin, Texas. Carolina was seeded eighth in the region, while the Sooners were the entire tournament's top seed. Rick Fox hit an off-balance bank shot in the lane as time expired to provide Carolina with the winning points.

■ A 10TH FINAL FOUR FOR CAROLINA BASKETBALL

Carolina returned to national prominence again in 1991 as Smith led his team to its eighth NCAA Final Four during his tenure and the school's 10th trip overall. Carolina was ranked fourth nationally in the final AP and UPI polls as UNC finished 29-6. The Tar Heels won the 12th ACC Tournament championship in school history, a league record, by embarrassing arch-rival Duke 96-74 in the championship game at the Charlotte Coliseum. It was Smith's 11th tournament title in his 30th season at the helm of the Tar Heels.

A strong senior nucleus of All-ACC forward Rick Fox, center Pete Chilcutt and point guard King Rice led Carolina to its 21st straight 20-win season and its 17th successive bid to the NCAA Tournament. During the course of the season, UNC passed Kentucky as college basketball's alltime winningest team. In NCAA play, Carolina beat Northeastern, Villanova, Eastern Michigan and Temple to win the NCAA East Regional before being edged by Smith's alma mater, Kansas, coached by UNC alumnus Roy Williams, in the NCAA semifinals at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

In 1991-92, the Tar Heels, led by senior guard Hubert Davis, finished 23-10 overall and reached the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament for an amazing 12th successive season. UNC also finished third in the ACC standings, the 28th successive season in which Carolina had finished at least third in the conference regular-season wars.

■ WILLIAMS' THREE-POINTERS HELP BRING HOME SMITH'S SECOND NCAA TITLE

The 1993 Tar Heels added yet another trophy to the mantle of one of the sport's greatest coaches when the squad captured Coach Smith's second NCAA title by defeating Michigan 77-71 in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. The team's 34-4 record broke the school record for victories in a season.

Picked by some sportswriters to finish third in the conference, Carolina won the ACC regular-season title with a 14-2 mark that included a spectacular, come-from-behind victory over Florida State on January 27, 1993 in the Smith Center – a game in which UNC rallied from a 21-point second-half deficit. The Heels entered the NCAA Tournament as the top seed in the East Regional, cruised to their 13th straight appearance in the Sweet 16 and survived frenetic battles against Arkansas and Cincinnati to earn Smith's ninth Final Four trip.

Battling Kansas in the NCAA semifinals for the second time in three years, Carolina advanced to the finals behind the outside shooting of sophomore guard Donald Williams. Other invaluable contributors to the NCAA title included the inside power of senior forward George Lynch and second-team All-America junior center Eric Montross and the quieter, yet equally important, contributions of point guard Derrick Phelps and small forward Brian Reese. In the finals against Michigan, Williams once again provided the spark, pouring in 25 points and making five-of-seven three pointers for the second straight game. As Williams was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four, the celebration erupted simultaneously on Bourbon Street and Franklin Street with Carolina fans relishing the pinnacle of college basketball success once again.

The 1993-94 Carolina squad battled incredible expectations throughout the season and finished the year atop the Associated Press poll with a 28-7 record. A team with an interesting mixture of experience and youth, Carolina won Coach Smith's 12th ACC Tournament title with a 73-66 victory over Virginia in the finals. Seniors Eric Montross, Derrick Phelps, Brian Reese and Kevin Salvadori provided the leadership, while highly-touted freshmen Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace showed glimpses of the future of Carolina basketball. The season ended with a disappointing loss to Boston College in the second round of the NCAA East Regional, but the early tournament exit could not overshadow the contributions of a senior class that won 114 games, two ACC Tournament titles, a national championship, and advanced to two Final Fours.

■ MORE FINAL FOURS AND A WIN TO REMEMBER

The 1994-95 campaign began as one of uncertainty and ended as a further testament to the genius of Coach Smith and the skill of his players. With the loss of four senior starters from the previous year, the 1994-95 Tar Heels were one of Smith's most inexperienced teams in recent years. Nonetheless, sophomores Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace stepped into their new starting roles beside senior guard Donald Williams and junior swingman Dante Calabria and led UNC to a 28-6 record, a tie for the ACC regular-season championship and the 12th NCAA Final Four in school history. Early in the season, Carolina became the first college basketball program in NCAA Division I history to amass 1,600 wins.

Stackhouse, a consensus first-team All-America, became the eighth Tar Heel to be named National Player of the Year when Sports Illustrated honored him as such. Wallace was a second-team All-America choice who finished the year as the ACC's leader in career field goal percentage (63.5 percent), while Williams completed his career as UNC's career leader in three-pointers made (221) and attempted (572).

The 1995-96 Tar Heels were as inexperienced a team as Coach Smith has placed on the court in his tenure. Stackhouse and Wallace both opted for the 1996 NBA Draft after their sophomore seasons and went as the third and fourth picks in the first round, respectively. Three freshmen – Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Ademola Okulaja – were among the top seven players on the team which finished 21-11 overall and third in the ACC with a 10-6 mark. Jamison became the first Tar Heel and just the fifth player in league history to be named first-team All-ACC as a freshman. The season was highlighted by an overtime win at Maryland, a 20-rebound performance at Virginia by Jamison and remarkable comeback victories at home over Wake Forest and Duke. Carolina also won at Duke's Cameron Indoor Stadium for the third consecutive year, behind 26 points by Shammond Williams and 25 by Jeff McInnis.

The 1996-97 season was a special one. Carolina opened ACC regular-season play with an unprecedented three straight losses, but regrouped to finish 11-5 in conference play and finish in a tie for second place with preseason favorite, Wake Forest. UNC won all eight of its games in February and earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament after winning the ACC Tournament title.

Jamison earned All-America and first-team All-ACC honors as he led the squad with 19.1 points and 9.4 rebounds per game. Freshman point guard Ed Cota was named the ACC's Rookie of the Year as he led the ACC and was eighth in the country in assists with 6.9 per game.

The Tar Heels went into the ACC Tournament as the No. 3 seed, but knocked off Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim the school's 14th title. Shammond Williams averaged 20.0 points and 5.0 assists and was named the Tournament MVP. The Tar Heels swept through the NCAA East Regional, beating Louisville by 23 points in the regional final at Syracuse. Williams earned MVP honors after he scored a game-high 22 points against the Cardinals. He hit eight three-pointers in the two games in the Carrier Dome.

Smith became the winningest coach in Division 1 college basketball history with his 877th win. That came in the second round of the 1997 NCAA Tournament, a 73-56 triumph over Colorado. It was fitting that Smith's final season would include a trip to the Final Four, the 11th of his career.

■ CAROLINA TURNS TO GUTHRIDGE

Just prior to the start of the 1997-98 season, Smith stunned the basketball world when he announced his resignation as head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith, who said at the press conference "I am the luckiest guy in the world - to be in Chapel Hill, to at the University of North Carolina with this faculty, this student body," turned the program over to longtime assistant Bill Guthridge.

Guthridge picked up right where his mentor left off. The 60-year-old Kansas State alumnus became the winningest first-year head coach in NCAA history as he directed the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, ACC Tournament title, NCAA Regional crown, Final Four berth and No. 1 ranking in the final Associated Press poll. Guthridge was named the National Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, CBS, The Sporting News and the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award).

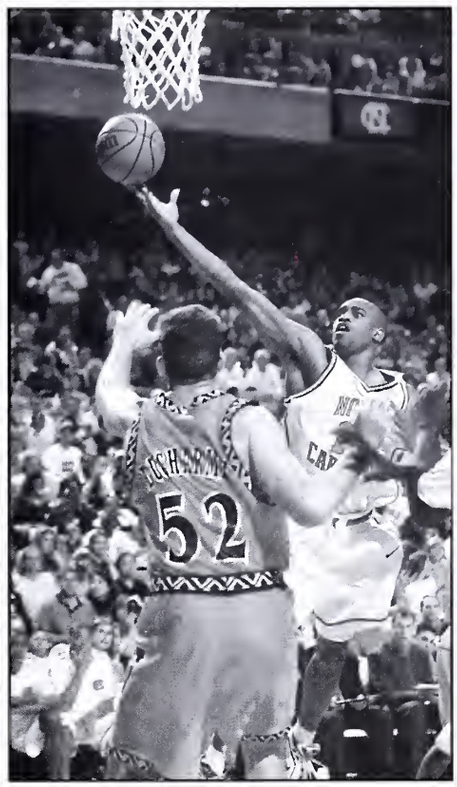
Carolina was led by consensus National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison, who led the ACC in scoring with 22.2 points per game and in rebounds with 10.5 per game. Jamison became the third player in ACC history – with UNC's Lennie Rosenbluth in 1957 and Duke's Christian Laettner in 1992 – to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season. Jamison finished his career fourth alltime at UNC in rebounds with 1,027 and seventh in scoring with 1,974 points. The Charlotte, N.C., native set a single-season record as a junior with 316 field goals and 389 rebounds and scored 822 points, second only to Rosenbluth's 895 in 1957. Jamison became the first player in ACC history to be named first-team All-ACC in his freshman, sophomore and junior seasons.

Cota established a UNC single-season assist record with 274, shattering Kenny Smith's previous mark of 235. Shammond Williams became the alltime three-point shooter in UNC history with 233 and set the alltime ACC single-season free throw percentage record as he made 133 of 146 for a percentage of .911.

The Tar Heels twice defeated No. 1 ranked Duke. Those wins give Carolina nine alltime wins over No. 1 ranked teams, matching Notre Dame for the most wins over the nation's top-ranked programs. The first UNC win over Duke was a 97-73 decision on Feb. 5, 1998, and was only the second meeting between the two schools in which the teams were ranked 1-2 in the nation. The second win over the Blue Devils came in the ACC Tournament final. Jamison had 35 points and 11 rebounds in the regular-season contest and 22 points, 18 rebounds in the ACC championship game.

After the season, Jamison and fellow first-team All-ACC selection Vince Carter declared for the NBA Draft after their junior seasons. Jamison was the fourth player selected in the first round and Carter was taken with the very next pick. The two players were then traded for each other with Jamison ending up with the Golden State Warriors and Carter with the Toronto Raptors. Carter went on to win the NBA Rookie of the Year Award, becoming the fifth Tar Heel to win the honor.

In 1998-99, the Tar Heels overcame the early NBA departures of Carter and Jamison, but still finished 24-10. Carolina won 10 ACC regular-season games for the seventh straight year and advanced to the championship game of the ACC Tournament with a stunning 86-79 victory over fifth-ranked Maryland. Senior Ademola Okulaja earned first-team All-ACC honors after leading the Tar Heels in scoring, rebounding, steals and three-point baskets.



All-Americo Vince Corter (obave) and 1998 unanimous Notionol Player of the Year Antown Jomison (below) led Carolina to Final Four oppearances in 1997 and '98.

NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL

CAROLINA'S TOURNAMENT SUCCESS

No Atlantic Coast Conference program has won more NCAA postseason basketball games or captured more ACC Tournament titles than North Carolina.

The memories linger in the minds of every Tar Heel and basketball fan across the country. Whether it's Donald Williams knocking down five three-pointers against Michigan in the 1993 final or Michael Jordan hitting his historical shot against Georgetown in 1982 or Lennie Rosenbluth leading Carolina to a triple overtime victory over a Wilt Chamberlain-led Kansas in 1957, the NCAA Tournament has been a showcase for many of Carolina's greatest teams and players.

The rewards for Carolina's hardwood success are appropriately displayed in the trophy cases in the memorabilia room of the Dean E. Smith Center.

Carolina's first of four national championships came in 1924 as the Helms Foundation tabbed the Tar Heels as its top team following Carolina's unblemished 26-0 campaign.

It took 33 years before the Tar Heels were again atop the college basketball world, but that time it took a tournament victory to turn the trick.

The NCAA Tournament began in 1939, and Carolina had been a participant just twice. The Tar Heels' inaugural NCAA appearance came in 1941 under head coach Bill Lange, but it was two and out for Carolina, losing by six points to Pittsburgh and one point to Dartmouth in a tournament setup which bears little resemblance to what fans are familiar with today. Then, in 1946, Ben Carnevale's Carolina team disposed of New York University and Ohio State to reach the NCAA championship game, where it was defeated by Oklahoma A&M, 43-40.

Eleven years later, a multi-talented Carolina squad led by Rosenbluth rolled to a 32-0 record and the NCAA title. Carolina's semifinal game against Michigan State and the title matchup against Chamberlain, Dick Harp and the Kansas Jayhawks both were triple overtime affairs.

Carolina won that semifinal showdown with the Spartans, 74-70, and then defeated Kansas, 54-53, on a pair of Joe Quigg free throws with six seconds remaining in the third overtime session.

In 1981-82, with one of the finest collections of college basketball talent ever assembled and a squad which possessed tremendous team chemistry, the Tar Heels went 32-2 en route to their second NCAA Tournament championship. Jordan's jumper with 15 seconds to play, and junior forward James Worthy's steal with five seconds left finished off Georgetown, 63-62. Worthy scored 28 points and was named the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player, while Jordan, who was just a freshman scored 16 points against the Hoyas. The other starters on that NCAA championship team included alltime Carolina rebounding leader Sam Perkins, Matt Doherty, the consummate role player, and point guard Jimmy Black.

That was the first of two NCAA titles for Smith, but the trip to the Final Four certainly was not a new experience for Smith's Tar Heels.

In fact, Smith finished his coaching career second only to legendary UCLA head coach John Wooden in Final Four appearances and is the alltime leader in total tournament victories. Wooden led his dynastic Bruin program to 12 Final Fours and his teams won 47 games in NCAA history.

Smith led 11 different Tar Heel squads to the Final Four and his teams have won 65 tournament games. From 1967-69, Smith's first three ACC Tournament championship teams each went on to the NCAA Final Four. The 1968 Tar Heels beat Ohio State in the semifinals and then lost to UCLA and the great Lew Alcindor in the championship game at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. That game marked the first of five trips to the NCAA championship game by a Smith-led Carolina team. Other championship game appearances have been in 1977, 1981, 1982 and 1993.

After winning the national championship in 1982, Carolina waited nine years before returning to the NCAA Final Four in 1991. Ranked fourth in the final polls, UNC was seeded first in the East Regional, where it beat Northeastern and Villanova at Syracuse's Carrier Dome and Eastern Michigan and Temple at the Brendan Byrne Arena in East Rutherford, N.J., to claim the regional championship. Carolina's hopes for a fourth national championship remained unfulfilled however, as a Kansas team coached by Roy Williams eliminated the Tar Heels in the national semifinals at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

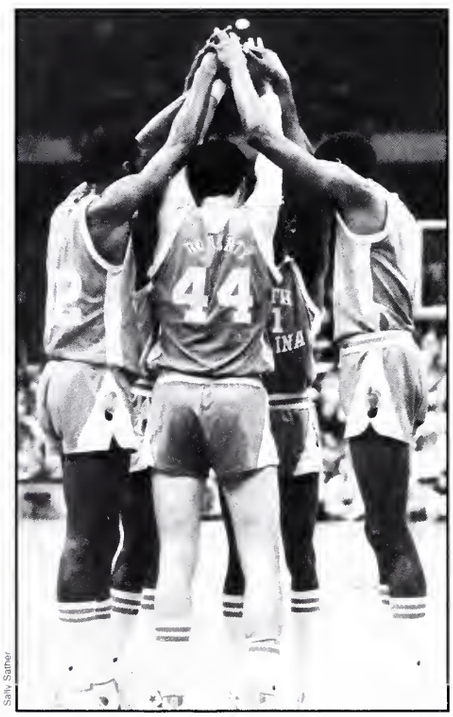
In 1993, the storied Tar Heel basketball program made a return trip to the site of the 1982 NCAA championship win, New Orleans, and it resulted in a deja vu experience for Smith's Tar Heels. In a rematch of the 1991 Final Four semifinal game, the Tar Heels met up with former Carolina assistant coach Williams' Kansas team. Unlike two years earlier, this time the Tar Heels were slated for better things as Williams scored 25 and senior George Lynch added 14 on their way to overcoming the Jayhawks, 78-68.



Sam Sather

Led by Natianal Player af the Year James Worthy, Sam Perkins and freshman Michael Jordan, the 1982 Tar Heels won Dean Smith's first NCAA champianship.

In the championship game, UNC was matched up against a Michigan team that was playing in the title game for a second straight year. The game was marked by constant lead changes as the Carolina starters and bench players made their contributions against Michigan's starting sophomore group. Williams, the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player, had a flurry of 17 second-half points that helped ignite a Carolina celebration when the Tar Heels won the championship, 77-71. It was the third NCAA men's basketball championship for Carolina, the fourth-most in history behind UCLA, Kentucky and Indiana.

In the 1994 NCAA Tournament, Carolina had its record-tying string of 13 consecutive Final 16 appearances, dating back to the 1980 season, ended with a 75-72 second-round loss to Boston College. UCLA also appeared in 13 successive Sweet Sixteens from 1967-79.

However, the following season saw Carolina reach the Final Four once again. When the 1995 men's basketball NCAA Tournament pairings were announced that March, few fans could have imagined the excitement and upsets that would unfold as the Tournament progressed. When the dust had settled, though, just four teams remained to make the trip to the Seattle Kingdome for the Final Four. Fittingly, two of those teams were the winningest in NCAA Tournament history: UCLA and North Carolina. It was Carolina's 12th trip to the Final Four overall and third time in the 1990s. North Carolina entered the Tournament as the second seed in the Southeast Region, behind heavy favorite and number-one seed Kentucky.

Both teams advanced to the Southeast Regional final where Carolina's suffocating defense held the Wildcats to just 7-of-36 from three-point range, a dismal 19.4 percent for the game. Southeast Regional MVP Jerry Stackhouse had 18 points in a 74-61 UNC win. In the national semifinals, Arkansas turned the tables on Carolina, forcing 15 UNC turnovers and holding UNC to 37.5 percentage shooting as the Razorbacks eliminated Carolina, 75-68.

In 1997, Carolina rebounded from an 0-3 start in ACC play to finish second in the league standings and gained a No. 1 seed in the NCAA East Regional by winning the ACC Tournament. The Tar Heels swept through the East by defeating Fairfield and Colorado in Winston-Salem, and California and Louisville in Syracuse.

The first two rounds had added excitement as the college basketball world focused on Coach Smith becoming the alltime winningest coach in Division I history. Smith won his 876th career game in the first round against Fairfield, despite trailing the 16th-seeded Stags by seven at the half. The Tar Heels rallied, behind 22 points from Vince Carter and 19 points and 13 rebounds by Serge Zwikker, for an eight-point win. UNC set a school-record with just two turnovers.

On March 15, 1997, Carolina trailed Colorado, 31-30, at halftime, but routed the Buffaloes in the second half en route to an emotional 73-56 win. The triumph gave Smith his 877th win, the alltime NCAA record. Antawn Jamison had a game-high 19 points and 16 rebounds, Ademola Okulaja added 12 points and 11 boards and Ed Cota had a season-high 16 points.

Jamison suffered back spasms the morning of the regional semifinal against California, but he led UNC to the win with a seven-point scoring surge late in a 63-57 win. Jamison had 21 points and Shammond Williams knocked in four three-pointers to eliminate the Bears.

Williams, who earned regional MVP honors, had a game-high 22 points in the regional final against Louisville. Carolina led by 21 points at the half, but the Cardinals pulled within three in the second half. A 22-3 run by the Tar Heels in the final six minutes iced the win.

Bill Guthridge's first year as head coach was a remarkable season. Carolina was the No. 1 seed in the 1998 NCAA East Regional and survived an overtime thriller against UNC Charlotte to advance to the regional semifinal. Carolina knocked off Michigan State and No. 2 seed Connecticut in the Greensboro Coliseum to advance to the Final Four for the second straight year and fifth time in the 1990s. No other school played in more Final Fours in the decade.

The Tar Heels have advanced to the NCAA Tournament for 25 straight years dating back to 1975. The second-longest streak in tournament history is Arizona with 15 consecutive appearances, a skein still going strong.

North Carolina's streak of consecutive appearances could easily be longer. Under NCAA rules, only one team from any conference represented its league in the NCAA Tournament prior to 1975. To qualify for the NCAAs, an ACC team had to fight through America's toughest conference tournament. Carolina was the ACC's representative to the NCAA Tournament six times under those rules from the league's founding in 1953 until tournament expansion became a reality in 1975.

Since the NCAA Tournament expanded that year and the ACC began placing more than just the tournament champion in the big show, North Carolina has been in every single NCAA Tournament — an achievement of which no other program in the nation can boast. As you can clearly see, when one says "March Madness," Carolina is traditionally a part of it.

Danald Williams was named 1993 Final Faur MVP after leading the Tar Heels ta wins aver Kansas and Michigan.

In its 33 NCAA appearances, Carolina has won a total of 76 games. The 33 appearances are the third most in NCAA history behind Kentucky's 40 and UCLA's 34. Only Kentucky's 84 victories lead North Carolina's 76 for the most alltime tournament victories.

Smith's Tar Heel teams qualified for 27 NCAA Tournaments, giving him the most tournament appearances by a coach in college basketball history. Bob Knight is second with 23 appearances.

Carolina has not limited its postseason success to the NCAA Tournament as the Tar Heels have participated in four National Invitation Tournaments and won seven NIT games.

Carolina's four NIT appearances came in a span of five years in the early 1970s — the era when only one ACC team represented the conference in NCAA Tournament play. In 1971, Smith led the Tar Heels to the NIT championship by posting wins over Massachusetts, Providence, Duke and Georgia Tech. Interestingly, the semifinal win over Duke in Madison Square Garden in New York City was the first time in that storied rivalry that Carolina had met the Blue Devils outside the state of North Carolina. The Tar Heels won that NIT title with a convincing 84-66 victory over Georgia Tech and forward Bill Chamberlain was selected as the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Carolina's tournament success is not bound by the postseason only. Through the years, Carolina has won 36 regular season tournaments. The Tar Heels were three-time winners of the popular Dixie Classic in Raleigh in the late '50s. In 1971-72, Carolina won five tournament championships in a single season, including the Big Four in Greensboro, the International Christmas in Madrid, Spain, the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, the ACC in Greensboro and the NCAA East Regional in Morgantown, W.Va.

In November of 1998, Carolina won the Chase Preseason NIT by beating 11th-ranked Purdue and No. 2 ranked Stanford in New York City's Madison Square Garden. Brooklyn native Ed Cota earned Most Valuable Player honors in leading the Tar Heels past the Cardinal. Cota had 17 points and 11 rebounds in the title game.

In short, Carolina's tournament record speaks for itself — three NCAA Tournament, 15 ACC Tournament, eight Southern Conference Tournament, 13 NCAA Regional and 36 regular-season tournament championships.

ACC TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Basketball Tournament is annually the preeminent college roundball clash in the country and no team has won as many tournament championships or dominated the history of the event more than the University of North Carolina.

The Tar Heels have won a record 15 ACC Tournament crowns, an unmatched 72 games and been the No. 1 seed on 17 occasions. Coach Dean Smith led Carolina to 13 championships, nine more than Vic Bubas of Duke, Everett Case of N.C. State and Mike Krzyzewski of Duke, who each have won four titles, the second-highest number of team titles by one coach.

In 1997-98, rookie head coach Bill Guthridge and National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison led Carolina to its second consecutive ACC title with an 83-68 win over top-seed Duke in the championship game in Greensboro.

Carolina won its first ACC Tournament title in 1957 as the Tar Heels would go on to post a perfect record and win the NCAA championship. UNC is the only school in the conference that has won at least one ACC Tournament in the 1950s (one), 1960s (three), 1970s (four), 1980s (three) and 1990s (four). From 1954 to 1974, only the conference tournament champion was invited to the NCAA Tournament and UNC won five tournaments in that era, including three straight from 1967-69.

If remarkable seems like too strong a word to describe UNC's history in the ACC Tournament, consider these statistics:

■ UNC has entered the tournament as the No. 1 seed 17 times, compiling a 33-9 record in that slot and winning eight titles as the No. 1 seed.

■ UNC has never been seeded lower than No. 5 and has been seeded lower than No. 3 only twice since 1966 (No. 4 in '89 and '90). UNC won the tournament as the No. 4 seed in 1989.

■ The ACC Tournament has been played in five different cities, and UNC has a winning record in each arena, most prolifically an 18-5 (.783) record in Charlotte.

■ A UNC player has won the Everett Case Award as the Most Valuable Player 16 times. Those players read like a who's who list of college basketball talent. They include: Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1967, 1968), Charlie Scott (1969), Lee Dedmon (1971), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1975), John Kuester (1977), Dudley Bradley (1979), Sam Perkins (1981), James Worthy (1982), J.R. Reid (1989), Rick Fox (1991), Jerry Stackhouse (1994), Shammond Williams (1997) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

Overall Carolina has a 72-30 record in the ACC Tournament. Dean Smith's teams were 58-23 in the event. No other coach in history has won more than 22 games. Smith's teams played in the title game in 21 of his 36 years.

Carolina won three straight ACC Tournaments from 1967-69. Overall, the Tar Heels have won 15 conference crowns, more than any other ACC school.

■ THE FIFTIES

North Carolina lost its first two games, both as the No. 5 seed, in 1954 and 1955. Skippy Winstead's 25 points, 70 percent shooting and 40 minutes played did not go unnoticed in the 1954 game against N.C. State, garnering first-team all-tournament honors.

The breakthrough season for the Tar Heels in the ACC Tournament came in 1957. A group of displaced Yankees playing for Frank McGuire ran the table in the conference regular season, 14-0. That year marked the first time that UNC reached the finals of any conference tournament since the 1947 finals of the Southern Conference Tournament. The Tar Heels held off Wake Forest, 61-59, in the semifinal and then defeated South Carolina by 20 points in the final to earn their first ACC championship. In the semifinal, Wake Forest took a one-point lead with less than a minute to play, but National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth hit a hook shot from the circle as well as a free throw for a three-point play and the win.

Rosenbluth made 8 of 11 shots from the floor in the championship en route to 38 points, the team title and MVP honors.

Carolina made the championship game again in 1958 and '59 but lost to Maryland and NC State, respectively.

■ THE SIXTIES

Carolina won only four of 10 games from 1960-66, but dominated the ACC over the final three years of the decade. In an era when only the ACC Tournament champion would advance to the NCAA Tournament, the pressure to win the conference tournament was greater than ever. The 1967-68-69 Tar Heel teams rank as one of the great eras in conference history. Those teams went a combined 36-6 in regular-season league action and a perfect 9-0 in the ACC Tournament.

The Tournament moved to the Greensboro Coliseum for the first time in 1967 and was the site of Smith's first title. Larry Miller and the Tar Heels defeated N.C. State in the quarterfinal by three points, Wake Forest in the semifinal by 10 and Duke by nine in the title match. Miller was selected the Most Valuable Player (25.7 points, 8.3 rebounds). Joining Miller on the first-team all-tournament squad was Bob Lewis (18.0 points, 5.0 rebounds). Rusty Clark and Dick Grubar were selected to the second team.

The Tournament moved again in 1968 for the first year of a three-year stay in Charlotte. UNC's semifinal game against South Carolina was a fierce battle. A fiery second-half start by North Carolina was extinguished by the Gamecocks, as USC produced an 18-4 burst to tie the score at 74 at the end of regulation. The Tar Heels had to come from behind in overtime and won on baskets by Grubar and Gerald Tuttle.

In the championship game, Carolina led N.C. State by only five at the half, but the final tally was a lopsided 87-50 victory for UNC's second straight title. Miller (25.3 points, 8.7 rebounds) repeated his selection as the MVP, and Grubar (13.3 points, 4.7 rebounds) was also a first-team selection. Charlie Scott and Clark were second-team selections.

North Carolina entered the 1969 ACC Tournament as the No. 1 seed for the third year in a row after posting a 12-2 league record. It was a tale of two "Charlies" in the semifinals as Carolina's Charlie Scott and Wake Forest's Charlie Davis battled. Davis won the first half, as the Deacons led 37-29 at intermission. Scott took over in the second stanza, enabling UNC to win, 80-72. Scott and Grubar scored 23 points each.

Carolina and Duke squared off in the championship game. The Blue Devils led by nine at halftime and the Tar Heels lost Grubar to a first-half knee injury. The second half featured one of the most memorable performances in ACC history as Scott scored 25 of his game-high 40 points on 12 of 13 shooting. Thanks in large part to Scott's efforts, Carolina won its third straight ACC title, 85-74, and Scott earned MVP honors.

■ THE SEVENTIES

The 1970s brought many changes in the ACC. South Carolina left the conference after its victory in the 1971 ACC championship game. Georgia Tech filled the void in 1980 with its membership. In addition, beginning in 1975, a team no longer had to win the ACC Tournament to receive an NCAA Tournament bid since the NCAA began sending out at-large bids with the '75 tourney.

One constant in the seventies was the success of the Tar Heels, who won four ACC Tournaments.

The first of the four came in 1972. Carolina entered the tournament with three blemishes on its conference ledger, but earning the No. 1 seed. South Carolina's secession from the league left only seven teams in the tournament, and Carolina received a bye into the semifinal against Duke. Four Tar Heels scored in double figures, led by Bobby Jones, who carded a double-double (14 points, 11 rebounds) as the Tar Heels won, 63-48.

Carolina was in the championship game for the fifth time in six years. Maryland was in the finals for the first time since 1958. Carolina posted a large early lead, 21-9, and the two teams ran even for the rest of the first half with UNC leading at intermission, 41-29. Robert McAdoo (15 points, 7.5 rebounds per game) became the fifth Tar Heel in six years to win the MVP award as Carolina held on for a 73-64 win. Dennis Wuycik (17.5 points, 5 rebounds) and George Karl (13 points, 2.5 rebounds, .571 shooting percentage) joined McAdoo on the all-tournament first team.

In 1975 the Tar Heels trailed Wake Forest in the quarterfinals by eight points with 50 seconds left. Freshman point guard Phil Ford (44 seconds to play), Mitch Kupchak (36 seconds), Walter Davis (30 seconds) and Brad Hoffman (two seconds) hit jump shots and the Deacs missed a pair of free throws to force overtime. In the extra session with the game tied at 96 Carolina took possession with 58 seconds to play. UNC went to the "Four Corners" offense, and drew a technical against Wake Forest with 29 seconds to play for not forcing UNC to take action. Ford hit the free throw and another free throw six seconds later as Carolina triumphed, 101-100. UNC's winning effort was led by Davis (31 points, 12 rebounds), Kupchak (16 points, 14 rebounds) and Ford (25 points).

In the 1975 semifinals Clemson came back from 11 down at the half to force overtime. A tip-in basket by Kupchak gave Carolina an overtime lead it would not relinquish. Ford led UNC with 29, including 15 of 18 from the free throw line.

In the championship game against defending NCAA champion N.C. State, Ford excelled running the "Four Corners." Carolina took the lead, 56-55, on a jumper by Davis with nine minutes left and then went into its delay offense. Ford hit two baskets in the next two and one-half minutes, and N.C. State did not score during a 5:18 stretch, paving the way for a 70-66 Tar Heel victory. Ford (26 points per game) was the MVP and was joined on the first-team by Kupchak (13.7 points, 13.7 rebounds). Davis netted 19 points and grabbed 7.7 rebounds over the three games.

Wolter Davis poured in 31 points in Carolino's 1975 quorterfinal victory over Wake Forest in Greensboro.

No. 1 seed Carolina met No. 7 Virginia in the finals of the 1977 Tournament. Ford scored 19 points in the first half, but the Cavaliers led by one at the break. Virginia led 64-56 with 7:08 remaining, but over the next 5:03 the Tar Heels blitzed the Wahoos, 15-1. Freshman Mike O'Koren and John Kuester led the final charge after Ford fouled out with 5:45 to play and UVa still holding a 64-61 advantage. A layup by Tom Zaliagaris gave the Tar Heels the lead with 4:22 left and a layup by Bruce Buckley with 3:37 to play broke a 67-all tie and gave UNC the lead for good. Kuester's take-charge attitude and perfect free throw shooting earned him the tournament's MVP award. Ford and O'Koren were also first-team selections.

At the end of the 1979 regular season, Carolina and Duke were tied atop the ACC standings. Duke defeated UNC in the final game of the regular season, but the Tar Heels won the draw for the tournament's top seed and first-round bye. Carolina defeated Maryland, 102-79, in the semifinal, as five Tar Heels scored in double figures. Al Wood led with 19 points on 8 of 10 shooting.

The tournament ended just as the regular season had — a contest between the Blue Devils and Carolina. O'Koren led five Tar Heels in double figures with 18 points as the UNC prevailed, 71-63. Dudley Bradley scored 16 points with seven steals and four assists and earned MVP honors. O'Koren had 18 points and eight rebounds and was 10 for 11 from the free throw line. The Tar Heels turned the ball over just seven times and forced 14 Duke miscues. O'Koren and Dave Colescott, averaging 15 and 12.5 points per game in the tournament, respectively, also were first-team selections.

■ THE EIGHTIES

The Tar Heels struck fast in the '80s, claiming their first title of the decade in 1981. UNC beat Wake Forest, 58-57, in the semifinal as Mike Pepper nailed a 16-foot jumper with eight seconds to play for the victory. Freshman Sam Perkins scored 18 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, James Worthy added 12 points and 11 rebounds and Pepper had 12 points to pace the Tar Heels. The Deacons led 53-46 with 9:40 to play but Pepper and Perkins each hit two baskets. The second basket by Perkins gave UNC a 56-55 lead with 4:12 to play. Alvis Rogers hit an 11-foot jumper to give Wake the lead back with 1:30 to play, but Pepper hit the game-winner with eight seconds to go.

Carolina and Maryland met in the 1981 final in the Capital Centre in Landover, Md. The game was tied seven times in the second half, but the Tar Heels finally went ahead for good with 2:53 to play on a Jimmy Black steal and layup. Wood scored twice in the final 2:00 to help UNC to a 61-60 triumph.

Perkins (17.7 points, 8.3 rebounds) became just the second freshman ever, and first since Ford, to be named the Everett Case Award winner. Worthy (13 points, 7.7 rebounds) joined Perkins as a first-team all-tournament selection.

In 1982 No. 1 Carolina led No. 2 Virginia, 34-31, at halftime behind 16 points by Worthy.

Freshman Michael Jordan scored four of the Tar Heels' first five field goals in the second half. His fourth straight field goal, with 8:44 to play, actually was Carolina's last of the game. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 remaining, Carolina spread the floor and held the ball. Virginia fouled six times over the next 7:06, putting Matt Doherty on the foul line for 1-and-1 with 28 seconds left. Doherty hit the first for a two-point edge. Virginia committed a turnover with three seconds to play, Doherty hit two free throws with a second left and Ralph Sampson dunked uncontested with one second to go for the final margin of 47-45, UNC. The field goal by Sampson was the first by the Cavaliers since the 7:34 mark.

Worthy (13.3 points, 8 rebounds), Perkins (9.7 points, 7.3 rebounds) and Jordan (11.7 points, 3 rebounds) were named to the first-team all-tournament team, with Worthy being named the MVP.

Carolina reached the ACC Tournament championship game four more times in the '80s but did not win another team title until 1989. Carolina breezed to the championship game, recording a 15-point rout of Georgia Tech in the quarterfinal and a 30-point romp over eighth-seeded Maryland.

The 1989 ACC championship game was one of the great meetings ever between Carolina and Duke. Earlier in the year, playing without senior point guard Jeff Lebo, UNC toppled undefeated and No. 1-ranked Duke by 20 points in Cameron Indoor Stadium. The Blue Devils ended the regular-season, however, with a two-point win over the Tar Heels in the Smith Center.

The ACC Tournament finale was one of the fiercest, most intense games in conference history. The Tar Heels committed 26 turnovers and forced 18 mistakes by the Blue Devils. Junior center J.R. Reid and senior guard Steve Bucknall led the Tar Heels. Reid had 14 points and nine rebounds; Bucknall had 10 points and five assists. Carolina led 20-8 early but Duke rallied to within four at the half.The game was tied five times in the second half and Duke led just one time, with 5:28 to play. Bucknall hit a driving basket and subsequent free throw with 1:46 remaining to break a 66 tie. Bucknall and King Rice hit four straight free throws apiece to clinch the win.

Reid (16.0 points, 8.0 rebounds per game) won the Everett Case Award. Lebo (10.7 points, 3.0 assists), Bucknall (10.3 points, 5.3 assists) and Rick Fox (12.0 points, .619 shooting percentage) were also all-tournament selections.

■ THE NINETIES

Two years after taking out Duke in the 1989 championship game, Carolina again gave the Blue Devils nightmares in 1991. After hard-fought victories over Clemson and Virginia, the Tar Heels met a Duke team that had swept the regular-season series from UNC. Carolina raced out to a 15-4 lead and thrashed Duke, 96-74. Fox made 10 of 16 field goal attempts for 25 points and Hubert Davis netted 17. Rice had 12 points and seven assists and did not commit a single turnover. Fox averaged 17.3 points and 9 rebounds over the three games and was named the MVP. Davis averaged 13.7 points and hit nearly 64 percent from three-point range in the tournament.

The 1994 ACC Tournament marked a record 13th title for the Tar Heels. Carolina faced Wake Forest in the semifinal in what proved to be one of the most exciting games in the history of the ACC Tournament. Wake Forest led, 76-70, with 2:15 to play in regulation, but UNC point guard Derrick Phelps helped cut the lead to three with 11 seconds to play. Phelps made the first of two free throws and then rebounded his own miss. He fed sophomore guard Dante Calabria who drove the lane and hit a twisting bank shot with three seconds left for a tie at 81.

Carolina led 84-81 in overtime until a three-pointer by Rusty LaRue tied the game with 39 seconds left. Freshman Jerry Stackhouse, the Tournament's MVP, hit the game-winner for the Tar Heels on a baseline move with five seconds on the clock. Wake Forest guard Randolph Childress, who scored 31 points, just missed a long three-pointer as the clock expired.

Stackhouse's 14 points and seven rebounds and Eric Montross' 12 points and nine rebounds led Carolina past Virginia, 73-66, in the 1994 title game.

Wake Forest edged Carolina, 82-80, in the 1995 championship game as Childress scored 37 points, including all nine of his team's points in overtime. The teams traded leads in the second half, but the Tar Heels were forced to play without injured All-America center Rasheed Wallace. Wallace had scored 33 points against Joe Smith and Maryland in an overtime win in the semifinals, but sprained an ankle with just over six minutes to play in the final. Stackhouse had 24 points in the final. He drained a three-pointer with 4.5 seconds remaining in regulation to send the game into overtime, but just missed a three at the final buzzer which would have won the game and the title.

In 1997, the Tar Heels rallied from an 0-3 start in ACC play to finish in a tie for second place. Carolina then swept past Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim its 14th conference crown.

Shammond Williams earned MVP honors averaging 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in the three games.

Antawn Jamison scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and freshman point guard Ed Cota had 11 points and 10 assists in the 78-68 quarterfinal win over Virginia. Williams made eight of 11 shots, including four of seven three-pointers, in an 86-73 triumph over the Demon Deacons in the semifinals.

In the championship game, Williams again led Carolina with 23 points, nine of which came on a trio of three-point baskets in a 2:02 span midway through the second half. Jamison added 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds. Carolina shot 59.0 percent from the floor, the third-highest ever by the winning team in an ACC final.

In 1998, Carolina defended its ACC Tournament championship for the first time since 1981-82 with victories over N.C. State, Maryland and Duke. Those wins avenged regular-season losses against the same three opponents. Jamison injured a muscle in the overtime win over the Terrapins in the semifinal, and was questionable for Sunday's championship game. However, Jamison was relentless against the Blue Devils, sparking UNC to a 15-point win over the nation's top-ranked team with a 22-point, 18-rebound effort that ranks as one of the finest in championship game history.

Jamison had 25 points in the opening round win over the Wolfpack. The Tar Heels trailed throughout much of the second half against Maryland, but rallied behind Shammond Williams to force overtime. Williams added 10 points in the extra stanza to lead Carolina to an 83-73 triumph.

Carolina's win over Duke in the championship game was UNC's sixth in eight title game matchups against the Blue Devils. The game was tied at 57 with less than 11 minutes to play, but the Tar Heels reeled off the next 13 points. Carolina finished the game shooting 54.4 percent from the floor, while Duke hit on just 32.8 percent of its field goal attempts. Williams and Vince Carter had 19 and 16 points, respectively.

Last year, Carolina defeated fifth-ranked Maryland, 86-79, in the semifinal to reach the championship game for the third straight year and the eighth time in the 1990s. Sophomore Max Owens scored a career-high 23 points, Ademola Okulaja added 19 points, four assists and three steals and Jason Capel shook off a back injury to score 13 points to lead Carolina to the improbable victory. The Terps had knocked off the Tar Heels by 13 points in Chapel Hill in January and by 17 in College Park a month before the ACC Tournament. But the Tar Heels built a 23-point lead midway through the second half and withstood a Terrapin rally that cut the margin to four points with 26 seconds to play. Duke defeated Carolina, 96-73, to win the title.

Keith Worrell

Derrick Phelps and the Tar Heels won an 86-84 overtime thriller over Wake Forest in the semifinals on the way to the 1994 ACC title.

1999-2000 NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL

FANTASTIC FINISHES

If you ask opposing coaches and fans, they will likely tell you that when they line up against the Tar Heels, virtually no lead is a safe one until the final buzzer has sounded. Amazing comebacks and heart-stopping finishes have been a Carolina trademark. Many of the most memorable wins in UNC history have occurred when the Tar Heels overcame large deficits or hit clutch shots in late-game situations.

That sense of the dramatic may have been initiated in Chapel Hill by the 1957 national champions, but it was perfected by Coach Dean Smith. What Tar Heel follower could ever forget Walter Davis's 28-foot prayer against Duke in 1974; or the 20-point comeback against Wake Forest in 1992; or George Lynch's steal and dunk to overcome a 21-point deficit against Florida State in 1993.

Carolina fans remember that in the last four wins of the 1993 NCAA title drive, the Tar Heels trailed by at least double digits in all four contests; and the 1995-96 season in which Carolina rallied to beat Wake Forest and Duke in a span of four days despite a second-half deficit of 18 points to the Deacons and a 17-point, late first-half deficit against the Devils.

As shocking as those comebacks seemed to be at the time, they simply are added chapters to the great comeback story authored for so many years by Coach Smith's Carolina teams. His teams revel in the challenge of a game many observers would be too quick to call lost. The poise, discipline and belief in each other which have been the calling card of UNC teams for the past 35 years, manifest themselves in such situations.

Dean Smith has turned the program, and Carolina's calling card for late-game success, over to Bill Guthridge. In Guthridge's first year as head coach, the Tar Heels won four overtime games, including a 107-100, double overtime win at Georgia Tech, and overtime wins in the ACC Tournament semifinal and NCAA Tournament second round. Last year, UNC added two more overtime triumphs.

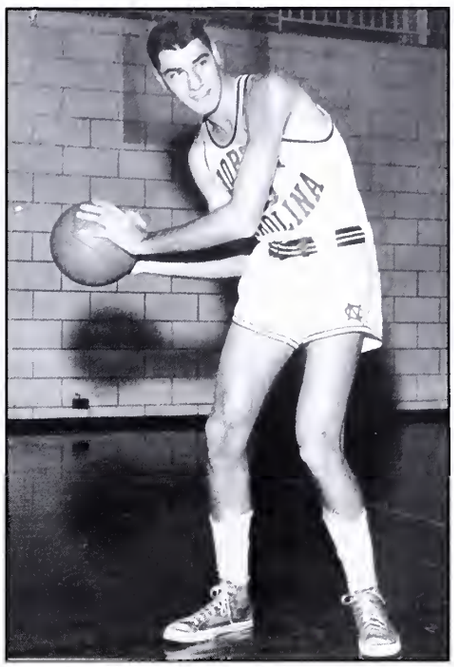
■ 1957 SEASON

In Carolina's incredible 32-0 national championship season, the Tar Heels had to pull out several thrillers to preserve their perfect record. In the fourth game of the season, South Carolina took the Heels to overtime in Columbia before UNC prevailed, 90-86. The 17th win was a double-overtime contest, this time against Maryland in College Park. The Tar Heels trailed by four with just two minutes left in regulation before emerging as the 65-61 victors. The next game was at home in Woollen Gym against Duke, and the score was tied with a minute to play. Tommy Kearns' free throws provided the winning margin in the 18th consecutive win, 75-73. The 23rd win was one of Carolina's many battles with Wake Forest that season. Trailing by four with just three minutes remaining in Winston-Salem, the Tar Heels pulled out a 69-64 win. Only three games later, the Heels met the Deacons again in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament semifinals in Raleigh. Carolina trailed with less than a minute left, but squeaked out a 61-59 win for its fourth victory over Wake Forest of the 1956-57 season. In the NCAA Tournament, the close contests continued. In the national semifinals, the Spartans of Michigan State went three overtime periods with Carolina before falling, 74-70. Pete Brennan hit a jump shot with only three seconds left in double overtime to force the third extra frame. The NCAA championship game began with 5-11 Tommy Kearns jumping center against 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain of the Kansas Jayhawks and ended in an epic battle that went three overtimes. Tar Heel star Lennie Rosenbluth fouled out of his last college game in regulation, but the rest of the team picked up the slack. Joe Quigg hit two free throws with only six seconds remaining in the final overtime period to give Carolina a 54-53 win. In October of 1999, Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 NCAA title game as its second-favorite game of alltime.



Lennie Rasenbluth and the Tar Heels wan triple-avertime thrillers in bath Final Faur games ta win the 1957 NCAA title.

The Caralina bench jumps far joy as Charlie Scatt hits the game-winner as time expires and the Tar Heels defeat Davidsan, 87-85, in the 1969 NCAA East Regianal Final. The victary gave UNC its third straight Final Faur berth.

■ CAROLINA 76, WAKE FOREST 64 JANUARY 4, 1967

Playing in Winston-Salem, Carolina was engaged in one of its many classic battles with the Wake Forest Demon Deacons. It seemed as though this was the Deacons' game to win, however, when Tom Gauntlett missed a 23-foot jumper with 15 seconds left that would have tied the game for Carolina. But the Tar Heels' Rusty Clark was there for the tip-in and the score stood at 74-74. Wake Forest brought the ball upcourt for its game-winning attempt, but Larry Miller came up with a steal at halfcourt. Miller drove to the basket, made an off-balance layup and just kept on running straight to the Carolina locker room. The Tar Heels ran out of Winston-Salem with another last-second victory, 76-74.

Walter Davis copped on eight-point comeback in the finol 17 seconds with this 28-foot shot ot the buzzer on Morch 2, 1974. Corolino went on to down Duke, 96-92, in overtime.

■ CAROLINA 86, UTAH 84 DECEMBER 29, 1967

In the semifinals of the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore., Carolina faced unbeaten Utah. The Utes sprinted out to a 54-41 halftime lead and, with 14:34 left in the contest, they had extended their lead to 67-50. But, led by Charlie Scott and Larry Miller, the Tar Heels staged a furious comeback. With just two minutes left, Dick Grubar scored his first basket of the game and tied the score at 82-82. Then, with the score tied at 84 apiece, Scott hit the game-winning shot with eight seconds to go. Both Scott and Miller finished with 24 points, and Carolina went on to defeat Oregon State the following day to win the tournament title.

■ CAROLINA 85, DUKE 74 MARCH 8, 1969

On this day it was Charlie Scott who provided the heroics in Carolina's ACC Tournament championship win over Duke in Charlotte. Dick Grubar missed most of the game with a knee injury and Bill Bunting played only sparingly before fouling out with 9:26 left. The Tar Heels trailed by nine at the half before Scott put on one of the greatest individual performances in Carolina history in the second 20 minutes. He connected on 12 of his 13 second-half field goal attempts, many of which were long jumpers, and scored 28 points in the half. Scott's game-high 40 points led the Tar Heels to a come-from-behind 85-74 win and their third consecutive ACC crown.

■ CAROLINA 87, DAVIDSON 85 MARCH 15, 1969

A week later, Scott again put on one of his amazing performances, almost single-handedly carrying the Tar Heels to victory. This time the opponent was Davidson and the setting was the NCAA East Regional final in College Park, Md. Scott was dazzling in the second half, connecting on 10 of 14 field goal attempts. Dick Grubar was out of action with a knee injury, but Carolina stayed close. Davidson had the ball with 1:05 remaining, and the score tied, 85-85. Gerald Tuttle drew a charge for the Tar Heels, setting up the final possession of the game. Carolina ran a play for Scott, who took the ball at the top of the key, soared above a defender and launched a 20-footer with three seconds left. The ball sailed through the hoop, the buzzer sounded and the Heels were off to their third-consecutive Final Four.

■ CAROLINA 73, DUKE 71 JANUARY 19, 1974

In a vintage Carolina-Duke hardcourt battle, the Tar Heels defeated the Blue Devils on another last-second shot at Cameron Indoor Stadium in Durham. After the Tar Heels had rallied to tie the score at 71-71, Duke had the ball at halfcourt with four seconds left. But Bobby Jones stole the inbounds pass and hit a spinning, off-balance layup with one second left to give Carolina a 73-71 win.

■ CAROLINA 96, DUKE 92 (OT) MARCH 2, 1974

In perhaps the most famous comeback in college basketball history, the Tar Heels rallied from eight points down with 17 seconds remaining against Duke to force overtime at Carmichael Auditorium. Trailing 86-78, Bobby Jones connected on both ends of a one-and-one with just 17 ticks left on the clock. John Kuester cut the deficit to four with a layup when Duke threw away the inbounds pass, but there were still just 13 seconds left. Again, the Blue Devils lost the inbounds pass. Jones then cut the Duke lead to two on a put-back of an Ed Stahl miss. Six seconds remained. With four seconds left, the Tar Heels fouled Pete Kramer, who missed the front end of the one-and-one. Stahl grabbed the rebound and called a timeout with but three ticks left. Mitch Kupchak inbounded the ball to Walter Davis, who launched a 28-foot prayer as time expired. The prayer was answered as Davis' shot kissed off the glass to tie the score at 86-86. Carmichael Auditorium erupted and Carolina went on to win 96-92 in overtime.

■ CAROLINA 101, WAKE FOREST 100 (OT) MARCH 6, 1975

In the opening round of the ACC Tournament in Greensboro, Carolina trailed Wake Forest 90-82 with only 50 seconds remaining. A 20-footer by Phil Ford cut the deficit to six with 43 ticks left. After the Demon Deacons turned the ball over in their delay offense, Mitch Kupchak scored on a drive to the hoop to pull the Tar Heels within four with 34 seconds to go. Wake Forest's inbounds pass grazed the scoreboard, turning the ball over to Carolina. Walter Davis quickly capitalized on the mistake, making the score 90-88 with 29 seconds left. Two Deacons failed to convert their one-and-one opportunities and Carolina called timeout with nine seconds on the clock. Brad Hoffman drove the baseline and nailed a 12-footer to tie the game with two seconds left. The Tar Heels pulled out the 101-100 win in overtime and went on to capture the ACC title two days later.

■ CAROLINA 70, NC STATE 69

Playing at Reynolds Coliseum on the campus of NC State, it looked as though the Tar Heels would finally have the tables turned against them. Carolina charged out to a 40-19 halftime lead and was seemingly in control of the game. With 10:30 to play, the Heels still led by 17, but then the Wolfpack hit a torrid streak. State had cut the Carolina lead to three with 43 seconds to play when Hawkeye Whitney went to the line for the Wolfpack. At the same time, Carolina's Jimmy Black was whistled for a technical foul and Whitney hit two of the three free throws to cut the Wolfpack's deficit to one. After the inbounds play, Kenny Matthews hit a long-range jumper with 32 seconds left that gave State a 69-68 lead. Reynolds erupted. Carolina tried to regain the lead, but Dudley Bradley missed a long jump shot and State grabbed the rebound with 16 seconds left. Reynolds celebrated. But Bradley atoned for his miss when he stole the ball from State's Clyde Austin at midcourt and drove in for the game-winning dunk. A Wolfpack desperation shot bounded off the glass and Carolina escaped with a 70-69 triumph.

■ CAROLINA 70, TULANE 68 (3 OT)
NOVEMBER 30, 1982

Coming off their 1982 national championship, the Tar Heels had opened the season with losses to St. John's and Missouri before returning to Carmichael for the home opener. The opponent was the Green Wave of Tulane, which had taken Carolina to the wire several times over the years. With the score tied at 49-49, Tulane's John Williams hit a layup with 1:29 remaining to put the Wave up by two. With just 36 seconds left, Michael Jordan scored on an offensive rebound to tie the game. But with eight seconds left, Williams made two free throws to give Tulane a 53-51 edge. Jordan was whistled for an offensive foul with four seconds remaining, and it appeared the Heels would start a season with three successive losses for the first time since 1928-29. However, Jordan came up with the Green Wave's inbounds pass and hit a spinning 24-foot prayer at the buzzer to tie the game. Carolina finally prevailed, 70-68, after three thrilling overtime periods.

■ CAROLINA 64, VIRGINIA 63
FEBRUARY 10, 1983

Carolina trailed Ralph Sampson and second-ranked Virginia by as many as 16 points in the second half and was down 63-53 with just 4:12 left on the clock. Jimmy Braddock hit a long three-pointer from the right side to cut the margin to seven, and Matt Doherty made both ends of a one-and-one to close the gap to five. Sam Perkins also converted his one-and-one to trim the Cavalier lead to 63-60 with 2:54 remaining. Terry Holland then had Virginia stall and Perkins was forced to foul Sampson with 1:20 left. The All-America center missed the front end of his one-and-one and Michael Jordan proceeded to take over the game. Braddock missed a three-pointer, but Jordan was there to put in the rebound. As Rick Carlisle dribbled the ball upcourt for the Cavaliers, Jordan stole it and slammed it home for a 64-63 Tar Heel lead. Carlisle missed a potential game-winning shot and Jordan grabbed the rebound to seal the win as Carmichael exploded in celebration.

■ CAROLINA 75, MARYLAND 74
JANUARY 9, 1985

Late in Lefty Driesell's career at College Park, Maryland seemed poised to knock off Carolina at Carmichael Auditorium. The Terps led 72-69 with only 23 seconds left and star guard Keith Gatlin on the line for a one-and-one opportunity. The 83 percent foul shooter missed the front end and Kenny Smith rushed upcourt and sank a jump shot with 16 seconds left. Steve Hale fouled Adrian Branch, a 78-percent free-throw shooter, on the inbounds pass. Branch also missed. Dave Popson provided the winning points with a high-arcing jumper over Maryland defender Derrick Lewis from 16 feet away. The swish at 0:09 gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 lead. Curtis Hunter's steal and free throws secured the win as Carolina prevailed, 75-74.

■ CAROLINA 60, NOTRE DAME 58
MARCH 16, 1985

In the second round of the NCAA Tournament, the higher-seeded Tar Heels played Notre Dame at South Bend. The score was tied 58-58 with 1:38 to go when the Irish's Donald Royal went to the foul stripe. Royal missed, but Jim Dolan grabbed the rebound and the Irish decided to hold for the last shot. As the clock wound down, point guard David Rivers lost control of the ball, enabling Carolina's Curtis Hunter to scoop it up and make a lead pass to Kenny Smith. Smith slammed it home for the game-winning shot and then stole the inbounds pass to seal the win.

■ CAROLINA 96, SYRACUSE 93 (OT)
NOVEMBER 21, 1987

Carolina was pitted against top-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass. Playing without standouts J.R. Reid and Steve Bucknall, the Tar Heels seemingly were undermanned against the powerful Orangemen, who a season earlier were NCAA finalists. Indeed, with 15:39 left in the game, Syracuse had built a 14-point lead. But Carolina stormed back, and Syracuse led only 85-83 when the Tar Heels had the last possession of regulation. Freshman Pete Chilcutt hit a rim-rattling, turnaround jumper at the horn to send the game to overtime. Carolina prevailed, 96-93, in the extra session to complete the upset of the Orangemen.

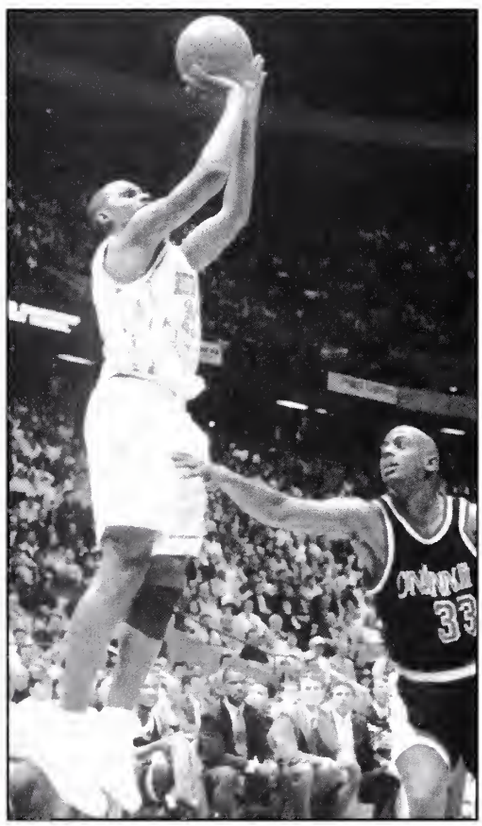
■ CAROLINA 80, JAMES MADISON 79
NOVEMBER 24, 1989

In Carolina's season opener against James Madison at the Maui Classic, the Tar Heels trailed, 79-70, with less than a minute to play. Rick Fox started the Carolina surge with a rebound basket with 51 seconds remaining. Hubert Davis stole the ball three seconds later and canned a three-pointer to cut the margin to 79-75. The Dukes' Billy Coles missed the front end of a one-and-one with 18 seconds left and Pete Chilcutt drilled a trey to cut the deficit to one with 10 ticks remaining. Steve Hood also missed a one-and-one attempt for James Madison, but Jeff Denny's pass upcourt was stolen by the Dukes' William Davis. However, Davis stepped out of bounds, giving Carolina one last shot. King Rice threw up an off-balance runner from the top of the key and the ball banked high off the glass and in as the buzzer sounded. Final score, 80-79 Carolina. It was not the first time James Madison coach Lefty Driesell had been the victim of a Tar Heel miracle.



Donald Williams and the Tar Heels defeated Cincinnati in overtime to advance to the 1993 Final Four and went on to win the national championship.

■ CAROLINA 79, OKLAHOMA 77
MARCH 17, 1990

Facing the top-ranked team in the country in the NCAA Tournament second round, Carolina was in jeopardy of not advancing to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1980. The Tar Heels trailed the Oklahoma Sooners, 74-73, with 55 seconds to play when Rick Fox nailed a three-pointer from 25 feet away with the shot clock winding down. The Sooners countered with a conventional three-point play and led, 77-76, when King Rice was fouled with 10 seconds left. Rice hit the first shot, but missed the second. The rebound hit off the Sooners out-of-bounds and Carolina had the ball with eight seconds to go and a 77-77 score. Fox took a pass from Hubert Davis and drove the right baseline. His kiss off the glass as the buzzer sounded gave the Tar Heels a 79-77 win and a 10th consecutive Final 16 berth.

■ CAROLINA 89, VIRGINIA 86 (2 OT)

Carolina engaged the Cavaliers of Virginia in a classic battle in Charlottesville, but the game became a one-on-one contest between point guards King Rice and John Crotty at crunch time. Trailing 69-64 with 2:10 left in regulation, the Heels came back and tied the score at 71 on Rice's drive with 31 seconds left. Virginia trailed, 78-75, in the first overtime when Crotty hit a three-pointer with 12 seconds left to play to force a second extra session. With Carolina leading 86-84 in the second overtime, Crotty evened the score with a pair of free throws at 0:26. But Rice came back and rattled in a shot over Crotty with one second left, capping another UNC last-second win.

Just three days after knocking off top-ranked Duke, Carolina rallied from 22 points behind to defeat Wake Forest, 80-78, on Brian Reese's jumper at the buzzer in Chapel Hill. The comeback was the biggest in terms of point deficit (22) in Tar Heel history. Despite making several mini-runs to cut that 22-point first-half deficit, UNC was behind by 20 with 14:49 to play and still trailed by 11 with 6:17 to go. The Tar Heels then went on a 10-0 run to cut the Demon Deacon lead to 75-74. Then, with 38 seconds remaining, Pat Sullivan tied the game at 78 with a pair of free throws – his only shots of the game. Reese came up with a steal that set up one final possession for Carolina with 16 seconds to go. After a timeout, Reese drove the lane and misfired off the front rim. But he followed his shot, grabbed his own rebound and launched a swish at the buzzer from 12 feet away to give the Heels an improbable 80-78 win. The final score was Carolina's first lead since it led, 3-2.

Carolina overcame a 22-point deficit to beat Wake Forest on February 22, 1992. Brian Reese hit the game-winner on an eight-foot jumper as time expired.

■ CAROLINA 82, FLORIDA STATE 77

One of the most memorable second-half comebacks in Carolina history came against Florida State on January 27, 1993. Seminole head coach Pat Kennedy spent the pregame browsing through the Carolina media guide, reading about the great Tar Heel comebacks of the past. Kennedy surely was unaware that his team would soon become another chapter in that storied history.

Florida State jumped out to a 45-28 advantage at the half and extended the lead to as many as 21 points in the second stanza. With under nine minutes to go, Carolina still trailed, 73-54. Spurred by pressure defense and long-range shooting, the Heels ran off 15 straight points to cut the deficit to four. Later, an Eric Montross jump hook with 1:59 left cut the FSU lead to 77-76. Then, in a play reminiscent of a Michael Jordan exploit against Virginia 10 years earlier, George Lynch stole a Charlie Ward crosscourt heave at midcourt and slammed the ball home to give Carolina a 78-77 lead. Clutch foul shooting by Donald Williams sealed the 82-77 victory. The Tar Heels had amazingly outscored the Seminoles 28-4 over the last nine minutes to end the game.

■ 1993 NCAA TOURNAMENT

In the run to Carolina's fourth national championship, the Tar Heels had to overcome double-digit deficits on three different occasions against tough tournament competition. In the East Regional semifinal at the Meadowlands, Carolina trailed a quick and deep Arkansas team, 25-14, more than 10 minutes into the first half. Sparked by George Geargе Lynch's steal and dunk capped a 28-4 Tar Heel rally as UNC avercame a 19-paint secand-half deficit and defeated Florida State, 82-77, an January 27, 1993.

Lynch and Donald Williams, however, the Heels went on a 14-3 run to tie the game at 28. Carolina again fell behind 38-31 before knotting the score at 45 at halftime and eventually prevailing 80-74. Two days later in the regional final, the Tar Heels trailed Cincinnati 29-14 with under seven minutes remaining in the first half. The Bearcats' Nick Van Exel hit his sixth three-pointer of the half with 4:50 remaining to chalk up his 21st point and a 33-20 lead. But led by Derrick Phelps' suffocating defense on Van Exel, Carolina cut the deficit to one by halftime, held Van Exel to only two more points in the final 20 minutes and pulled out a 75-68 overtime win. After defeating Kansas in the Final Four in New Orleans, the Tar Heels fell behind Michigan 23-13 in the national championship game. Carolina then went on a 12-2 run to tie the game, capped off by a 22-foot three-pointer by Donald Williams. Carolina took a 42-36 halftime lead and went on to win the title, 77-71.

■ CAROLINA 86, WAKE FOREST 84 (OT)
MARCH 12, 1994

In the semifinals of the 1994 ACC Tournament, the Tar Heels overcame 31 points and 10 assists from Wake Forest junior guard Randolph Childress and erased a five-point deficit in the final 1:15 of regulation to down the Demon Deacons, 86-84 in overtime. With an 81-78 lead, Wake coach Dave Odom called a time out and instructed guard Charlie Harrison to foul Carolina's Derrick Phelps with 11.8 seconds left. Phelps made the first free throw and missed the second, but he grabbed the rebound and dribbled to the left side of the court. He found Dante Calabria on the opposite side of the lane and Calabria's baseline drive and basket with 3.8 ticks left on the clock in regulation tied the score at 81, forcing the extra stanza. After a low-scoring overtime, Tar Heel freshman Jerry Stackhouse, who was later named the tournament MVP, took a pass from Phelps and sunk a driving shot in traffic to win the game, 86-84. Carolina went on to win its 13th ACC title the next day with a hard-fought 73-66 victory over Virginia.

■ CAROLINA 62, WAKE FOREST 61

UNC again victimized Wake Forest in what would be the first of two comeback road wins over in-state rivals in the span of five days. Winston-Salem was the stage for an epic battle between centers Tim Duncan and Rasheed Wallace. The Demon Deacons' Duncan, who finished the game with 18 points, 17 rebounds and seven blocked shots, and Carolina's Wallace, with totals of 17 points, 10 rebounds and three blocks, each showed the stuff that made them first-team All-ACC honorees at the close of the season. Carolina did not score during a five-minute stretch of the second half and trailed Wake Forest by 10, 53-43 with 6:39 left. Strong inside play from Wallace and the timely three-point shooting of Jeff McInnis and Donald Williams brought the Heels back within one at 61-60. Williams then hit a running one-hander from the right of the lane with 5.5 seconds remaining to seal a 62-61 win.

■ CAROLINA 102, DUKE 100 (2 OT)
FEBRUARY 2, 1995

Five days later, Carolina and Duke waged one of the finest battles in the history of the greatest rivalry in college basketball. It was a game of surges that seemed at times as if it would never end. The Tar Heels jumped out to an early, 26-9 lead on a reverse dunk by Jerry Stackhouse over two Blue Devil players and the ensuing free throw. Duke's three-point shooting pulled the Blue Devils within five at halftime and gave them the lead by as many as 12 midway through the second half. UNC then mounted a comeback of its own, battling back from a nine-point deficit with 6:18 to play to force overtime. The Tar Heels raced out to a nine-point lead in the first extra stanza, but four Duke three-pointers, including a running 30-footer from Blue Devil sophomore Jeff Capel at the buzzer, knotted the score at 95 and forced a second overtime. The clutch shooting of Donald Williams and a steal and basket by Jeff McInnis with under a minute to play sealed Carolina's 102-100, double-overtime win. The 202 points between the two teams were the most points ever scored in a UNC-Duke game.

■ CAROLINA 65, WAKE FOREST 59

UNC actually had more turnovers than field goals in the first half and trailed Wake Forest by 14 at halftime, 42-28. The Deacons stretched the lead to 18 (41-23) with 17:23 left in the game before freshman Antawn Jamison ignited the UNC comeback. Jamison had a three-point play at 16:17 to cut the lead to 13, at 15:41 to cut it to 11 and then he followed an Ademola Okulaja three-pointer with yet another put-back basket at 12:00 to get the deficit to single digits at 43-35.

Ricky Peral and Tim Duncan scored successive baskets to build the Wake lead back to 12 with 10:56 to play, but from that point on the Tar Heels outscored the Deacons, 30-12. Jeff McInnis scored in the lane, Dante Calabria banked one high off the glass and a layup by Jamison made it six. Wake led by seven with 7:09 to play after a dunk by Duncan, but Carolina then went on a 12-3 tear to take the lead. Okulaja pulled down an offensive board to keep a possession alive which ended with a three from the right corner by Calabria to close within four points. Vince Carter hit a baseline jumper to cut it to one and with 2:24 to play Okulaja buried a three from the left wing for a 56-54 UNC lead.

Tony Rutland dropped in a three late in the shot clock with 1:49 to play for the Deacons' final lead of the game at 57-56. McInnis stole the ball after a UNC miss and hit a runner in the lane over Duncan to give Carolina the lead for good at 58-57 with 1:09 to play. McInnis and Shammond Williams each made a pair of free throws, with 38 and 15 seconds left, respectively, and Carter capped the scoring with a reverse, alley-oop dunk from McInnis.

■ CAROLINA 73, DUKE 72

Duke led UNC, 37-20, with 4:32 to play in the opening half and by 12, 42-30, at the half. Carolina pulled within two at 44-42 with 14:14 to play, but the Blue Devils extended the lead to 11 points at 63-52 with 8:44 remaining. A jumper in the lane by Vince Carter, a tip-in by Antawn Jamison and a three-pointer by Shammond Williams trimmed Duke's lead to 63-59 and free throws by Ademola Okulaja and Jeff McInnis narrowed the gap to one. Ricky Price, who scored 20 for Duke, hit a three-pointer with 4:54 to play for a 67-63 advantage. The Blue Devils' lead was three when Okulaja grabbed an offensive rebound and scored to make it 69-68 Duke with 1:55 to go. Steve Wojciechowski hit a three-pointer at the top of the circle for a 72-68 Duke lead with 1:13 to play, but Williams countered with a three of his own with 58 seconds left. Duke turned the ball over right in front of the Blue Devil bench, and the Tar Heels nearly returned the favor but a hustling Williams forced a jump ball after a wild scramble near midcourt. Possession favored the Tar Heels and Carolina had one last chance.

McInnis drove into the lane and fed Zwikker on the low block. Zwikker's shot was deflected by Greg Newton, but Calabria tipped the ball in for a 73-72 lead. Duke had one final chance to win, but Price's baseline jumper at the buzzer hit the front of the rim and bounced away.

■ CAROLINA 59, NC STATE 56
JANUARY 15, 1997

The Tar Heels began ACC play with three straight losses for the first time in history and a fourth consecutive loss seemed imminent. Carolina led 36-28 at halftime, but did not score a field goal in the second half until the 8:09 mark and had just two baskets in the first 18 minutes of the second stanza. The Wolfpack led 56-47 with 2:00 to play, but that's when the Tar Heels went on a 12-0 run to finish the game. Antawn Jamison began the rally by forcing a steal in the backcourt and Shammond Williams hit a layup to pull within seven. Williams hit a three-pointer and Jamison added a layup to pull within two points with 50 seconds to play. Trailing by one with 28 seconds left, Carolina fouled and the strategy worked as State missed the front end of a one-and-one. The Tar Heels went ahead for good with 12 seconds to play as Ademola Okulaja fed Jamison on the low block for a layup. Vince Carter stole the inbounds pass after the go-ahead score to secure the win.

■ CAROLINA 45, NC STATE 44
FEBRUARY 12, 1997

This 45-44 UNC win is the lowest scoring victory in Dean Smith's 36 years as head coach. The Tar Heels trailed 28-19 at the half and fell behind by 11 moments after halftime. Carolina chipped away at the Pack's lead and pulled within 42-41 with 7:25 to play on a dunk by Antawn Jamison. Neither team scored for the next 5:22 until a Damon Thornton basket gave State a 44-41 advantage. Serge Zwikker scored for UNC to make it 44-43 and, with just two team fouls, Carolina began to foul to send the Pack to the line. With 12.3 seconds to play, however, Jamison forced a turnover right in front of the bench and Carolina got the ball back for one last play. Freshman point guard Ed Cota drove to the left baseline and lofted a soft lob shot which found the net with 4.5 seconds remaining. State's last-gasp shot, a three-pointer from the right wing by Danny Strong, was blocked by Vince Carter.

This running jumper with 4.5 seconds left by freshman Ed Cota lifted Carolina to a 45-44 win at NC State on February 12, 1997.

■ CAROLINA 72, GEORGIA TECH 68
FEBRUARY 15, 1997

Georgia Tech led 37-30 at the half and built its lead to 59-44 with 7:42 to play in front of a boisterous crowd in Atlanta. Carolina had to play the entire second half without senior center Serge Zwikker, who suffered a concussion in the first half. Shammond Williams and Ademola Okulaja hit three-pointers and UNC pulled within nine points with 6:37 to play. More than three minutes later, the Yellow Jackets lead remained at nine points, 67-58. From that point on, however, the Tar Heels outscored Tech, 14-1. Antawn Jamison hit three free throws, Ed Cota set up Vince Carter and Jamison for layups and the Yellow Jackets lead was down to 67-65. Cota then set up Williams for a go-ahead three from the left corner with 1:12 to play. Tech sank one free throw to tie the game, but Cota calmy sank two free throws with 33 seconds left for the win.

■ CAROLINA 82, GEORGIA 80 (OT)
DECEMBER 27, 1997

Carolina trailed Georgia, 73-66, in Athens, Ga., but outscored the Bulldogs 7-0 over the final 2:00 in regulation. Vince Carter's jumper and a tip-in by Ademola Okulaja cut the lead to three with 1:44 left. Okulaja hit three straight free throws to tie the game, the final two with just 25.3 seconds remaining. Okulaja then forced a jump ball on Georgia's last-second possession and the game went to overtime. Okulaja hit a three-pointer early in the overtime and Carolina led by five points in the extra period, but the Dawgs tied the game at 80-80 with 31.9 seconds to play. With 3.2 seconds to play, point guard Ed Cota fed Carter for the game-winning basket.

■ CAROLINA 107, GEORGIA TECH 100 (2OT)

The Tar Heels let a seven-point lead slip away in the final minute of regulation, but Shammond Williams put on an awesome three-point shooting display as Carolina prevailed, 107-100, in double overtime in Alexander Memorial Coliseum. Williams sent the game to a second overtime with a pair of free throws with six seconds left in the first extra period. In the second OT, Williams scored 12 of his career-high 42 points, including two three-pointers

The above is not even an all-encompassing list of great Carolina finishes. It is truly remarkable how the Tar Heels always seem to pull out the close games, and Carolina basketball has thus earned the title, "The Boys of Poise." Chubby Wells, a former Clemson player, expressed the frustration felt by countless teams over the years:

"When the games are close at the end, the North Carolina players know they're going to win. They know they're going to win because they're supposed to win. They're North Carolina. The bad thing is the players on the other team know it, too. That gives Carolina a great psychological edge."

1999-2000
INTERNATIONAL CONNECTION

The exceptional talent and teamwork of Tar Heel players have earned them an international reputation and allowed the Carolina style of basketball to dominate the imaginations of fans worldwide.

Nearly every summer, current Tar Heels dot the rosters of international traveling squads. Whether it be the Olympic Games, World University Games, Pan American Games or countless international all-star squads, 34 different Tar Heels have tasted the flavor of international competiton since 1965.

This past summer, Brendan Haywood and Kris Lang played for U.S. teams. Haywood was a member of the World University Games Team that won the gold medal in Spain. Lang played for the NIT All-Stars in the Cezch Republic.

Perhaps Carolina's most enduring basketball contribution on the international scence has been the presence of at least one player or former player on an Olympic Team roster in eight of the last nine Olympic Games. All totaled Carolina players and coaches have accounted for 11 gold medals, one silver medal and one bronze medal in the Olympic Games since 1964.

Most recently during the 1992 Barcelona Games, two-time National College Player of the Year and four-time NBA Most Valuable Player Michael Jordan led the inaugural Dream Team to the gold medal. Playing for the first time with professional athletes, the U.S. Olympic Team routed its opposition as Jordan led the team in scoring.

As the worldwide epitome of basketball, Jordan also led the 1984 U.S. squad to gold, averaging 17.1 points per game. Fellow 1984 Olympian Sam Perkins also found a niche for himself in worldwide competition. Perkins added 12 points and seven rebounds to the gold medal tally, and won the unequivocal respect of U.S. coach Bob Knight.

"Give me players like Perkins," Knight said, "and I'll coach forever."

The auspicious pairing of Perkins and Jordan was not untested before the 1984 Games, as the two led the U.S. during the 1983 Pan American Games. Played in Caracas, Venezuela, the Games allowed Perkins to emerge as a consistent example of Carolina style, while Jordan donated his tenacious attitude to the victorious team.

The 1992 Barcelona Olympics allowed Tar Heel standout Henrik Rodl to represent his home nation as the starting point guard for the German Olympic Team. Rodl, from Heusenstamm, Germany, saw his team fall to the USA Dream Team. In the previous game, however, Rodl put in a clutch shot which gave the Germans a one-point victory over Angola.

Power forward J.R. Reid carved out a supporting role during a U.S. bronze medal performance at the 1988 Olympics in Seoul. Against a talented Brazilian team, Reid saw Danny Manning and David Robinson accumulate early foul problems. Coming off the bench, Reid scored eight of 10 points during an American run and finished with 16 points. The Americans went on to top the Brazilians, 102-87.

Dean Smith, assisted by Bill Guthridge, coached the 1976 American Olympic team, including four Tar Heels — Mitch Kupchak, Walter Davis, Tommy LaGarde and Phil Ford. Six games and a gold medal later, Team USA had seen Kupchak contribute 19 points toward the 106-86 decision over Canada. In beating Italy, Puerto Rico, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, Smith's players amassed an 83 percent free throw average, an Olympic record.

Several other Tar Heels have represented the U.S. in Olympic competiton. Larry Brown lent his talents to the U.S. squad in the the 1964 Tokyo Games. Charlie Scott did the same in 1968 in Mexico City and Bobby Jones took the Carolina Blue to the 1972 Munich Games. Al Wood was a member of the 1980 team which was to have participated in Moscow save the American boycott of the Games that year.

The Pan American Games teams have also featured Carolina stars, including Robert McAdoo in 1971 and LaGarde in 1975. The 1979 San Juan, Puerto Rico Games ended in yet another American gold medal, a team co-captained by Tar Heel Mike O'Koren, while Jeff Lebo graced the '87 Indianapolis roster, which claimed the silver and center Eric Montross played on the 1991 team.

As well as the Pan American forum, the World University Games have also showcased past and present Tar Heel greatness — Billy Cunningham at Budapest in 1965, Larry Miller at Tokyo in 1967, Kupchak at Moscow in 1973, Davis and Lynch in Sheffield, England in 1991, and Donald Williams at Buffalo, N.Y. in 1993.

Williams represented his school with outstanding play as he joined the ranks of other World University Games players to take on collegians from around the world during the summer of 1993. Playing in Buffalo, N.Y., the World University Games squad swept all seven games and captured the gold medal. Williams' three-point contributions were critical to the success of the team.

Christmas tournaments have seen Carolina greats put on top-notch performances as well. In 1971, Carolina won the International Christmas Tournament in Madrid, Spain, defeating the prominent Real Madrid club team in the finals. In 1974, Walter Davis' half-court buzzer-beater lifted the Tar Heels over the powerful Cuban National team again in Madrid in the semifinals of the tournament.

London was the location for 1979 and 1987 international tournaments. In December of '87, Carolina beat the English National team in the finals. Reid, with 24 points, led Smith's squad, which featured London native Steve Bucknall, who scored 18 points in the 87-79 victory.

Prior to the 1983-84 season, the Tar Heels traveled to Greece and faced off against four European basketball powers. Perkins, Jordan, and Buzz Peterson attained all-tournament honors.

Professional teams in Europe, South America and Australia have been eager to sign Carolina players and, as a result, many former players have taken their unique brand of basketball to the global level. Doug Moe was three-time European Player of the Year. Other Carolina players with careers abroad include Dave Chadwick, Kim Huband, Craig Corson, Donn Johnston, John O'Donnell, Donald Washington, Bruce Buckley, Tom Zaliagiris, Geff Crompton, Randy Wiel, Jeff Wolf, Steve Krafcisin, Rich Yonakor, Pete Budko, Mike Pepper, Tommy LaGarde, Jim Braddock, John Virgil, Chris Brust, Cecil Exum, Curtis Hunter, Jeb Barlow, Steve Hale, Warren Martin, Robert McAdoo, Dave Popson, Al Wood, Buzz Peterson, John Brownlee, Ranzino Smith, Joe Wolf, Scott Cherry, Henrik Rodl, Steve Bucknall, King Rice, Kevin Madden, Ed Geth, Donald Williams, Brian Reese, Dante Calabria, Derrick Phelps and Serge Zwikker.

CAROLINA'S GREATEST PLAYERS

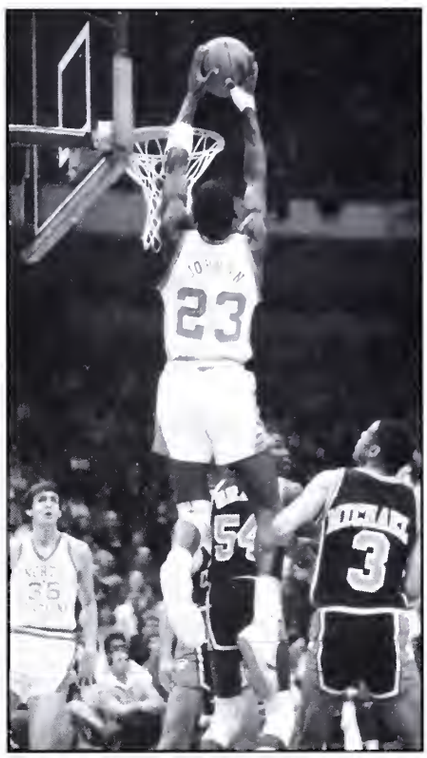
■ MICHAEL JORDAN

The name Michael Jordan and the phrase "greatest basketball player in the world" today seem inseparable. "Air" Jordan could not elude the spotlight in his freshman year at Carolina as he hit the winning jump shot from the left wing with 15 seconds left in the 1982 national championship game, garnering UNC its third national title. He was named the ACC Rookie of the Year that season and was one of only 10 freshmen under coach Dean Smith to have started the first game of his career.

Jordan's career averages at Carolina were 17.7 points per game and 5.0 rebounds per contest from his big guard position. A consensus All-America in both 1983 and 1984, Jordan was first-team All-ACC both of those seasons. Jordan was famous at Carolina for providing late-game heroics that engineered Tar Heel victories. Besides the aforementioned NCAA title game, he led a momentous comeback against Virginia in 1983, clinching the game with a last-minute steal and dunk. That same season, he sent a game versus Tulane into overtime with a steal and a long jumper at the end of regulation as UNC went on to win in triple overtime.

In 1984, Jordan led the ACC in scoring with 19.4 points per game and was subsequently named ACC Player and Athlete of the Year. After being named National Player of the Year by the Sporting News in 1983, he was the unanimous choice for the award a year later. He was the leading scorer on both the 1983 U.S. Pan American Games team and the 1984 U.S. Olympic team, both of which won gold medals. Jordan passed up his final year of eligibility after consulting with Coach Smith and entered the NBA draft, where he was chosen third by the Chicago Bulls.

He went on to become a bona fide superstar in the pro ranks, being named the league's Rookie of the Year in 1985 and its Most Valuable Player in 1988, 1991, 1992, 1996 and 1998. He led the Bulls to their first-ever championship in 1991 over the Los Angeles Lakers and then helped them successfully defend that title in 1992 by beating the Portland Trail Blazers. In the summer of 1992, Jordan was a member of the Olympic "Dream Team," a group of NBA all-stars who captured the gold medal in Barcelona. Jordan was named the Most Valuable Player of the NBA Finals three years in a row and led the Bulls to their third consecutive world championship in 1993 over the Phoenix Suns. No team since the Boston Celtics of 1959-66 had won as many championships in a row.



Sally Sather

His sudden retirement from the professional ranks in the fall of 1993, subsequent career in professional baseball and return to the NBA caused almost as much of a sensation as his on-court heroics. He returned to the Bulls late in the 1994-95 season and led Chicago to three straight NBA titles before retiring prior to the 1998-99 campaign. In 1997-98, his final season, he led Chicago to its sixth NBA title while capturing the NBA Finals MVP Award for the sixth time.

■ PETE BRENNAN

Pete Brennan had a great career as a Tar Heel, averaging 16.4 points and 10.5 rebounds per game for his career as a forward, but he is best remembered for a single play, a play that saved an NCAA title. The undefeated 1957 Carolina team was trailing Michigan State, 64-62, in the NCAA semifinals. There were only 11 seconds remaining in the first overtime period when the Spartans' Johnny Green missed a free throw and Brennan snared the rebound. Instead of making the outlet pass out to a guard as he ordinarily would have done, Brennan raced down court with the ball. Two Michigan State defenders got back to defend, so Brennan pulled up for a jump shot from the foul line. The jumper floated through the net with four seconds remaining, forcing another overtime period. UNC survived, downing the Spartans in triple overtime before subsequently defeating Kansas in triple overtime the next day in the title game of one of the most storied Final Fours in NCAA history. Brennan is still 11th in the Tar Heel record books in career rebounds. As a senior in 1958, he led the squad in scoring at a 21.3 clip, earning first-team All-America and ACC Player-of-the-Year honors.

Larry Brown (right) and teammate Donnie Walsh.

■ LARRY BROWN

Larry Brown, an outstanding guard in the early 1960s, was the first Carolina player to compete in the Olympic Games. He was a member of the 1964 U.S. team that won the gold medal in Tokyo, Japan. Brown came off the bench in the gold medal game versus the Soviet Union and helped to spark a comeback win. He was known as a fine passer and ball-handler who could score when needed. As a junior in 1962, Dean Smith's first year as Carolina head coach, Brown led the squad in scoring with a 16.5 average. The following year marked the arrival of Billy Cunningham on the varsity team and Brown willingly sacrificed his own scoring numbers to distribute the ball to the future Hall-of-Famer. Brown's scoring average fell slightly that year, but he was named All-ACC nonetheless. Brown later served as an assistant coach under Smith before becoming a player and three-time all-star in the ABA. He won an NCAA title in 1988 as the head coach at Kansas and is now a successful head coach in the NBA.

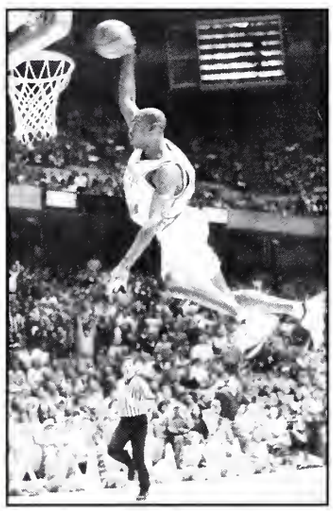
■ CARTWRIGHT CARMICHAEL

Cartwright Carmichael earned first-team All-America honors in 1923, becoming the first UNC athlete to attain the honor in any sport. Regarded as an excellent shooter in his day and respected as a graceful player overall, Carmichael was tabbed as an All-America again in 1924 and garnered All-Southern Conference honors for three straight years from 1922-24. He was also named to the All-Southern Conference Tournament Team in 1924. During his three varsity seasons at Carolina, the Tar Heels were 56-7, and he led UNC teams to two Southern Conference regular-season championships and two Southern Conference tournament titles. Carmichael, who lettered on the 1922, 1923 and 1924 teams, led the Tar Heels to an undefeated season his senior year and to Carolina's first national championship as voted by the Helms Foundation. In 1922, Carmichael and his brother, Billy, became the first brothers to ever play together on the same Carolina basketball team. That feat was equaled in 1994-95 by Pat and Ryan Sullivan. A versatile athlete, Carmichael also lettered as an outfielder in baseball.



■ VINCE CARTER

A consensus second-team All-America selection in 1997-98, Vince Carter helped lead Carolina to consecutive ACC championships and Final Four appearances in 1997 and 1998. Carter may be the most prolific and spectacular dunker in Tar Heel history, and by the end of his three-year career had developed into an outstanding all-around player. Carter was once featured on ESPN's Plays of the Week six consecutive weeks for his incredible aerial displays. By his junior season Carter was also one of the nation's top defensive players.

The Daytona Beach, Fla., native was named first-team All-ACC as a junior after averaging 15.6 points and 5.1 rebounds per game and shooting an ACC-leading 59.1 percent from the field. He was sensational in the NCAA Tournament that year.

He entered the NBA Draft after his junior season and was the fifth pick in the first round by the Toronto Raptors. He won NBA Rookie-of-the-Year honors in 1999.

■ BILL CHAMBERLAIN

Bill Chamberlain was one of a string of players from the New York City area to play basketball at UNC and the second black player in Carolina history, following fellow New Yorker Charlie Scott. Chamberlain was the Tar Heel hero as a junior when Carolina won the 1971 NIT title. When All-ACC forward Dennis Wuycik went down with a knee injury in the tournament opener against Massachusetts, he picked up the slack. He hit 10 of 15 shots and scored 24 points versus the Minutemen, while holding the great Julius Erving to just 13 points. Chamberlain had 19 points in the next game against Providence, 10 versus Duke in the semifinal and a career-high 34 in the title game as Carolina routed Georgia Tech, 84-66. He hit 13 of 18 shots from the field in the championship game while also grabbing 10 rebounds and the tournament MVP award. A 6-6 forward known for his quickness and all-around game, Chamberlain finished his career among the Tar Heel leaders in career field goal percentage at 54.0 percent. He was named a second-team All-America after his senior season.

■ JACK COBB

UNC's first three-time All-America, Jack Cobb teamed with Cartwright Carmichael in 1924 to lead the Tar Heels to their first national championship. He captained the 1925 squad during his junior year and in 1926 garnered National Player-of-the-Year honors from the Helms Foundation. During his three varsity seasons, Cobb averaged 15 points per game in an era when the entire Tar Heel team averaged only about 35 points per contest. Known as "Mr. Basketball," Cobb was a 6-2 forward who could do it all. He was a slick passer and a great rebounder in addition to being a deadly scoring threat. Cobb was named to the All-Southern Conference Team in 1924, 1925 and 1926 and was first-team All-Southern Conference Tournament the latter two years. The three teams he played on went 66-10 and won three straight Southern Conference tournament and regular-season championships.

Shortly after he graduated from UNC, Cobb was involved in an automobile accident in which he lost part of his left leg. Nevertheless, he devoted most of his spare time to coaching Little League baseball teams. He died in 1966 at the age of 62. Cobb is a member of the Helms Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.

■ BILLY CUNNINGHAM

His exceptional leaping ability not only earned him the nickname "The Kangaroo Kid," it also enabled Billy Cunningham to win three Atlantic Coast Conference rebounding titles in a row. Cunningham is the third-leading rebounder in Tar Heel history. He was named ACC Player of the Year in 1965 and first-team All-ACC three years in a row. In 1963 and 1964, he was named first-team All-ACC Tournament despite the fact the Tar Heels didn't reach the finals either year. He was on the U.S. Basketball Writers Association All-America team in 1964 and 1965 and on the Helms Foundation team his senior year. He led the ACC in scoring two years in a row with 26.0 points per game in 1964 and 25.4 in 1965. For his 69-game Carolina career, he averaged 24.8 points and 15.4 rebounds per game.

Cunningham was tabbed as Carolina's Most Valuable Player three straight years and he was an All-Academic ACC pick as a senior. In 1965, the College Sports Information Directors of America also named him to their Academic All-America team. Cunningham was picked in the first round of the NBA draft in 1965 by the Philadelphia 76ers. He played 11 years of professional basketball, including two years in the ABA and nine years in the NBA. He was the NBA Rookie of the Year with Philadelphia, the ABA Player of the Year with the Carolina Cougars and the NBA Coach of the Year with the 76ers. He played on a world championship team with the 76ers in 1967 and then coached Philadelphia to the NBA title in 1983. He was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1985. He was named one of the NBA's 50 greatest players of all time in 1997.

■ BRAD DAUGHERTY

Brad Daugherty came to Carolina as a 16-year-old freshman with a big body and soft shooting touch and left four years later as one of the best players in Tar Heel history. He finished his career as UNC's alltime leader in career field goal percentage at .620, a record since broken by Rasheed Wallace. Daugherty is the eighth-leading scorer and sixth-leading rebounder in Carolina annals and was known for his solid post moves and tremendous work ethic. He entered Carolina as a freshman in the fall of 1982 and was a starter for the defending national champion Tar Heels by late December. He also was a member of the 1984 squad that posted a perfect 14-0 ACC mark. UNC went 111-26 overall during his four years in Chapel Hill. Daugherty scored in double figures in 32 of his 34 games and led the conference in both scoring and rebounding as a senior in 1986. For his efforts, he was named All-ACC for the second consecutive year, selected to several first- and second-team All-America squads and was a finalist for the Wooden Award as national player of the year. Daugherty capped his senior year by winning the Patterson Medal, the highest athletic award given annually at UNC to a Tar Heel senior who has demonstrated general excellence, sportsmanship, leadership and general conduct during his collegiate career. After the conclusion of his tenure in Carolina Blue, Daugherty was the first pick overall in the 1986 NBA draft, selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers. In 1997, the Cavaliers retired his jersey.

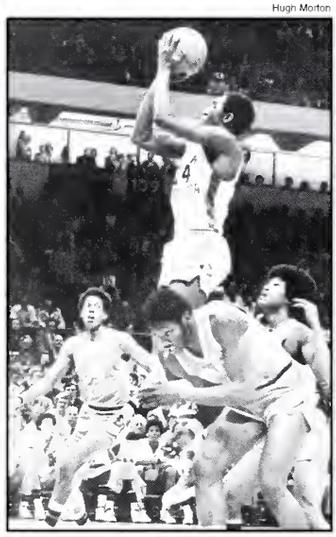
■ WALTER DAVIS

Hugh Morton



A tremendous all-around player, Walter Davis played on ACC championship teams in 1975 and 1977. "Sweet D" played brilliantly in the 1975 ACC Tournament, hitting 22 of his 33 shots from the floor in the three-game affair. He scored 31 points against Wake Forest in the quarterfinals and held National Player of the Year David Thompson of N.C. State to a seven-for-21 shooting performance in the title game. Davis ensured his spot in the annals of the greatest plays in Tar Heel history as a freshman in 1974. He banked in a 35-foot shot at the buzzer against Duke in Carmichael Auditorium, tying the score and helping Carolina rally from an eight-point deficit in the game's final 17 seconds. Led by Davis' 31 points, UNC went on to win the game in overtime in one of the most famous installments in college basketball's most storied rivalries. Along with Mitch Kupchak, Tommy LaGarde and Phil Ford, Davis was one of four Tar Heels to play on the gold medal-winning 1976 Olympic squad for UNC head coach Dean Smith and assistant Bill Guthridge. Davis was a great shooter, tremendous passer, brilliant defender and solid rebounder. He still stands ninth in Tar Heel history in scoring and 11th in assists. He went on to be named the NBA Rookie of the Year in 1978 and was a five-time all-star as a professional.

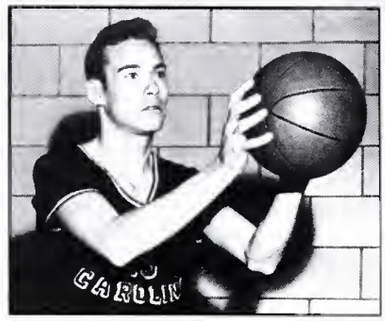
■ JOHN "HOOK" DILLON



John Dillon gained national fame early in 1946 against New York University in Madison Square Garden by scoring 21 points, many on his deadly hook shot. The media at the game declared Dillon's patented shot to be among the best ever seen in the Garden and he since has been known as "Hook" Dillon. He earned All-America honors in both 1946 and 1947 and was the leading scorer on the 1946 squad, the first Carolina team to reach the NCAA Final Four. The '46 Tar Heels reached the national finals before losing to Oklahoma A&M. During that march to the NCAA title game, Dillon again turned in great performances in Madison Square Garden, scoring 16 points against NYU, 15 versus Ohio State and 16 in the finals against Oklahoma A&M and its powerful center, Bob Kurland. Dillon played for the Tar Heels from 1945 through 1948 after playing three years in the Savannah (Ga.) Ice Delivery city league and a time at the Benedictine Military Academy. Dillon was Carolina's second-leading scorer as a freshman behind All-America Jim Jordan.

■ PHIL FORD

Phil Ford is a player sure to be included with college basketball's alltime greatest guards. The surgeon-like precision with which Ford captained Coach Dean Smith's famed "Four Corners Offense" is perhaps the talent for which he is best remembered. He is UNC's all-time leading scorer with 2,290 points and ranks second in assists with 753. In his 123 career games, Ford averaged 18.6 points and 6.1 assists per contest. A three-time first-team All-America in 1976, 1977 and 1978, Ford directed Carolina to three straight first-place ACC regular-season finishes as well as ACC Tournament titles in 1975 and 1977 and the NCAA championship game in 1977. Ford, who started at the point guard position four successive seasons, was named the National Player of the Year in 1978 by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the National Association of Basketball Coaches and The Sporting News. That year, he also won the John Wooden Award. Ford played on the 1976 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team under the leadership of Coach Smith and was named to the All-Tournament team by UPI.

Ford, who won the Everett Case Award his freshman year for leading UNC to the ACC tournament title over defending national champion N.C. State, was named first-team All-ACC his final three years as a Tar Heel. He also was named first-team All-ACC Tournament three times. The ACC Athlete of the Year in 1977 and 1978 and the ACC Men's Basketball Player of the Year the latter season, Ford scored a career-high 34 points in a 1978 victory over Duke in his last regular-season game at Carmichael Auditorium, boosting Carolina to the ACC regular-season title in the process.

Ford's teams went 99-24 in his four seasons at UNC, while he compiled impressive shooting statistics of .527 from the field and .808 from the line. Ford played seven seasons in the NBA and was the league's Rookie of the Year in 1979 with the Kansas City Kings. Ford is currently in his 12th year as a Tar Heel assistant coach.

■ GEORGE GLAMACK

Although his poor eyesight kept him from focusing on the rim of the basket, George Glamack overcame those odds and put together a remarkable college career. He shot the ball according to the lines painted on the court, earning the nickname "The Blind Bomber." In 1940 and 1941, he was named All-Southern Conference, All-America and National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation.

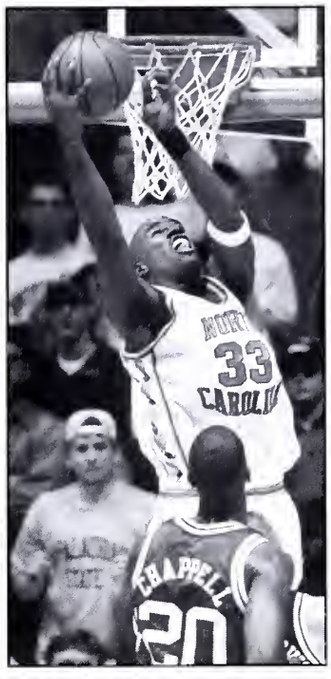
A master at maneuvering in the paint, Glamack had a deadly hook shot with either hand. In 1940, he was named first-team All-Southern Conference Tournament as he helped lead Carolina to the Southern Conference championship. As captain of the 1941 squad, he averaged 20.6 points per game, an incredible mark for the time. He led the 1941 team to the Southern Conference regular-season title and to UNC's first appearance in the NCAA Tournament. He played five seasons in the professional ranks in the 1940s with teams in Akron, Rochester, N.Y., Indianapolis and Hammond, Ind. Glamack always hoped his career would be an inspiration to other handicapped people who dreamed of participating in organized sports.

■ ANTAWN JAMISON

One of the quickest and most relentless forwards ever to play at Carolina, Antawn Jamison burst onto the scene as a freshman and was a star for three spectacular seasons. In his first season, he led the ACC in field goal percentage, something no freshman had ever done in league history, grabbed 20 rebounds in a win at Virginia and became the first Tar Heel freshman to earn first-team All-ACC honors.

As a sophomore he led the Tar Heels with 19.4 points and 9.4 rebounds per game and was among the top three in the ACC in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage. He led UNC to ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional titles.

As a junior, Jamison was the unanimous National Player of the Year. He became the second Tar Heel and third player in ACC history to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season. Jamison scored 822 points, the second-highest figure in UNC history, and grabbed a single-season UNC-record 389 rebounds. He averaged 22.2 points and 10.5 rebounds a contest, the first double-double by a Tar Heel since Mitch Kupchak in 1976. Jamison received the Patterson Medal as Carolina's top senior athlete and the McKevlin Award as the Top Male Athlete in the ACC.



Jamison is the only player in ACC history to earn first-team All-ACC honors as a freshman, sophomore and junior. In three career home games against Duke, Jamison averaged 30.3 points and 12.0 rebounds in three victories. Against Duke in the 1998 ACC Tournament final, Jamison overcame a leg muscle injury to tally 22 points and 18 rebounds.

Jamison is fourth in career rebounding at UNC with 1,027 and seventh in scoring with 1,974 points. He entered the NBA Draft after his junior year and was selected fourth overall. As a rookie in 1998-99 with the Golden State Warriors, he was named second-team All-Rookie.

■ BOBBY JONES

One of the most complete players in ACC history, Bobby Jones excelled at all areas of the game. As a sophomore, he rotated in and out of the lineup with Dennis Wuycik and Bill Chamberlain, averaging 10.2 points per game and hitting 66.8 of his field goals, still the ACC single-season record. Jones posted one of the best all-around seasons in Carolina history as a junior, averaging 15.0 points, 10.5 rebounds and 4.0 assists per game. He led the ACC in field goal percentage three times and stands fourth in UNC history in career field goal percentage at 60.8 percent. As a senior in 1974, Jones provided two of the most famous moments in Tar Heel lore. In a game at Duke, he stole a Blue Devil inbounds pass and dribbled the length of the floor for a layup at the buzzer to give Carolina a 73-71 victory. In the rematch at Carmichael Auditorium, Jones scored four points in an amazing Tar Heel rally from eight points down with 17 seconds left in regulation. He scored 24 points for the game and UNC won in overtime, 96-92. Jones earned a position on the 1972 Olympic Team after just his sophomore season, and he later earned All-America honors as a senior. He went on to be named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team eight consecutive years, won the NBA Sixth Man Award in 1983 and was a member of the world champion Philadelphia 76ers in 1983.

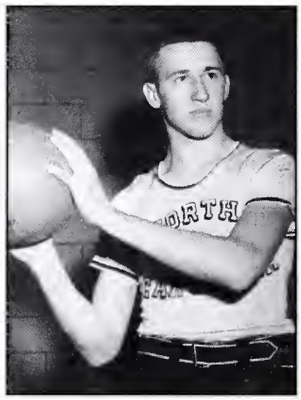
■ JIM JORDAN



Jim Jordan was a star player who came to Carolina during World War II. He played at Mount St. Mary's College for one year and was the team's captain and leading scorer. The Navy transferred him to the ROTC unit at UNC and he became an immediate star for the Tar Heels, lifting Carolina to a 22-6 record. Jordan was the only unanimous selection to the All-Southern Conference team in 1945. A good shooter, Jordan also was a solid rebounder, ball-handler and the team's steadiest leader. When Coach Ben Carnevale would put in his second-stringers, he often would leave Jordan in the game to help calm them down. He was a star for the 1946 team that posted a 30-5 record and reached the NCAA finals before losing to Oklahoma A&M. The 1946 season marked Carolina's first NCAA Final Four appearance. Jordan was a second-team All-America choice in 1945 and a first-team selection in '46.

■ MITCH KUPCHAK

Mitch Kupchak was the first freshman to play basketball at Carolina after the freshman eligibility rule went into effect prior to the 1972-73 season. He was a top reserve that year, an alternate starter as a sophomore and one of the top players in the ACC as a junior and senior. Kupchak averaged double figures in both points and rebounds in both 1975 and '76. No Tar Heel player had posted a double-figure rebounding average after Kupchak until Antawn Jamison did in 1997-98. He is fifth in UNC history in career rebounds with 1,006. Kupchak was an All-ACC selection as both a junior and senior and an All-America choice as a senior in 1976. He was also the ACC Player of the Year in 1976 as he sparked Carolina to a 25-4 record. A fearless competitor, Kupchak played the game as hard as anyone. He dove for loose balls with abandon despite persistent back pain. He underwent surgery between his junior and senior seasons, forcing him to miss the 1975 Pan Am Games. Nonetheless, he battled back from his surgery to be the starting center on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic Team and gain recognition on UPI's All-Olympic Team as one of the five best players in the entire Games. He joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Tommy LaGarde on the '76 Olympic squad coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and assistant Bill Guthridge. Kupchak went on to a successful professional career, playing on three NBA championship teams with the Washington Bullets and Los Angeles Lakers. He has worked in the Lakers' front office since the 1986-87 season, helping to put together Laker teams that won world titles in 1987 and '88.

■ TOMMY LAGARDE

One of the biggest "what ifs" in Carolina basketball history surrounds Tommy LaGarde. The Tar Heels were perhaps the hottest team in the nation midway through the 1976-77 season when LaGarde tore ligaments in his knee against Maryland and missed the remainder of the season. Carolina still reached the NCAA finals, but without LaGarde and with Phil Ford and Walter Davis hampered by injuries, the Tar Heels could not defeat Marquette in the championship game. Despite missing over a third of the season, LaGarde was still named second-team All-ACC and second-team All-America after averaging 15.1 points and 7.4 rebounds and hitting 59.3 percent of his field goals before the injury. He also used his quickness and 6-10 size to form an imposing presence in the Tar Heel defense. As a junior he led the ACC in field goal percentage at 61.2 percent and was second in free throw percentage with an 80.9 mark. He is 10th in Carolina history in career field goal percentage at 58.3 percent. LaGarde joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Mitch Kupchak on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic team coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and Carolina assistant Bill Guthridge. An excellent student, LaGarde was a two-time Academic All-America. He played six seasons in the NBA and was a member of the 1978-79 world champion Seattle SuperSonics.

■ YORK LARESE

York Larese was one of the few players to be named All-ACC every year he was eligible, sweeping those honors in 1959, 1960 and 1961 in the final three years of the legendary Frank McGuire's coaching tenure at Carolina. He was also named second-team All-America as a senior. A 6-4 guard from New York City, Larese was a great shooter capable of scoring from anywhere on the court. He was especially deadly from the free throw line, leading the ACC in foul shooting in 1960 with a percentage of 86.8. That stood as the Carolina record for 25 years until it was broken by Steve Hale in 1985. Larese had an unusual free throw form, simply shooting the ball as quickly as an official handed it to him. Sometimes, the official couldn't even step back before the ball was in the air. In talking about Larese, former Duke coach Vic Bubas said, "I can't ever remember a better shooter in the league." York teamed with Doug Moe to give Carolina a solid one-two punch for three years. And for two of those seasons, the Tar Heels had All-America Lee Shaffer on the front line, forming a dangerous inside-outside combination. As a junior, Larese put on an incredible show against Duke, hitting 21 of 21 free-throw attempts, which still stands as a Tar Heel record for single-game free throws made.

■ BOB LEWIS

The sharpshooting Bob Lewis played a number of roles during his Tar Heel career and played them all well. As a sophomore and junior, he was called upon to be a major scorer, and despite his 6-3 frame, to play in the frontcourt. He responded by averaging 21.0 points and 8.0 rebounds per game in 1965 and 27.4 points and 5.3 rebounds per contest in 1966. The 27.4 points per game he scored as a junior marks the second-highest single-season scoring average in Tar Heel history behind only the legendary Lennie Rosenbluth in the 1957 national championship season. As a senior, Lewis moved to his natural guard position. His scoring fell off, but he was surrounded by better talent and the team had a stellar season. Lewis' senior year, 1966-67, was the beginning of the golden era of Carolina basketball. The Tar Heels made the first of three consecutive NCAA Final Four trips and the first of three straight appearances in the top five of the final national polls that year. Since that season, UNC has won more games than any other college basketball program. Lewis was the MVP of the 1967 East Regional after scoring 31 points against Boston College in the regional championship game. An All-America in both 1966 and '67, Lewis scored 49 points versus Florida State on Dec. 16, 1965, the most points ever scored by a UNC player in a single game. He was no gunner, however, hitting 52.0 percent of his shots that season. Lewis' total of 1,836 points ranks 10th in UNC history. He was a two-time All-ACC selection.

■ GEORGE LYNCH

The heart and soul of the 1993 NCAA champion Tar Heels, George Lynch was the consummate team player who was deft at grabbing the clutch rebound or making the last-second steal to swipe a victory. Lynch's leadership and all-around game led his teammates to vote him the squad's most valuable player after the championship season. He finished his career as one of only two players in ACC history to compile at least 1,500 points, 1,000 rebounds, 200 steals and 200 assists in his career. He ranks second in Carolina history in both rebounds and steals. One of the finest single games in Lynch's career came in the comeback win over Florida State in the Smith Center on January 27, 1993. He hit a three-pointer to ignite a comeback from a 19-point deficit with under nine minutes to play. Lynch then stole a cross-court pass and dunked for a 78-77 advantage with 1:41 left, UNC's first lead since the opening moments of the game. He finished the game with 14 points, 10 rebounds and seven steals. Lynch capped his career with a spectacular 1993 NCAA Tournament performance. He recorded double figures in both points and rebounds in each of Carolina's last four games during the title run, averaging 17.5 points and 11.0 rebounds in the wins over Arkansas, Cincinnati, Kansas and Michigan. He was named the Most Outstanding Player of the 1993 NCAA East Regional and a member of the Final Four All-Tournament team. He also was named first-team All-ACC in 1993. Lynch was a first-round pick of the Los Angeles Lakers in the 1993 NBA draft and now plays with the Philadelphia 76ers.

■ ROBERT McADOO

Robert McAdoo was the only junior college transfer ever awarded a scholarship by Dean Smith. He only played at Carolina one season, but he was a key performer on one of the best teams in school history. A Greensboro, N.C. native, he came to Carolina from Vincennes Junior College and immediately stepped into the pivot and helped Carolina to a 26-5 record in 1971-72. The Tar Heels won the ACC regular-season and tournament titles and advanced to the NCAA Final Four. McAdoo was the leading scorer (19.5 points per game) and rebounder (10.1 boards per contest) on a well-balanced squad that featured five players who scored in double figures. He was an All-ACC selection and an all-tournament choice at the ACC Tournament, the NCAA East Regional and the Final Four. He was also the MVP of the ACC Tournament. For a big man, he was an excellent shooter and his long-range scoring ability cleared out the lane for forwards Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Bobby Jones. McAdoo had such a tremendous season that Smith suggested he make himself eligible for the NBA draft, the first UNC player to enter the draft with college eligibility remaining. The move paid off as McAdoo was the NBA Rookie of the Year for the Buffalo Braves in 1973 and the league's MVP in 1975. A five-time all-star as a professional, McAdoo was a member of the Los Angeles Lakers during the world championship seasons of 1982 and 1985 and is now an assistant coach with the Miami Heat.

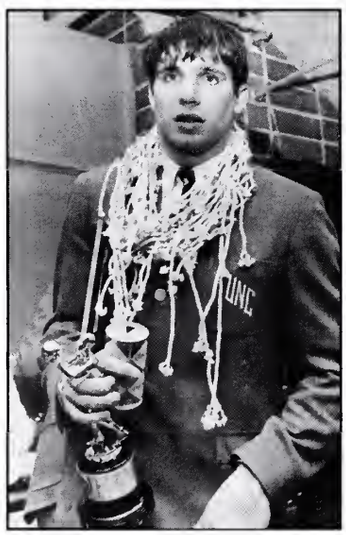
■ LARRY MILLER



Carolina reclaimed its basketball excellence in the late 1960s with the help of the talent and leadership of Larry Miller. A first-team All-America and ACC Player of the Year in 1967 and 1968, Miller was a key player on Carolina teams which won the ACC championship and went to the Final Four in both of those seasons. The McKevlin Award winner as the ACC Athlete of the Year in 1968, Miller is one of only two players to ever be named Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament on two occasions. He once scored in double figures a school-record 64 consecutive games and is still UNC's sixth-leading scorer and 12th-leading rebounder of all time. His rebounding statistics are even more impressive considering his 6-4 size.

Miller, who played on the U.S. team at the 1967 World University Games, was named to the NCAA All-East Regional team in both 1967 and 1968, and he was also on the all-tournament team at the 1968 Final Four. The Most Valuable Player of the 1967 Far West Classic, Miller was named second-team All-ACC in 1966 and first team in 1967 and 1968. He was first-team All-ACC Tournament twice as well. In his Carolina career, he scored 21.8 points and pulled down 9.2 rebounds per outing. He played one of the greatest games in ACC Tournament history in the 1967 finals, hitting 13 of 14 field goals and scoring 32 points in an 82-73 victory over Duke. Miller, a left-handed shooter, displayed his deadly outside shooting touch in the professional ranks, playing for seven seasons in the ABA. In the 1971-72 season, he averaged 18.4 points per game for the Carolina Cougars, including one game in which he scored an ABA-record 67 points.

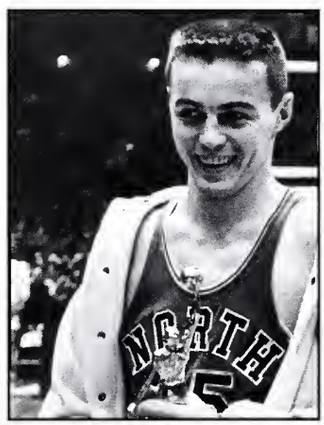
■ DOUG MOE



Doug Moe was a two-time All-ACC selection and a first-team All-America as a senior in 1961 in the last three years of the Frank McGuire era at Carolina. Moe averaged 20.4 points and 14.0 rebounds in his final season, and his career rebounding average was 10.6 per contest. Billy Cunningham is the only Tar Heel to have better season or career rebounding averages. The 6-5 Moe wasn't a tremendous leaper, but he had excellent timing around the backboard and boxed out taller opponents very well. He teamed with York Larese to give Carolina a potent, one-two scoring punch for three seasons. Moe may actually have been more valuable as a defensive player, however. In the Dixie Classic his senior year, Duke's Art Heyman exploded for 11 points in the first seven minutes of action. Moe was shifted to guard him and the Blue Devil star had just one basket and two free throws in the remainder of the game. Moe was named tourney MVP as Carolina won, 76-71. Moe had scored 22 points and snared 18 rebounds in the semifinal versus Villanova. In speaking of Moe, former N.C. State head coach Everett Case said, "He's the best ... at anything ... that's all there is to it." After leaving UNC, Moe played in Italy for two years and twice was European Player of the Year. He also was a three-time all-star in the ABA and a member of the 1968-69 ABA champion Oakland Oaks. Moe was a head coach in the professional ranks for 15 seasons with the San Antonio Spurs, Denver Nuggets and Philadelphia 76ers and was named NBA Coach of the Year while with the Nuggets in 1988.

■ ERIC MONTROSS

A two-time second-team All-America selection and member of the 1994 John Wooden All-America team, Eric Montross was the starting center for the 1993 Tar Heel squad that won the NCAA championship. He averaged 15.8 points and 7.6 rebounds per game that year and was named first-team All-ACC. He teamed with George Lynch to give Carolina a powerful inside combination to complement the outside shooting of Donald Williams on the way to the national title. Montross was named to the all-tournament teams at the ACC Tournament, NCAA East Regional and NCAA Final Four in 1993. His mammoth size and solid fundamentals made him a force in the pivot for Carolina for four seasons. One of the most memorable moments from Montross' career came in 1992 in the Smith Center versus defending national champion Duke, which won its second consecutive NCAA title later that spring. He matured as a player in the win over the previously undefeated Blue Devils, scoring 12 points, grabbing nine rebounds, blocking three shots and stealing two balls, all while bleeding from two different wounds to his head. After sustaining the injuries in the first half, Montross left the game to have the cuts treated. He returned to a standing ovation and led the Tar Heels to a 75-73 win. As a senior in 1994, Montross was a finalist for several national player of the year awards, a second-team All-ACC choice and a second-team All-America. He finished his career with 1,627 points, the 17th-highest total in Carolina history. He is seventh alltime at UNC in rebounds and fourth in career blocked shots. He was a first-round pick of Boston in the 1994 NBA draft and is now with the Detroit Pistons.

■ MIKE O'KOREN

Mike O'Koren seemed to be able to do everything, as affirmed by his ranking among school leaders in scoring (12th), rebounding (14th), assists (16th), field goal shooting (14th) and steals (sixth). O'Koren won first-team All-America honors in 1978, 1979 and 1980. A multi-faceted forward, his 64.3 percent field goal shooting as a sophomore led the ACC and ranked second nationally. The Jersey City, N.J., native was named first-team All-ACC in 1978 and 1980 and second-team in 1979.

A four-year starter, he scored 21 points in the 1977 ACC Tournament final against Virginia to lead the Tar Heels to a 75-69 victory, and he poured in a career-high 31 points against UNLV in the 1977 NCAA Final Four as the Tar Heels edged the Running Rebels by a single point. A 1977 and 1979 All-ACC Tournament selection, O'Koren had a sensational game against Duke on January 13, 1979 at Carmichael Auditorium. His totals in that game included 17 points, 20 rebounds, seven assists and four steals and he held Blue Devil star Gene Banks scoreless in the second half of the 74-68 UNC victory. O'Koren co-captained the 1979 U.S. Pan American Games team which captured the gold medal in San Juan, Puerto Rico. He finished his UNC career with averages of 15.1 points and 7.0 rebounds per contest. O'Koren played eight seasons in the NBA with the New Jersey Nets and Washington Bullets. He is now an assistant coach with the Nets.

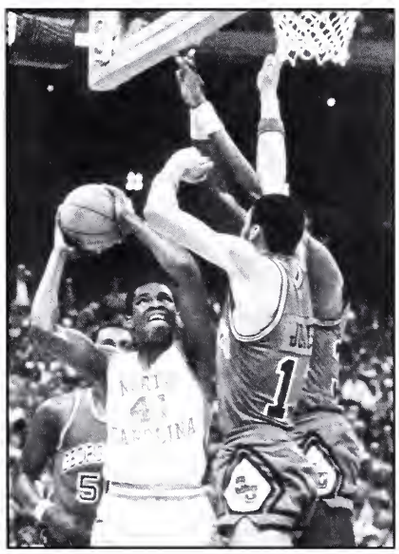
■ SAM PERKINS

Sam Perkins excelled as a 6-9 center/forward who played like a 7-footer with the help of his incredibly long arms and accompanying mind-boggling reach. His silky smooth touch around the basket and innate radar for the ball enabled Perkins to become Carolina's alltime leading rebounder and its second-leading scorer. He is one of only four Tar Heels to be a first-team All-America three times, the others being Jack Cobb, Phil Ford and Mike O'Koren. Perkins was also a three-time first-team All-ACC selection from 1982-84 and was ACC Rookie of the Year and MVP of the ACC Tournament in 1981.

Perkins started on Tar Heel teams which won three ACC regular-season championships, two ACC Tournament crowns and went to the Final Four in both 1981 and 1982, winning the NCAA title the latter season. He was named to All-Tournament teams at the 1981 NCAA West Regional, the 1982 NCAA East Regional and the 1982 NCAA Final Four. Twice named first-team All-ACC Tournament, he was the MVP at the Stanford Invitational and the ECAC Holiday Festival his senior year. He concluded his Carolina career by averaging 15.9 points per game and 8.6 rebounds an outing.



Two of the four Carolina teams he played on finished No. 1 in the AP and UPI polls. He played with Tar Heel teammate Michael Jordan on the 1983 U.S. Pan American Games team and the 1984 Olympic Team, both of which won gold medals. Perkins played his first six NBA seasons with the Dallas Mavericks before joining former Tar Heel teammate James Worthy with the Los Angeles Lakers in 1990. Perkins' addition to the roster was a great spark as the Lakers returned to the NBA Finals in 1991 after losing in the conference semifinals the previous season. Perkins helped the Seattle SuperSonics to the NBA Finals in 1996 and is now a member of the Indiana Pacers.

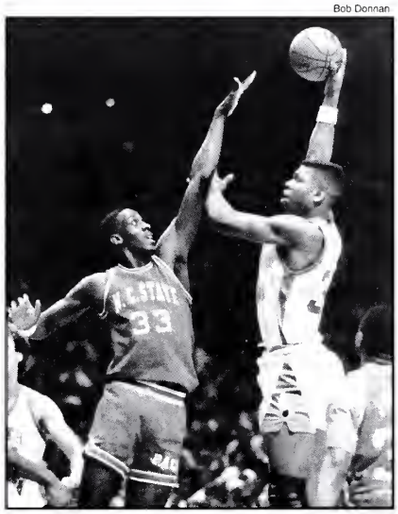
■ J.R. REID

Bob Donnan



J.R. Reid came to Carolina as one of the most heralded high school stars in the nation and lived up to his advance billing. He was the 1987 ACC Rookie of the Year, scoring 528 points and snaring 268 rebounds. He twice scored 31 points in a game that season, hitting 13 of 14 field goals against N.C. State and going 15 of 18 from the floor in the NCAA Tournament versus Notre Dame. During one stretch of the year, he hit 35 of 40 field goal attempts. The best was yet to come, however, as Reid was a consensus All-America in 1988, only the fifth UNC sophomore to be so honored, joining Jack Cobb, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Perkins. He averaged 18.0 points and 8.9 rebounds, while shooting 60.7 percent from the field. Following that season, he was selected to the U.S. Olympic Team for the 1988 Games in Seoul, South Korea. Reid missed the first nine games of his junior campaign with a foot injury, but he fought back valiantly. His numbers weren't as high as his sophomore season, but he was a better player. He was the MVP of the 1989 ACC Tournament, scoring 48 points and playing sensational defense over the three games as Carolina won its first conference title since 1982. Reid's defense was absolutely essential to the Tar Heel effort in an epic win over Duke in the final. He was an all-regional choice in the NCAA Tournament for three consecutive years. Reid finished his career with a field goal percentage of 60.1, the fourth-best mark in school history. In 1989, Reid became the fourth Carolina player to enter the NBA draft with college eligibility remaining. He was the fifth pick overall by the Charlotte Hornets and earned NBA All-Rookie Team honors in 1990. In 1998-99, Reid played with the Hornets and the L.A. Lakers, but he is currently a member of the Milwaukee Bucks.

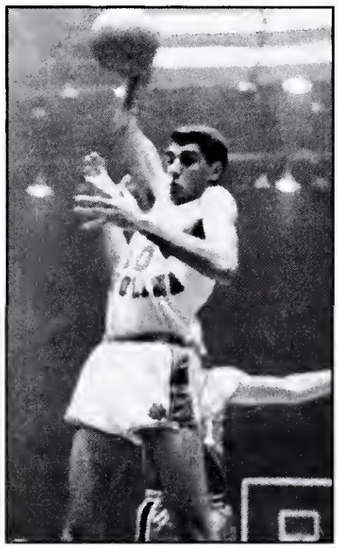
■ LENNIE ROSENBLUTH

Lennie Rosenbluth set and still holds Carolina's records for single-season and career scoring average. The Helms Foundation's 1957 National Player of the Year averaged 28.0 points per game in 1957 and 26.9 points per game in his esteemed career. A member of UNC's undefeated 1957 squad, he led the Tar Heels to the national championship in a triple-overtime victory over the Kansas Jayhawks and their star, Wilt Chamberlain. His 2,045 career points — third in Carolina history — was tops in the Tar Heel record books for 21 years. Among the other Carolina records still held by Rosenbluth are points in a season, field goals attempted in a season and free throws made and attempted in both a season and a career.



Rosenbluth was a three-time All-ACC selection and was tabbed ACC Player and Athlete of the Year in 1957. He was twice All-ACC Tournament, the MVP of the 1957 ACC tourney and a member of the All-Tournament team at the Final Four in 1957 and at three Dixie Classics. As a junior, Rosenbluth made several second and third team All-America squads, but he was a consensus first-team pick as a senior, being chosen by AP, UPI, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Helms Foundation, Converse, Collier's Magazine and the National Education Association. Born in the Bronx in 1933, Rosenbluth chose to attend UNC in large measure because Carolina head coach Frank McGuire was also from New York City. After his career as a Tar Heel, he played for a brief time in the NBA before becoming a high school teacher and basketball coach in Florida.

Rosenbluth, Antawn Jamison and Duke's Christian Laettner are the only players to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season.

■ CHARLIE SCOTT

Charlie Scott was a pioneer among black athletes nationally when, in 1966, he became one of the first black athletes to earn an athletic scholarship at a Southern school. A native of New York City, Scott guided UNC to its second and third straight Final Fours in 1968 and 1969. In each of those years, Carolina won the ACC regular-season and tournament championships. He was a first-team All-America in 1969 and 1970 and a three-time All-ACC selection. He was also selected UNC's team MVP his junior and senior years, MVP of the NCAA East Regional in 1969 and co-ACC Athlete of the Year in 1970. Scott is UNC's fifth-leading career scorer. For his career at Carolina, Scott played in 91 games and averaged 22.1 points per game and 7.1 rebounds.

In one of Carolina's greatest comebacks ever, Scott scored 40 points in the 1969 ACC Tournament finals against Duke, rallying Carolina from a nine-point halftime deficit to an 11-point victory. For that effort, he was given the Everett Case Award as the tournament's MVP. A week later, his long jump shot at the buzzer gave Carolina a heartstopping 87-85 triumph over Davidson in the championship game of the East Regional as the Tar Heels advanced to their third straight Final Four. In 1970, he led the ACC in scoring with 27.1 points per game and was named to the College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-America Team. Scott, who played for the 1968 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team at Mexico City, spent 10 seasons in the professional ranks. He was the ABA Rookie of the Year with the Virginia Squires in 1971 and he won an NBA world championship with the Boston Celtics in 1976.

■ LEE SHAFFER

Lee Shaffer averaged in double figures in scoring for three consecutive seasons at Carolina, including a team- and ACC-high mark of 18.2 points per game in his senior year of 1960. Not only did he top the Tar Heel scoring attack that season, but he also pulled down 11.2 rebounds per game, including 20 versus Notre Dame on Jan. 2, 1960. Shaffer was named ACC Player of the Year in 1960. He also won first-team All-ACC and All-America honors his final season. He had been a second-team all-conference choice in 1959. He was an All-ACC Tournament choice as both a junior and senior, scoring 21, 23, 11, 29 and 21 points in five conference tournament games over those two seasons. He was twice named to the All-Dixie Classic Team and was an all-tournament selection at the Kentucky Invitational during his senior year. Throughout his career, Shaffer was effective around the boards tipping in missed shots, but also possessed a soft touch on jump shots from the corner and baseline. His son, Lee Jr., was a star linebacker on Tar Heel football teams which went to three bowl games from 1979 to 1981.

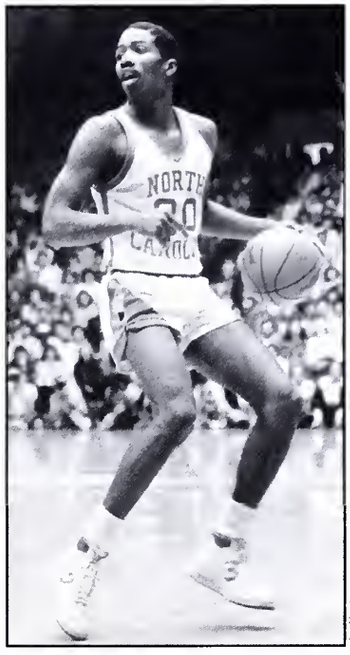
■ KENNY SMITH



Known for his exceptional quickness, blazing speed and dead-eye pull-up jumper, Kenny Smith was named the Basketball Times' National Player of the Year in 1987. That same year, Smith was a consensus All-America and first-team All-ACC choice, leading the Tar Heels in scoring with 16.9 points per game as well as in assists with 209. He had been named second-team All-ACC as a sophomore and a junior. One of the elite group of freshmen under coach Dean Smith to start the first game of his career, he had 86 assists in NCAA Tournament play, which at the time was the most in that storied event's history. In 127 games as a collegian, he averaged 12.9 points per game and 6.0 assists per contest while running Carolina's offense to masterful perfection from his point guard spot. Smith led UNC to undefeated ACC marks in both 1984 and 1987, and he poured in a career-high 41 points during that 1987 season in a 108-99 comeback win at Clemson. Smith finished his career as Carolina's alltime assist leader with 768, breaking the record of current Tar Heel assistant coach Phil Ford.

Smith's total of 195 steals was a Carolina record at the end of his college career and is still good enough to rank fourth. His game-high 23 points against the Soviet Union in the championship game of the FIBA World Championships propelled the U.S. team to a gold medal-clinching victory in 1986. Smith won the Patterson Medal, the highest athletic award at Carolina, as the top senior athlete in 1987. After playing his first three years with the Sacramento Kings and Atlanta Hawks, Smith played four seasons with the Houston Rockets and was the starting point guard for the Rockets' 1994 and 1995 world championship teams. Smith is now an NBA television analyst for Turner Sports.

■ JERRY STACKHOUSE

Jerry Stackhouse entered Carolina with high expectations from his prep career in Kinston. He did not disappoint, demonstrating fantastic athleticism and steady play throughout his career. The 6-6 forward had a solid freshman campaign, averaging 12.2 points and five rebounds per game. He scored a season-high 23 points against LSU in the Superdome. In the postseason, Stackhouse showed flashes of brilliance, leading Carolina to the ACC Tournament Championship. Following a 14-point, seven-rebound effort in the final against Virginia, Stackhouse was named the ACC Tournament's Most Valuable Player. Stackhouse, a natural wing player, was called on to play power forward his sophomore year, but he never looked out of place. He led the team in scoring average at 19.2 points and in steals with 50. Stackhouse shot 51.7 percent from the field and 41.1 percent from the three-point line. In postseason tournament play, Stackhouse continued to shine. He had another successful ACC Tournament and was named to the All-ACC Tournament team. In the NCAA Tournament, Stackhouse was an essential key to Carolina's march to the Final Four. He posted a double-double against Kentucky in the Southeast Regional Final, finishing with 18 points and 12 rebounds. In 1995, Stackhouse was Sports Illustrated's National College Player of the Year and earned first-team All-America and All-ACC honors. Stackhouse chose to forego his final two years of eligibility at Carolina. He was the third player chosen overall in the 1995 NBA draft by the Philadelphia 76ers and was named to the 1996 NBA All-Rookie team. He is now a member of the Detroit Pistons.

■ RASHEED WALLACE

One of Carolina's most agile and dominating big men, Rasheed Wallace showcased amazing abilities to run the court and control a game. The 6-10 native of Philadelphia averaged 9.5 points per game as a freshman. He pulled down 6.6 rebounds per game and led the team with 63 blocks. Wallace worked even harder in the post-season, garnering 17 points and 16 boards in the ACC Tournament quarterfinals against Florida State. He was named to the ACC's All-Freshman Team and the All-ACC Tournament Team. As a sophomore, Wallace continued to play brilliantly, averaging 16.6 points and 8.2 rebounds per game. Wallace led the ACC in field goal percentage (65.4 percent), improving his career field goal percentage to an ACC career record—64.9 percent. His deft touch, coupled with tremendous dunks, made Wallace a favorite of the fans and the scouts. He was named first team All-ACC and second team AP All-America. Wallace also was a finalist for the Naismith award. He opted to enter the draft following his second year at Carolina and was drafted by the Washington Bullets in the first round of the 1995 NBA draft. He is now with the Portland Trailblazers.

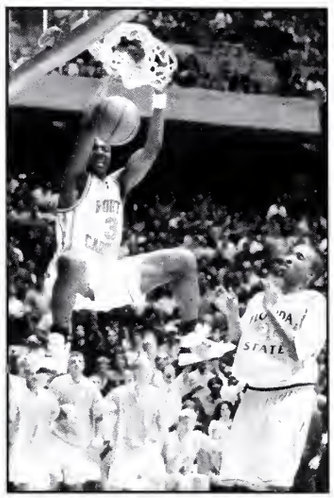
■ SHAMMOND WILLIAMS



Coming out of high school, the only scholarship offer Shammond Williams had was from a junior college in South Carolina. He finished his career at Carolina, however, as the school's alltime leading three-point shooter, alltime leading free throw shooter and an ACC Tournament and NCAA Regional Most Valuable Player.

Williams set an ACC single-season record as a senior when he converted 91.1 percent from the free throw line. he made an incredible 133 of 146 free throw attempts that year. He finished his career shooting a school-record 84.9 percent from the free throw line.

Williams made a UNC record 233 three-point baskets. He connected on a single-game record-equalling eight three-pointers in a dizzying 42-point effort in a 107-100, double overtime win at Georgia Tech.

A second-team All-ACC selection as a senior, Williams was the only player in the conference to finish in the top 10 in scoring and assists. As a junior, only Williams and Wake Forest's National Player of the Year Tim Duncan were the only players in the top 10 in those categories.

Williams is 25th in career scoring at UNC with 1,445 points and 12th in assists with 399.

In 1997, he was MVP of the ACC Tournament after he averaged 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in leading UNC to the title. He netted 24 points against Wake Forest in the semifinal and 23 against N.C. State in the final. He was MVP of the NCAA East Regional after he scored 22 points against Louisville to reach the Final Four.

He set a UNC postseason record with six three-pointers and scored 32 points against UNC Charlotte in the second round of the 1998 NCAA Tournament. He is now a member of the Seattle Sonics.

■ AL WOOD

Al Wood possessed one of the sweetest jump shots in ACC history and led Carolina in scoring in each of his final three years as a Tar Heel with averages of 17.8, 19.0 and 18.1 points per game in 1979-81. Wood was named first-team All-America in 1981 after he led UNC to the NCAA finals versus Indiana. He played brilliantly throughout the '81 postseason, earning MVP honors at the West Regional. He capped off his senior campaign with 39 points, an NCAA semifinal record, and 10 rebounds in a 78-65 win over Virginia in the Final Four. Wood is fourth in Tar Heel history in scoring with 2,015 points, one of only five Carolina players to compile at least 2,000 points. Dramatic highlights filled his career. Always a clutch performer, as a sophomore he hit a dramatic, long jumper with three seconds to play that gave the Tar Heels a 54-53 win at Maryland. As a senior, he totaled 25 points and 17 rebounds in a victory over previously undefeated Wake Forest and had 33 points and six steals against top-ranked Virginia. Wood never missed a game in his UNC career, playing in 126. He was a member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team.

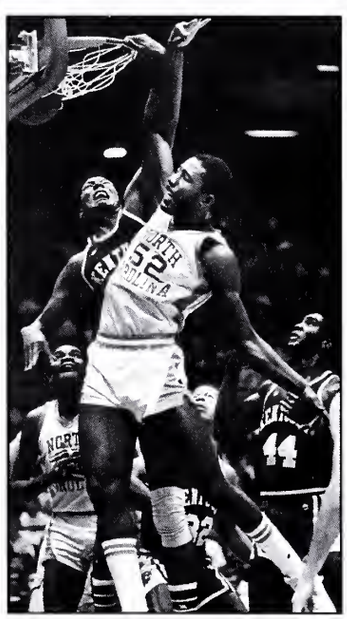
■ JAMES WORTHY



As Carolina conquered Georgetown to win the national championship in 1982, James Worthy led the way, scoring 28 points in the 63-62 victory over the Hoyas. That season, he was named MVP of the ACC Tournament, the NCAA East Regional and the NCAA Final Four. A first-team All-America choice in both 1981 and 1982, and a consensus selection the latter year, Worthy was named co-National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation in 1982.

A starter from the beginning of his freshman year, he averaged 14.5 points per game and 7.4 rebounds per contest in an 84-game Tar Heel career. Worthy missed the second half of his freshman year with a broken ankle, but he came back to average 14.2 points per game and finish third in the ACC in rebounding as a sophomore. He helped Carolina reach the national championship game that season with his outstanding play as the Tar Heels won the ACC Tournament and NCAA West Regional crowns. That merely set the stage for his magnificent junior year when the Tar Heels won it all. Worthy won the McKevlin Award as the ACC Athlete of the Year in 1982 and was named second-team All-ACC in 1981 and first team in 1982. After consulting with Coach Smith, Worthy passed up his final year of eligibility to become the first player selected in the 1982 NBA draft, chosen by the Los Angeles Lakers. He went on to become a seven-time All-Star in the NBA, playing on world championship teams with the Lakers in 1985, 1987 and 1988. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the 1988 NBA Finals against Detroit. He retired from professional basketball in the fall of 1994. He is currently a basketball analyst for CBS Sports.

■ DENNIS WUYCIK

One of the finest shooters ever to play at Carolina, Dennis Wuycik was a rugged forward with a great outside touch and powerful moves around the basket. Although a bit undersized at 6-6 to play inside, his strength allowed him to muscle in shots against taller opponents. Wuycik led the ACC in field goal percentage in 1971 with a mark of 60.7 percent and then shot a conference-best 85.4 percent from the free throw line in 1972 as a senior. He led Carolina in scoring both years with averages of 18.4 and 18.0 points per game, twice winning All-ACC honors. He was named All-America as a senior by both the Helms Foundation and Basketball Weekly. He was also an Academic All-America that year. Wuycik was tremendous in the 1972 ACC Touranment final, scoring 24 points versus Maryland as the Tar Heels won the championship. He was the MVP of the NCAA East Regional that year and scored 47 points in two games at the Final Four. In fact, Wuycik scored in double figures in 28 of 31 games as a senior. His career scoring high came as a junior when he poured in 39 against Creighton, making 10 of 13 field goal attempts and 19 of 22 free throw tries. He ranks fourth in Carolina history in free throw percentage at 83.4 percent and seventh in career field goal percentage with a 59.0 clip.

NBA RETIRED JERSEYS

■ BILLY CUNNINGHAM, PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

Head coach of the Philadelphia 76ers from 1977-78 through 1984-85 after taking over the coaching reins six games into the '77-'78 season • Guided the 76ers to the 1983 NBA championship • Led Philadelphia to a 454-196 record as a coach • Ranks third in NBA history with a winning percentage of .698 as a coach (behind current Miami coach Pat Riley and current Chicago coach Phil Jackson) • Boasts a 66-39 (.629) coaching record in the NBA playoffs • As a player, named to the All-NBA first-team three consecutive years (1969-70-71) • A second-team All-NBA choice in 1972 • Scored 13,626 points (20.8 per game) in nine seasons with Philadelphia • Also scored 2,684 points (23.1 per game) in two ABA seasons with the Carolina Cougars • Ranks fifth in 76er history in career scoring, fourth in field goals made, fourth in field goals attempted, fourth in rebounds and sixth in assists • Led the 76ers in rebounding for five seasons and in scoring four times • Selected by Philadelphia with the fourth overall pick in the 1965 NBA Draft • His #32 jersey was retired by the 76ers.

■ BRAD DAUGHERTY, CLEVELAND CAVALIERS

One of the best passing centers in NBA annals • Retired as the Cleveland franchise's alltime leader in scoring (10,389), rebounding (5,227), defensive rebounds (4,020), free throws made (2,741) and free throws attempted (3,670) • Also ranked in the top five in Cavalier history in nine other categories (minutes, field goal percentage, offensive rebounds, field goals made, field goals attempted, scoring average, assists, games played and blocked shots) • Voted to five All-Star games, more than any player in Cleveland Cavalier history at the time of his retirement • Boasted career averages of 19.0 ppg, 9.5 rpg and 3.7 apg • Set a Cleveland record and was second in the NBA with a .571 FG% in 1992-93 • Was named third-team All-NBA in 1991-92, averaging 21.5 points and 10.4 rebounds per game • Set career highs in scoring (21.6 ppg) and rebounding (10.9) in 1990-91 • His career was cut short after eight seasons because of a back injury • Missed all of the 1994-95 and 1995-96 seasons before retiring • Cleveland made him the first overall selection in the 1986 NBA draft • His #43 jersey was retired by Cleveland on March 1, 1997.

■ WALTER DAVIS, PHOENIX SUNS

The premier small forward in the Western Conference in the late 1970s and early 1980s • Regarded as the best pure shooter in Phoenix Suns history • Possessed an uncanny ability to hit clutch shots • Davis patrolled the baseline in Phoenix for 11 seasons (1978-88) • Averaged 20.5 points per game in his Phoenix career • Phoenix's alltime leading scorer with 15,666 points as a Sun • Ranks among the Suns' top five all-time in eight other categories (assists, steals, minutes played, games played, field goals made, field goals attempted, free throws made and free throws attempted) • Including his years with Denver and Portland, Davis scored 19,521 points overall in 15 NBA seasons • Phoenix selected the 6-6 swingman with the fifth overall pick in the 1977 NBA Draft • Named the NBA Rookie of the Year in 1978 • The Suns retired his #6 jersey on Nov. 9, 1988.

BOBBY JONES, PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

✔ Tar Heel players have won National Player-of-the-Year honors in six different decades.

✔ Carolina is the only school in the country to have three different players receive the John Wooden Award — Phil Ford (1978), Michael Jordan (1984) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

✔ Carolina's Lennie Rosenbluth (1957) and Antawn Jamison (1998) are two of only three players in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, ACC Male Athlete of the Year, NCAA Regional MVP and and National Player of the Year in the same season. Duke's Christian Laettner (1992) is the other.

NORTH CAROLINA BASKETBALL
THE TAR HEEL SPORTS NETWORK

Whether the Tar Heel Basketball team is running the court at the Smith Center or playing far across the country, you can always hear every game this season live on Learfield Communications' Tar Heel Sports Network.

Webster's Dictionary defines "tradition" as an established practice or custom and that's exactly what the Tar Heel Sports Network is to Carolina fans statewide.

Even when Carolina fans can see the Heels play with their own eyes, they insist on listening to them as well by tuning into Woody Durham and Mick Mixon on the Tar Heel Sports Network.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing, producers of the Tar Heel Sports Network, is in the middle of its seventh year as the multi-media rights holder of the University of North Carolina's football and basketball media properties.

The Tar Heel Sports Network is one of the top sports radio networks in the country, but the radio broadcast is just one facet of the network's job.

Tar Heel Sports Network is a full-service marketing agency overseeing production and sales of all the University of North Carolina's football and basketball entities including television and print products.

The Network brings you a variety of ways to follow the Heels during the athletic season. Simply listen to your radio on Thursday night for the head coaches on their radio call-in shows or watch game highlights Sundays on "Inside Carolina Basketball." When you're at the Smith Center pick-up the official game program and join us Tuesday nights for ACC Hotline to keep up with all the action across the league.

The Tar Heel Sports Network continues to bring the great tradition of Carolina sports into your home.

Woody Durham is in the middle of his 29th year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels." A native of Mebane, NC, Durham grew up in Albemarle, NC, and began his broadcasting career with WZKY Radio at age 16. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with a degree in Radio, Television, and Motion Pictures.

Durham and Head Coach Bill Guthridge give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk with the Coach every Thursday evening during basketball season on the "Carolina Blueline" call-in show.

Also, Durham will visit with Coach Guthridge on "Inside Carolina Basketball," a daily five-minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' Head Coach. Both of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

"The Bill Guthridge Carolina Basketball Show," hosted by Durham, is a half-hour television program seen each week on a network of stations in North Carolina and on cable networks throughout much of the United States. The show features highlights of the previous game, interviews with current and former Tar Heel players and a preview of upcoming action.

The winning combination of color analyst and producer Mick Mixon (left) and play-by-play announcer Woody Durham makes coverage of Carolina Basketball on the Tar Heel Sports Network a memorable experience.

In 1981, Durham was named Vice President and Executive Sports Director at Tar Heel Sports Marketing. Since taking over play-by-play duties in 1971, he has become a permanent fixture behind the microphone during Tar Heel football and basketball games. Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year ten times.

Woody and his wife of 36 years, Jean, are parents of two sons, Wes and Taylor. Wes, 33, is in his fifth year of play-by-play duties for Georgia Tech. Taylor, 26, is an account executive with WSTP Radio in Salisbury, NC. Both are graduates of Elon College.

Wes and his wife, Lynn, made grandparents out of the Durhams last spring. Emily and Will Durham were born April 21, 1999.

Mick Mixon is in his eleventh year as color analyst for the Tar Heel Sports Network. Mixon also hosts the weekly call-in show "ACC Hotline," which features players, coaches, and other guests from all over the league.

A Chapel Hill native, Mixon graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in Broadcast Journalism. Mixon came to the Tar Heel Sports Network in 1989 from Columbia, SC, where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He also has served as the play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, NC. He was named Vice President in 1996.

He married Kristin Lyn Tucker (AB Journalism 1990) this past July 4th.
